assistant superintendent of the Newton & Watertown Gas Company, was held at his late residence, Sunday afternoon at 2 speeches by the gentlemen on topics drawn from a hat, the topics being of a varied character, such as Pretty Girls, Canada,

Easter Bonnets, Baldheads, Myself, Lord Salisbury, Spring Flowers, etc., and the topics brought out very witty remarks from the speakers or the audience. Music followed and a supper.

—Mrs. D. K. Hitchcock died this morning at her residence on Centre street, at the age of 77 years. She has been in delicate health for many years and during the past winter had a severe attack of the grip from which she had never entirely recovered.
She was one of the older residents of Newton, having lived here since her marriage, and when her health permitted was an active member of the Eliot church, and took a prominent part in Newton society.
She leaves a husband and five children, of whom two daughters and a son reside in Newton, and the other two sons in California, and a number of grandchildren.

—The thanks of all those attending the musical in aid of the Kindergarten for the kind are due to Mr. E. W. Tyler, formerly a resident of Auburndale, and the Boston representative of the house of Knabe & Co., for the generosity which made possible the use of the fine Knabe pianoforte on Wednesday evening. The use of these pianofortes exclusively by such artists as Von Bulow and D'Albert is in itself a testimonial to their high merit; while the courtesy which is always shown to the public is responsible in no small degree for the large and deservedly increasing patronage enjoyed by the house.

—A notable society event in Newton yesterday was an afternoon tea given by Mrs. Reuben Ford at her residence on Waverly avenue. Mrs. Ford received with Mrs. F. B. Hornbrooke, Mrs. H. E. Both-field, Mrs. W. L. Lowell and Mrs. Whittemore. The latter presided in the dining room, and her assistants were Miss Mabel Gaffield, Miss Belle Ballou, Miss Bertha Drew and Miss Daisy Whittemore. The rooms were tastefully decorated, and the dining table was adorned with smilax and white roses. The guests were largely Newton people, and comprised a company of 150 ladies, each of whom received as a souvenir the occasion a portrait of Baby Ford, one year old yesterday.

—A fire in the chimney of the tenement occupied by Peter Y. Hoseason, 402 Washington street, called out hose one on a still alarm about 8 o'clock Tuesday morning.
The fire was not extinguished until about 10 o'clock, when it was extinguished. The fire kept burning and worked out in several places on the roof, and at 8.30 Chief Bixby put in a general alarm from box
No. 1. The fire was then successfully extinguished. Soon after the alarm was pulled a ladder broke which foreman E.
W. Lyons and assistant foreman J. F.
Horrihan of Steamer one were mounting the roof. The ladder was then successfully ground some fifteen feet, fortunately escaping injury.

—At the morning and evening services in the Channing church, Sunday, there was a large attendance. Sunday night many were unable to secure seats. It had been reported that Miss Emma Eames, the American prima donna, who has been singing in Boston, would sing at either the morning or evening services. Miss Eames at one time was a member of the quartet of the Channing church, and it was her intention to sing there during her stay in Boston, but her manager would not consent, and many Newton people were of course, greatly disappointed.

—The first of the series of subscription musicals in aid of the Kindergarten for the Blind of Jamaica Plain, was given at the residence of Mrs. J. S. Potter, Walnut Park, on Wednesday evening. A large audience was present, and the lower portion of the house, enjoyed the rendering of a program of unusual merit. Miss Whipple, whose voice is so admirably suited to parlor singing, was heard to great advantage in "The Song of the Rhine-daughters" and in songs by Thorne, Henschel, Massenet and Brahms. Mr. Dunham gave great pleasure by his singing, as did also Mr.
Emery in his violin solos. Mr. Dunham's selections included songs by Schubert, Ritell and Temptation strong, the latter being written especially for Mr. Dunham.
Mr. Emery's solos were a Gavotte by Lull and "The Song of the Rhine-daughters" from "Die Goetterdaemmerung"—the last, the Chopin Rondo. Especially in the difficult Rondo, Mrs. Petersile's playing was marked by the finest artistry and sentiment, together with great brilliancy and ease of execution.
The second and last musical of the series will be given at Mrs. Potter's residence next Wednesday evening, when the artists will be Mrs. Merrill, Mr. Dunham, Mr. Novell and Mr. Goodrich.

NEWTON UNANIMOUS IN FAVOR OF CLEVELAND.

The Democratic mass caucus in Armory hall, Tuesday night, was called to

J. Follett was elected chairman and Mr.
Bernard Early secretary. The following delegates were elected:

Delegate-at-large—L. Verett Saltonstall.

ton and R. J. Morrissey.

J. Follett.

Delegates for the district convention from Ward 5, which failed to elect last fall, were elected as follows:

William H. Burr, Samuel Shaw, John
Glover, Charles H. McAleer and C. H.
Hopkins.

Mr. Bruce R. Ware drew up the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted and cheered:

Resolved, That we Democrats of Newton, in caucus assembled, earnestly desire that a reduction of our protective tariff be made as soon as possible, and we believe that all other issues should be subordinate to the accomplishment of this great reform. We indorse the action of the dominant party in Congress in the presentation of bills looking toward such reduction. Believing that tariff reform should and will be the leading issue of the ensuing national campaign, we are of the opinion that the man who most prominently represents this principle should be the nominee for the Democratic party, we therefore instruct the delegates to the convention to vote for the Hon.
Grover Cleveland for the Democratic candidate for President. We believe in a sound and stable currency and indorse and approve of the vigorous and effective action of Representative the Hon. George Fred Williams in that behalf.

At a meeting of the ward and city committee, William J. Follett was elected president; Lawrence Bond, vice president; Bernard Early, treasurer; William F. Grace, secretary.

Y. M. C. A.

The newly settled pastor of the Newtonville Congregational Society, the Rev.
J. M. Dutton, will address the Men's Meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Hall, Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. We hope a large number of young men will come and hear him. The service is short and is preceded by a spirited praise service, led by Mr. Campbell with the Orchestra which is worth an effort to hear. Come early and join in this part of the service.

Miss Parker being taken suddenly ill, and Mrs. Barrett having been called to Springfield by the serious illness of her father, it was found necessary to postpone the second entertainment in the Junior Department Course which was to have been given in the Y. M. C. A.
Hall, Friday, April 1, at 4.30 p. m.

At the last of the series, an audience of about four hundred people greeted Rev.
Dr. Shinn in Eliot Chapel last Monday evening, and listened and looked with attentive interest to the illustrated Talk on "The Passion Play."

In introducing Dr. Shinn, President
Campbell of the Young Men's Christian Association, under whose auspices the series of Talks have been given—took occasion to cordially thank the Eliot Society for the use of the Chapel, and Dr. Shinn, Hon. G. D. Gilman and Thomas Weston Esq. for their services in rendering such an interesting and instructive series.

James L. Gordon, General Secretary of the Boston Association, addressed a conference of the Devotional Committees of the Associations in the Fourth Mass.
District in the Newton Y. M. C. A. Hall, Tuesday evening, after which an interesting and animated discussion of methods of religious work, was carried on by the forty delegates present.

Previous to the conference a supper was served to the visiting delegates in the Association rooms, by Caterer Paxton.

Representatives were present from Boston, Charlestown, Hyde Park and So. Framingham.

Tent Caterpillars.

PRIZES OFFERED FOR THE LARGEST COL-LECTIONS OF TENT CATERPILLARS.

The Newton Horticultural and Newton Centre Improvement Association offer nine prizes, ranging from $1 to $15, for the best results in collecting the eggs of the tent caterpillar, which for the past few years has been so destructive to the foliage of our apple trees, and also to the wild cherry tree. The eggs can be plainly seen at this season and it will be a comparatively easy work to collect them, especially on some orchards, where there were hundreds of the nests last year. It would be a profitable work for the school boys to undertake during the coming vacation, as the prizes are worth striving for.

The Societies hope by this means to do something to rid the city of these pests, and they certainly deserve the thanks of all the citizens for making a movement towards this end.

If the caterpillars can be kept down for one year, there is a hope that they can be exterminated.

Further particulars can be learned by addressing Dr. D. D. Slade, Chestnut Hill, Messrs. J. R. Leeson, Newton Centre, L. H. Farlow, Newton, Avery L.
Rand, W. F. Harbach, Henry H. Head, or Geo. F. Richardson, Newton Centre.

Millinery Opening.
Our stock of kid gloves never contained
so many good values and such a wide range in colorings and styles as this present season. The goods were bought very early in the season which gave us
choice of the very best of the new goods
and we feel confident that we can give
our customers their choice from the finest line of kid gloves ever shown in this city. Children's kid gloves a specialty. Kid gloves fitted to the hand and warranted.

An invitation is extended to the ladies
to call and inspect our goods at all times
and such information as is desired will be cheerfully given by experienced ladies in charge, Roland W. Macurdy, 20 Moody street, Parmenter Block, Waltham. 26 21

CITY GOVERNMENT.

THE COMMON COUNCIL APPOINT A CONFERENCE COMMITTEE.

President Riffe called the common council to order Monday evening and all were present excepting Councilmen Down, Lunt and Bothfield.

Papers from the aldermen were passed in concurrence.

The order relating to the Nonantum hose house and police station appropriation came back from the aldermen, the latter adhering to their former action in cutting the appropriation down from $12,500 to $10,800 and asking for a committee of conference.

Councilman Forknall moved that a committee of three be appointed from the common council to confer with the committee from the aldermen and President Riffe appointed Messrs. Forknall, Staples and Green to serve as that committee.

A petition from residents of Waban avenue for street light was referred.

Councilman Forknall for the committee on ordinances submitted an order relating to truants which was passed to be enrolled under suspension of the rules. The order provides that truants shall be confined in the Norfolk Bristol and Plymouth Union school at Walpole, instead of at Lowell.

An order was passed authorizing the water board to lay water pipes as follows: Edinboro street at cost of $204; Hawthorne street, $85; Lake avenue and Lake terrace, $180; Pine street, $500; Lenox street, $403; Wildwood avenue, $582; total $2292.

Councilman Forknall offered a petition that the highway committee be requested to make necessary repairs on California street between Chapel and Bridge streets.

The street had been dug up by the Metropolitan sewer laborers, and it had been left in a deplorable condition. The place is one which is constantly travelled by numbers of people and some repairs are very essential. The matter was referred to the highway committee.

NEW CAR EXHIBITED.

STREET RAILWAY OFFICIALS PLEASANTLY ENTERTAINED AT WALTHAM.

A Combination Car Company of Waltham tendered a reception Monday to officials of the different street railways in the vicinity of Boston at its manufactory in Waltham.

The object was to exhibit a new street car, just finished, which can be used either as a box or open car. The seats of the car are arranged in the same manner as the steam railroad passenger cars.

Boston, Quincy, Lynn, Marlboro, Medford, Newton, Worcester and other places and representatives present, all of whom were well pleased with the new departure in the construction of street cars.

A collation and speechmaking followed the inspection. Among the guests of the company were: F. G. Henderson, superintendent of the Waltham & Newton street railroad; Andrew McArthur and Louis Plunkett of the West End road; E. P. Shaw, superintendent of the Newburyport street railway; Pierce D. Murch and Thomas T. Robinson of the Worcester & Leicester street railway; H. E. Bradford, superintendent of Marlboro, & H. Marden of the Fitchburg car shops; Supt. Benjamin J. Weeks of Quincy, T. W. Adams and Warren Toppa of the Lynn Belting line; George A. Austin, editor of Electricity and Railroad; and James B. Dunn of the Thompson-Houston Electric & Welding Company.

SUPERVISION OF HIGHWAYS.

SUGGESTION THAT THE ROADS BE PLACED UNDER CONTROL OF THE GOVERNMENT.

It has been suggested that the American roads be placed under a system of government supervision, and be divided into three classes: First, national roads. These to be built and maintained by the general government, and be located with reference to military and postal requirements.

Second, state roads. These to be built and maintained by the several states, and connect the various localities of the states, and be planned with reference to the national roads.

Third, county or neighborhood roads. These to be built and maintained by counties and townships, and be located with reference to the classes just mentioned.

Those who advocate this idea say that if our common roads were improved by some such plan as this, we should soon have them in charge of competent and educated engineers. The national roads would probably be in charge of army engineers; the state roads in charge of engineers graduated from the agricultural and mechanical schools; and the neighborhood roads in charge of local men, who, once having had the example set them of how good roads are built, would be entirely competent to do what is usually necessary to be done in making a road of lesser importance.

But even under such a plan as this, each county should have an engineer to design the difficult work, determine upon location of routes, and inspect constructions and repairs, according to a writer in Harper's Weekly. Strange as it may seem, the proper location of a country highway presents to the engineer more complex problems than the location of a railroad.

Country people do not understand this, and are not willing to believe it, therefore the crossroads storekeeper and the village blacksmith are usually thought to be entirely competent to decide upon the best route for a country road.

If your dealer will guarantee that the paint he wants to sell you contains no water or benzine, is full measure, is made from pure linseed oil combined with turpentine and turpentine drier, is ground and mixed by machinery, has wonderful covering properties, will last well and look well for years, he is trying to sell you Chilton Paint. He has said about all we can say, except that the popularity of these paints is based solely upon their merits. The Chilton Manuf. Co., before they made a pound of paint, decided that their paints were to be made with the choicest and best brands of pure linseed oil, and that the customer was to get full value for his money. This rule has never been deviated from. Boston or New York.

Manning's Funeral Procession.

The sermon ended, the bishops file down from the sanctuary and take their places around the bier; and then in turn, while the choir sings the "Beati Mortui" of Mendelssohn, each bishop walks around the catafalque, sprinkling holy water and repeating the absolution, while clouds of incense again arise and float in a pearly mist up to the roof.

This is the closing link in the long chain of ceremony which has lasted two hours and a half. Two and two down the aisle comes the priestly procession. It is like a page out of the Middle Ages.

The Jesuits and Oratorians in their cassocks and white collars come first, followed by bearded Franciscans in gray. Carmelites in brown and white, Benedictines in black, Passionists, also in black, with the symbolic shield-shaped shield of black and silver on their shoulders, barefooted Capuchins in brown, Dominicans (the Domini Cans) the dogs of the Lord in black and white, Servites, Oblates of St. Charles (a community founded here in England by Cardinal Manning in honor of St. Carlo Borromeo of Milan) and Christian Brothers; then come the canons in purple cassocks and lace trimmed cotas, the bishops gorgeous in mitre and vestments, the choir led by Father Cox, of the Pro-Cathedral, and lastly the bier, borne on the shoulders of the Brothers of the Oratory, passes slowly along between the kneeling lines of mourners.

A last reverent touch of the sweeping golden fringes of the velvet pall, and all that is left of one of the great Englishmen of our time is borne onward and outward from the warm, golden starred dusk of the Oratory to the cold darkness of the outer world, which, alas! will know his gentle presence never again.—London World.

A New Hotel Fire Alarm System. A new fire alarm system for use in hotels consists of electric bells having gongs of from six to ten inches to suit the requirements of the building. The gongs are mounted on a polished base, having a box (under lock) attached for holding two cells of dry battery and an automatic drop. The drops are connected in series to their respective boxes in the halls and pushes located in the rooms.

Upon pressing the fire alarm buttons the drops in the various boxes in the series or floors operate and close the local circuit to their respective bells and batteries. Each bell having its own battery is entirely independent of any other bell. The bells will continue to ring until reset. In each hall or designated place are located small alarm boxes containing a push button.—Electrical World.

A Romance of the Pacific Northwest. Shu-a-shep and Kleck hum-teck were united in the holy bonds of matrimony at the office of Justice of the Peace W. H. Field. Shu-a-shep is a Chinaman, and Kleck hum-teck is a Methow Indian, who is the owner of 640 acres of land near the mouth of the Methow river. They tell a very interesting story of the way they were treated at Omak lake, where they were stopping for the winter. Failing in an attempt to convert the couple and have them married in accordance with the doctrine of the church, the priest and police undertook to accomplish their object by force, and a free fight resulted, in which the friends of the lovers took a hand and bested the police. Re-enforcements were sent for, but before they arrived the couple had fled the camp and came to town and got spliced.—Conceal Outlook.

A Career of Misfortune. Mrs. Josie McDonald married Bert McDonald, a young man of Warsaw, and possessed of considerable property, when she was but fourteen years of age. She was a remarkably beautiful girl. Twelve months later her husband fled under a cloud, having lost all his money, and he died in Kansas City. Mrs. McDonald went to Chicago and found employment as a domestic in a fashionable boarding house, where she formerly reigned as a guest. Last week she was transferred to the Longcliffe asylum at Logansport. She was an orphan at twelve, a wife at fourteen, a mother at sixteen, a widow at eighteen, and a hopeless wreck, mentally and physically, at twenty.—Indianapolis News.

The New Star. The new star, like a brand new baby has now been photographed in every possible position by the astronomers at the Cambridge observatory. It's a very bright star, it is said, and in that respect also the comparison to a new baby holds good. Photography has now become of great assistance to astronomers in their study of the heavens. About 30,000 plates are at the Cambridge observatory, making an unparalleled collection of photographic records of every part of the sky.—Springfield Republican.

Laudanum Beats a Royal Flush. John Persankie drew a royal flush of diamonds at a poker game with Frank Maske at Coal Run. The fellow drew a full hand, king high, when twenty dollars were in the pot. Maske, unperceived, poured laudanum in Persankie's glass containing beer. Before the game ended the latter was unconscious. Maske secured the stakes, stole a watch and eighty-four dollars from his opponent and fled.—Cor. Philadelphia Record.

Gold and Silver Spangles. Spangles are used on everything. On gowns, on bonnets, on all the little belongings possible, and especially on fans. The prettiest of fans are of gauze with very large spangles of steel or gold upon them, and then dragon flies or butterflies formed of spangles. Being on the outer sticks the effect is very sparkling, and as a matter of course tends to brighten the entire toilet.—Ladies' Home Journal.

LOOKING AHEAD.

If the early settlers of Newton had only had enough foresight to realize the great growth Newton would make in the coming years, what a lot of trouble and expense they might have saved their descendants. Instead of laying out streets on such an economical pattern, when land was sold by the acre, they would have given us thoroughfares of from sixty to one hundred feet in width, and the whole appearance of Newton would have been changed.

Here is Washington street, for instance, from Newton to West Newton, which must be widened some day, as it is too narrow for the hundreds of teams that pass through it daily, to say nothing of the electric cars, which have become a necessity. In some places it is barely 30 feet wide, and the many telephone poles and trees make driving dangerous. A plan has been spoken of for widening the Newton part of it by removing all the houses between the street and the railway, and throwing the land thus taken into the street. This would be expensive, but it will probably come in time. But there are many localities where the cost would be slight, as the land is still unimproved, and it would only be wise to bond this land, or adopt a building line, so far back, that the land could be taken at some time in the future.

There are one or two localities which need immediate attention as they are dangerous, and the scene of frequent accidents. One of these is from Jewett street to Adams, where on one side of the railroad tracks the road descends sharply into the gutter, and there is hardly room for a team to pass a car. The street could easily be straightened and widened, as the adjoining land is not built upon, and the cost would not be excessive. Another dangerous locality is just above Lowell street, where the road winds about so that it is impossible to see but a few feet ahead. If these two places were attended to, perhaps we could get along for a number of years.

The cost of these two improvements would not be more than is now expended annually upon residential streets which are not thoroughfares, and which are only travelled over by grocers and market wagons. The benefit would be felt by every one who takes a drive from one part of the city to another, and would add greatly to the appearance of the principal thoroughfare of the city.

If one action is not taken this vacant land will be built upon, and when the change is made the cost will be more than doubled. Already two houses have been built between Bellevue street bridge and the street on land that ought to be in the roadway, and other houses may be built at any time which will interfere with the proposed widening.

Newton is growing every year, and it is only the part of wisdom to look ahead and prepare for the future. Brookline has done this, and the result shows that it is a very profitable business for any town to engage in. It is now talking of widening Boylston street to the width of one hundred feet, and such action on the part of our neighbor makes the adjoining narrow streets of Newton very unattractive to prospective residents, by the marked contrast. Brookline gained its wealthy residents by catering for them, and Newton might learn a useful lesson from this.

That the forests of the country are rapidly disappearing is a generally admitted fact, except when politics call for its suppression. An instance of this is seen in Ohio, when Governor McKinley begins his Arbor Day proclamation with "Whereas the forests of the state are rapidly disappearing to an alarming extent." But in the report which accompanied his tariff bill in the last Congress Mr. McKinley said:

"We are satisfied that any reduction of the light duties on lumber proposed would tend to discourage the proper care of our timber lands, now so generally preserved by the judicious cutting of the trees of full growth at such intervals of time as will preserve the timber reserves."

The proclamation states the fact, and the tariff bill report states the theory, and in spite of the proclamation the High Protective Tariff League organizes for the statement that the tax on lumber is really a protector of the forests and keeps them in a flourishing condition. If the facts do not fit the organ's theories, it is evidently so much the worse for the facts. But the rapid disappearance of the forests in every state ought to call forth some measures for their protection.

CITY matters seem to be very quiescent just now, nothing more exciting being on hand than a little difference over the cost of the hose house at Nonantum, some members of the City Government thinking that it ought to be silver-plated, while others think that the frills might be left off with a saving to the taxpayers of nearly two thousand dollars. Matters have gotten as far as the appointment of a conference committee by both branches, and those who are anxious for the hose house in their vicinity hope its building will not be indefinitely postponed, by the endeavor of some of its friends to bite off too large a chunk of the city's money.

The name of Mr. Jasper N. Kellar will probably be presented by the Newton Democrats as their candidate for delegate to Chicago from this district. As the New England manager of the telephone company, Mr. Kellar has a wide acquaintance, especially in the Boston part of the district, and he is personally popular, and a gentleman of high standing and character. He is also an enthusiastic Cleveland man, and the district would do itself credit by choosing him as a delegate.

ABOUT every suburb of Boston has one or two estates which are placed upon the market with a great flourish and "boom" into prominence. Two suburbs, however, are free from these features, Brookline and Newton says the Boston Transcript. Dealers of real estate in those two places say that they find that no booms are necessary, for there is a constant demand for houses and land there, and buyers are ready to pay the prices asked for property.

THE silver question seems to be settled and now it only remains for the voters to see that no candidates with silver leanings, either from honest but ignorant notions or for political effect, are allowed to go to Washington, to have the delusion as dead as the old greenback craze. In the present Congress the force of public sentiment was such that all the opponents of free silver were forced into line against it. In this agitation Massachusetts seems to have recovered its ancient prominence.

COL. CHAS. D. LEWIS of Framingham, and of the Democratic National Committee, who said that Hill was sure to be nominated, appears to have been aimed at at the following resolution, passed by the Democrats of his town:

Resolved, That we repudiate any and all attempts to represent the Democracy of our town, and so far as we can of our State, as being opposed to the nomination of Grover Cleveland.

The British war scare appears to have evaporated in much the same manner as the Chilean bugaboo. It gave opportunity for some very fervid patriotism, however, with a view to the approaching elections in this country and Great Britain. Whether we shall be treated to any more war scares before the fall election depends on the politicians, but the people do not appear to have taken any serious interest in the two we have had.

The folly of the present law regarding the purchase of silver bullion by the government, is shown by the fact that the stock of silver in the National treasury is worth at the present price of silver about $13,000,000 less than the government paid for it. Evidently the first duty of Congress is to repeal such ruinous legislation.

The Charles river section of the new Metropolitan sewer was completed this week and is now ready for use. The Newton connections at the lower end of Nonantum street, at Lemon brook and at Laundry brook, are now being made, and in a few days the Newton sewers are expected to be ready for use.

The Somerville city government has just made its appropriations for 1892, and the total is $512,835. Newton's total for this year is nearly $200,000 more, although Somerville has more inhabitants and taxpayers.

The Newton Democrats had a very harmonious and enthusiastic caucus, and passed resolutions endorsing Cleveland and Congressman Williams. The Hill men in Newton are scarce.

The time of year when the watering carts would be welcome has arrived, and the dust the past week proved the need of some action by the street committee.

The city authorities celebrated the first of April by starting out the watering carts, which are a welcome sight after the terrible dust of the past week.

Lassell Notes.

The recital of Madame Helen Hopekirk on Monday evening in the gymnasium called out so large an assembly of guests that it was with considerable difficulty and skill maneuvering that all could be seated. The program was varied, the composers were Hansen, Gluck, Beethoven, Chopin, Liszt, Schubert, and others. The interest was intense and all were delighted.

A party went to Newton Centre Sunday evening to hear Rev. Dr. Clark. Another party attended the confirmation by Bishop Brooks at the Auburndale Episcopal church, Tuesday evening.

The cooking of March 28 was casserole of rice and meat, ice cream, mother's cake and icing.

Those friends of Lassell who are keeping April 6th open in response to the mysterious suggestion on the Hopekirk program are hereby thanked, and notified that our use of that evening is given up, and they are at liberty to do something else then, but we shall be glad to have them favor us with another evening later on, when a very interesting entertainment is to be given at Lassell.

Miss Helen C. Folsom, a graduate of Smith College, is taking Miss M. P. Davis's classes. Miss Folsom began her duties Monday morning.

High School Notes.

A meeting of the N. H. S. Lyceum was held in Room 14, Saturday evening, Mar. 26. Eight members of '92 gave a medley. The bill for the evening was read, as follows: Resolved, that the present Congress shall not cut down the Indian appropriation.

The N. K. C. of '93 gave a dancing party in Tremont hall, Newville, Tuesday evening. The hall was prettily decorated with blue bunting. At one side was a large silver shield with the letters N. K. C. Opposite this were the figures '93. Back of the matrons' chairs was a row of large palms. The matrons were Mrs. H. A. Priest, Mrs. W. B. Bosson and Mrs. A. B. Jewell.

Cleaning Rugs.

The Newton Carpet Cleaning company makes a specialty of cleaning Turkish and Persian rugs, removing soiled spots and dirt without injury to the fabric or the color, by a new preparation gotten up by Mr. White and thoroughly tested. A postal card or telephone message to Mr. White will enable you to have your carpets taken up, cleaned and relaid, or your rugs cleaned without any trouble to yourself.

The Cambridge Annexation.

The stir that is making about annexing Cambridge to Boston has no foundation in a desire for the public good, but covers a real estate speculation like the project for a new city hall on Beacon street. To annex so large a part of Middlesex to the already overgrown county of Suffolk should have some better reason for its than private gain, whether of property owners, rumormongers or street hawkers. There is no likelihood of any action by this Legislature; if the city government of Boston chooses to investigate the matter there will be no objection. But there is no longer any considerable wish on the part of the suburban cities to be annexed to Boston, nor would the value of their land be much if it all increased thereby. It is hard to find responsible supporters of the present annexation scheme; while the opponents are many, active, and such as will be listened to when they speak. The scheme for cutting down Beacon hill and putting up a city hall there is also before a legislative committee, but nothing is likely to be done this year. A practical way—Boston Correspondent Springfield Republican.

—Frank Hyslop's educated coach dog is attracting a great deal of attention. It has been taught to set on the back of a horse and ride through the square to the watering trough every day on the animal's back, holding the reins in its mouth. Citizens generally regard it as a remarkable piece of equestrianism and Hyslop is receiving many compliments for his patience and perseverance in teaching the trick to the animal.

—A very charming reception was given to the Neighbors Club by Mrs. John W. Olinson at her residence on Lowell street, Wednesday evening. An especially delectable spread closed a very pleasant evening.

—At the debate on "Woman Suffrage" on Friday at the West Newton Educational Club, Mrs. Walton, the president, took the affirmative side and Mrs. Martin the negative, both sides were finely presented and an animated discussion followed, when many bright thoughts were able to present themselves. —A sensational story was published in some of the Boston papers last Friday relating to an Italian laborer who, it stated, grossly insulted some ladies. —A very successful concert was given in the chapel of the Second Congregational church, Wednesday evening, in aid of the choir library fund. The choir, under the direction of Mr. J. Eliot, Trowbridge, was assisted by Mr. Frederic A. Metcalf and Miss Emma Cushman Tuttle of Boston, readers; Miss Emma Upham, soprano; Mr. W. T. Rice, tenor; and the Waltham orchestra for the accompaniment. The new national hymn "Columbia's Jubilee," (words by Mr. Granville B. Putnam and music by Mr. J. E. Trowbridge), was rendered with the orchestral score.

—Dr. N. Emmons Paine, recently superintendent of the Westboro insane hospital, has purchased the Hastings estate in this village, at the corner of Washington and Fuller streets. The estate comprises a large tract of land, 12 acres and a large house. After renovating the house, Dr. Paine will open it under the name of "The Newton Nervine," as a private institution of the kind which has been so successful in the treatment of a limited number of nervous and mildly insane patients. There was some opposition to the plan of establishing a hospital in this village, but it has been generally understood that the place is not to be maintained as a retreat for insane patients. The sale was effected by J. Cheever Miller.

—The Unitarian church parlors were filled last evening when Henry I. Byron's, three act drama entitled "War to the Knife" was presented by the Unity Dramatic Club. This was the second entertainment given under the auspices of the club, and they deserve to be congratulated on the manner in which the parts were presented. Miss Ethel A. Hornick and Miss Emma Nickerson both had an excellent opportunity in the parts and were especially true and pleasing in their representations. Mr. C. W. Cole portrayed the character of John Blunt with great success, and Mr. W. E. Stacy was good in his part. The other characters were played by Miss Josie Howard, Miss Mary Fyfe, Mr. H. W. Langley and Mr. R. W. Knight, who acted their parts very creditably. The music for the evening was furnished by young ladies and gentlemen, and the several fine renditions were enthusiastically received.

—In spite of the inclemency of the weather a large number of prominent people from Newton, Waltham, Dorchester, Somerville, Everett and Boston were present at the wedding reception of Mr. and Mrs. W. Bishop Brooks visited the parish last Tuesday evening and administered the rite of confirmation to twenty-one adult candidates.

—During the illness of Rev. T. W. Bishop of the Methodist church, his place has been filled very acceptably by clergymen residing in this village, all of whom have preached with great profit to large audiences. The bond of sympathy between the churches has been strengthened by the great kindness shown to Mr. Bishop and his people. Last Sunday morning Rev. E. E. Strong, D. D., delivered an able discourse from the text "All things are yours." It was full of comfort and profit to every Christian. In the evening a missionary meeting under the auspices of the Latimer Y. P. S. C. E. was held. Miss Packard, chairman of the missionary committee, presided and introduced Mrs. Marden, returned missionary from Turkey, as the speaker of the evening. It was very interesting.

—Mr. E. A. Walker has purchased Mr. O. F. Lucas' interest in the business so long conducted by the former, and the store is being thoroughly overhauled and rebuilt inside. The basement has been newly floored over, sheathed and new additional windows put in making a large well lighted room 24x20, which will be used as a work shop, and another basement room 30x15 will be fitted for use. Stairs have been built leading to the store above, which is to be entirely rebuilt. The central partition will be taken away, throwing the old work shop and front of the store into one room. The walls will be newly sheathed and plastered and a hard one floor replaced the present one. The counter will be placed at the right of the entrance and here the hardware, tinware, etc., will be kept, entirely separate from the rest of the floor space which will be used for stove and heavy goods. When finished the store will be one of the most convenient and attractive in the village.

—The death of Mr. Francis J. Falkenburg of Lexington street, at 6 30 o'clock yesterday morning, was a sad news to many friends. He had a chill while in Boston about ten days since, followed by a second on reaching home, and this quickly developed into pneumonia, from which he was unable to recover. The deceased was 31 years of age and came to Boston from his home in New Jersey several years ago, but soon after removed to this place, where he has resided for six years. He was employed as head clerk in the ticket office of the Kneeland street depot of the Boston & Albany railroad for nine years, but for the last two years has been connected with the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Co. and the Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York. He was prominent in secret society circles, a member of Dalhousie lodge, F. and A. M., and a member of the Kneeland lodge, M. E. O. P. He was a member and constant attendant of the Methodist church. Mr. Falkenburg was popular in social circles and a large circle of friends. A widow survives him. The funeral took place from the Methodist church this afternoon at 3, Rev. T. W. Bishop officiating, assisted by Rev. John Matteson, the services being conducted in the Methodist lodge of Massachusetts street. The remains were taken to his home in Jersey City, N. J.

What is It?

A substitute for lard? Upsetting the customs, habits, and prejudices of centuries? Yes, all this and more. Cottle is a new cooking product—it is better than lard or butter for cooking, so say such noted housekeepers as Marion Harland, Catherine Owen, Mrs. S. T. Rorer, and many others; it is healthier—so says every thoughtful physician; and it is cheaper as every housekeeper knows when she finds that one-half the quantity answers every purpose.

is the purest clarified cottonseed oil mixed with pure beef fat. It is the best cooking material ever devised for frying anything and everything. It is easily digested and highly nutritious. Every New England housekeeper will prize Cottle. Beware of imitations. Ask your grocer for the genuine Cottle.

An Extraordinary Shower.

An extraordinary meteorological phenomenon occurred in the eastern part of this country by the recent fall of about one inch of strange looking snow. It was of darker color than ashes and looked like mill middlings or shorts. This snow when melted makes a muddy water, and when allowed to settle deposits a fine sediment, which to the naked eye presents four different appearances, viz., two powders (one of a gray and the other of a black color), among which are mixed ragged flakes that look like sawdust and others that resemble scales of mica or copper filings. When seen through a microscope the gray powder appears to be the debris of myriads of broken down, semitransparent cells and fibers. The black powder, which is about five times as coarse as the former and about one-tenth in quantity, appears to be made up of little pear shaped, buglike animalcules.

The copper colored scales are of hard substance, and when magnified become translucent and appear to be of a fibrous, cellular structure, of a purple or blood-like color, in which are set the little black, buglike creatures before described. This is considered the original life substance from which all the other is derived. The little ragged, sawdust-like flakes are but the former in course of disintegration and look like white, fleshy cellular tissue in which the black objects are set like seeds in a fig. The substance can easily be found, as it forms a uniform dark crust, like stratum, with a considerable depth of ordinary snow both below and above it. The fall extended over quite an area of country and has attracted a good deal of attention. The matter is no doubt worthy of a thorough scientific investigation.—Laporte (Ind.) Cor. Pittsburg Dispatch.

Boxing with the Czar.

It is said that while at Copenhagen the czar distinguished himself as a boxer, boxing having become the favorite form of exercise of this imperial herculean.

His great difficulty is and always has been to find any one ready or willing to stand up against him and to respond to each blow by a counter one. Neither his Russian brothers nor any dignitaries of his court are particularly willing to oblige him in this matter, as they dread not only the force of his powerful fist, but also fear of incurring his resentment in the event of their responding to his blows.

Indeed, the only man who ventures to put on the gloves with him and to meet him fairly and squarely is his brother-in-law, young Waldemar, the sailor prince of Denmark.

The other day, during the performance of one of Wagner's most wearisome operas, the czar and the prince withdrew to a vacant room and had a good set-to, which was on the point of ending fatally, for the czar's huge fist struck Prince Waldemar's chin with such force as to dash him to the ground, where he lay for a quarter of an hour before the czar and his attendants could restore him to consciousness.

The czar would do well to abandon the gloves, for he is apparently unable to realize the extent of his strength and does much damage with his sledge hammer blows. Indeed it was a blow such as this which struck his elder brother, the late Czarowitz Nicholas, on the chest, and which enabled Alexander not only to marry one of the most attractive princesses in Europe, but also to become the heir to, and eventually the occupant of, the Russian throne.—Marquise de Fontenay.

A Giant Microscope.

The Poeller Physical Optical Institute, of Munich, has under construction an enormous microscope for exhibition at Chicago in 1893. It will magnify to 16,000 diameters, or, as ordinarily fitted, to 11,000 diameters. An electric light of 11,000 candle power is to be used for illuminating the image, which is to be projected as a screen. As the heat from this powerful light would derange the focus by expansion of the metal, an ingenious device is used to cool the metal.

This is a small copper cylinder filled with liquid carbonic acid, connected with the microscope in such a manner that an electric regulator automatically opens a valve and allows a drop of acid to escape in a spray on the metal to be cooled; the liquid immediately evaporates and produces intense cold. The whole cost of the instrument is said to be nearly $10,000.—Boston Budget.

The Earth on Fire.

One-third of the total area of this state is underlain by coal. In several districts heavy deposits have been on fire for years. There are cases where the conditions have been volcanic on account of the generation of gases. One of these disturbances occurred on the Sweet Water cattle range, 250 miles west of Cheyenne, last week. More than a hundred acres of surface was displaced and the report was heard for thirty miles. Cattle growers reporting the occurrence at Rock Springs say that coal and dirt were thrown into the air a great distance. The existence of this fire has been known for twelve years.—Wyoming Cor. Minneapolis Tribune.

Converting Policemen.

An association for the reforming and Christianizing of policemen was formed in London some years ago, and has now spread all over England. A central police institute has been opened and equipped with a reading room, library, classrooms, restaurant, etc. The work is now being introduced in this country by Catherine Gurney, and the Chicago police are the first upon whom the influence is to be brought to bear.—New York Sun.

The system of compressed air has been in successful operation in the city of Paris for a period of four years, and in that time the capacity has increased from 120 horse power to 16,200 horse power.

A syndicate of British capitalists is preparing to send an expedition to explore the coast of Patagonia for minerals. It is believed that such an exploration would yield good results.

Railway Cartography.

The railway official called the young man into his office and asked sharply:—"Did you draw this map?" "Yes, sir," replied the young man. "And you call yourself an expert in your line?" said the official with ineffable disgust.

"Why, sir, I have devoted years to the study of it, and I was particularly careful with that map. Everything was measured off, even to hundredths of an inch. I wouldn't have thought of a geographical society could have found a flaw in it."

"Why wouldn't?" exclaimed the official. "Why, you don't know the first principles of the business. Look here!" He laid the map down on the desk. "Here is Podunk and here is Jonesboro. They are the terminal points." He took a rule and a pencil and drew a straight line from one point to the other.

"No," he said, "the other cities on that line," he said.

"But, sir, the inaccuracies—" "No 'but's' about it. This is our railroad map. Let the other roads do the zigzag, rail-fence act. That's the science of this business."—Chicago Daily Tribune.

Cancer Can be Cured, and by Dr. James M. Solomon, Jr. 25 Court St., Boston, Mass.

Boston, Aug. 26, 1890.

Dr. Solomon has cured a cancer on my lip of seventeen years' standing. It was cut out twice, by what they call eminent surgeons, at intervals of six years, after being cut out each time I knew by the feeling it was still there, and it would be now if I had not been so fortunate as to have Dr. Solomon treat it, he did it without any cutting. I would urge those afflicted with cancer not delay, to go at once and be cured permanently as I have done. My dear Doctor I thank from the bottom of my heart.

A Reform Suggested.

The Waltham Tribune has the following rather pertinent suggestion of one way to save money by a city:

"One of the largest job printing establishments in this part of the country is to be kept busy for about a month putting into type the various annual city department reports, of which perhaps a score of copies will be intelligently read while the remainder will make excellent shaving and curl paper when honored with any use at all. Whether or not we exaggerate, everyone at all conversant with the matter well knows. It is doubtful if a half dozen people in this city bestow more than a cursory glance upon the elaborately prepared volume for each page of which our tax payers are assessed a good round sum."

"There is a leakage here which merits the attention of those interested in a reasonable municipal economy. The Record's suggestion of an official editor to revise such reports contained more sound sense than most people realized. A liberal application of blue pencil would not only be a money saving to the city but would in some cases make the reports much more readable and fully as valuable."

Boston Matron. "My love, you should study domestic as well as political economy, for in the exigencies of mundane existence no seer can prognosticate the future. You have already disbursed all of the present year's uncle gave you." Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

Arrested—the progress of Consumption. In all its earlier stages, it can be cured. It's a scrofulous affection of the lungs—a blood taint—and, as in every other form of scrofula, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a certain remedy. But it must be taken in time—and now is the time to take it.

It purifies the blood—that's the secret. Nothing else acts like it. It's the most potent strength-restorer, blood-cleanser, and flesh-builder known to medical science. For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Bronchitis, Asthma, Catarrh, and all lingering Coughs, it's a remedy that's guaranteed, in every case, to benefit or cure.

If it doesn't, the money is returned.

In other words, it's sold on trial.

No other medicine of its kind is. And that proves that nothing else is "just as good" as the "Discovery."

The dealer is thinking of his profit, not of yours, when he urges something else.

In this world, says J. H. H. of Syracuse, N. Y., is Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic, because my son, who was partially paralyzed three years ago and attacked by fits, has not had any symptoms of them since he took one bottle of the remedy. I most heartily thank for it.

Nervous Prostration, Sleeplessness, and Weakness.
WEST BROOKFIELD, Quebec, Oct. 1, '90.
The Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic I ordered was for a young lady of my household, who was almost useless to herself and others, owing to nervous prostration, sleeplessness, weakness, &c., &c. Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

Dr. G. C. Osgood, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

Dr. J. F. KINCHLOE, Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

Come and see the fun. The meet will be on the ball field.

—Last year a beautiful golden oriole which had retired to New Hall, and had been spending the summer, was shot by a boy belonging in Newton Highlands. For years spring had also brought here with its coming a pair of blue birds to a locust on where they built their nest and hatched their young unmolested, except from the English sparrows. This year the blue birds returned as usual to hold their consultations about nest building in the same place. They did not appear one morning nor have they been seen since then. The next morning the body of a beautiful blue bird - shot through was found in a nest field. How long will it be at this rate before all our beautiful song birds will be shot by the boys, so that all we shall have left will be the filthy, fighting, monotonous toned English sparrows.

—Mr. George of the Newton High school closed his work with the Monday Club at their meeting this week, with Mrs. Geo. M. Stone. Mr. George has met the club weekly since Dec. 1. The work has been the study of Tennyson's "In Memoriam." At first Mr. George was secured to conduct the work for December only. Then as interest in his conduct of the class deepened and as the value of his direction of the work was more fully understood, it was arranged that he should continue meeting with the ladies through February, and later at their request he continued to lead the class to April 1st. These facts show conclusively the estimate the club have of the value of Mr. George's work. The members of the club part from him with regret and with the feeling that they have spent the winter with peculiar profit and pleasure under his guidance of their study and their first venture in university extension work has been a grand success.

Byzantine Rugs.

Byzantine is the name given to the order of architecture, which was successfully developed in Byzantium, now Constantinople about A. D. 300.

The leading forms of this famous style were the round arch, dome, pillar, the circle and the cross.

Simplicity and artistic combinations rather than showy, gaudy colorings characterized this famous style. Introducing a rug which has received its name from this class of architecture, owing to the similarity of design and richness of shading, we are assured that it will find ready sale among those whose good taste find satisfaction only in the artistic. Durability guaranteed, style based on high art, and its low price make it the most desirable rug in the world today. City, country, mountain and seashore residences are all beautified by the free use of this rug. It may be used on the bare floor, over carpets, and the effect when it is used on choice mattings is simple and stylish beyond description.

teered their services were Mrs. Blanche contralto; Miss Gertrude Tripp, violinist;

Miss Isabel Munro, pianist; Mr. Stephen Graham, tenor; Mr. Oliver H. Clarke, basso;
Mr. S. Homer Eaton, reader.

—An alarm was rung in at 3.22 o'clock last Saturday morning from box 17, for a fire in an unoccupied house, corner of Pearl and Jewett streets. It was discovered by Dr. Carroll, after it had been burning about half an hour. The building, a large French roof structure, was destroyed. The fire was of incendiary origin, the exterior walls on the east side having been saturated with kerosene and ignited from a pile of debris containing rags, paper and kindling. Superstition in people in the neighborhood believed the house to be the scene of ghostly revels. It was owned by James Karkick of Boston, and was valued at $400. The building was insured.

—Mr. John S. Trowbridge died of apoplexy at his residence on Hollis street, Friday afternoon. The deceased burst a blood vessel in his head a few days before and lay in a comatose state until his death. Mr.
Trowbridge had been a resident of Newton for several years, and was 50 years of age. He was senior partner of the Boston house of J. S. Trowbridge, dealer in fishing tackle and anglers' supplies, and had a large circle of friends. He was a member of the Newton Club and other local organizations. A widow and one son survive him.

—The funeral was held on Monday afternoon and a large number of Boston business men, friends of the deceased, were present.

—For some weeks past the Entertainment Club has had in preparation for its fifth night in its course at the Channing church a program of musical entertainment. "My Lord in Livery" and "In Honor Bound" are plays of exceptional interest, calling for much ability and study, and the amateur stage usually attempts, and that this excellent dramatic club is to present these plays with its strongest cast on April 20th, has become noised about. As the season ticket holders are so numerous that few could get in, it had at any of the regular entertainments, many of the friends of the club who are not so fortunate as to hold season tickets, and that they be given a chance to see the above named plays, in deference to this quite general request, the club announces that on April 21st, it will repeat the program to be given on the 20th inst., and that a plan of the program may be and reserved seat tickets (price 10 cts.)
may be obtained at the drug store of Mr.
Hubbard on and after Saturday the 9th inst.

—The second of the musicals given for the benefit of the Jamaica Plain Kindergarten for the Blind, took place Wednesday evening at the house of Mr. J. S. Potter, West Park, with a large and fashionable attendance. The program was well executed, the first number being Rheinberger's Sonata for violin and piano, played by Mr.
Willis Nowell and Mr. J. Wallace Goodrich, who gave a most spirited rendering, the playing of both being especially fine in the Adagio, where Mr. Nowell's violin again showed its magnificent tone, and in the Tarantella, taken at a speed which carried all before it, yet never forsaking of tone or melody of phrasing.
Later Mr. Nowell and Mr. Goodrich played Wieland's arrangement of the "Preislied,"
"The Evening Song" by Klein and Poppel,
"Elegiacs" by Schumann, and "The First and Last" by Brahms. The first could not have been better played; it was beyond all criticism, grandly conceived and perfectly executed. Through all the numbers played by the artists there was a unanimity of ideas which joined with musically insistent and perfect technique gave such an ensemble as is rarely heard. Mrs. Merrill contributed three songs by Grieg, "A Swan," "I love thee" and "Two Brown Eyes," also "Die Lorelei" by Liszt. Mr.
Dunham's singing is so well and favorably known that we need only say he sang in his usual careful manner. In addition to playing all the accompaniments Mr. Goodrich played Liszt's "Waldrauschen" in a brilliant style, and his contributions to these musicals have been no small factor in their success. From both a musical and financial standpoint these affairs have been most successful and the ladies having them in charge will, we understand, have over two hundred dollars for the benefit of the charity for which they were given.

—The trustees of the Newton Savings Bank held their quarterly meeting, Tuesday, and the following report of the auditor, Chas. A. Miner, was submitted, which shows the gains the bank has made in the past quarter, the gain in deposits being over $40,000.

Lasell Notes.

For the last lesson, one of the private classes prepared a small but elaborate dinner, to which they invited Principal Bragdon and Mrs. Bragdon, Miss Carpenter and Cham'elaryne.

The annual Game dinner was given Saturday evening, April 2. The menus prepared as usual by Mr. W. T. Shepherd were very artistic. There were turtle soup, brook trout, pou-pou, lettuce, sliced tomatoes, cucumbers, quail, grouse, elk, venison, duck, reed birds, green goose, snipe and pigeons with a dessert of ice cream, fancy cakes, confectionery, coffee and cocoa. There were bon-bons and each person dressed in the fancy cap therein and made merry.

—Mr. Bragdon continued his talk upon Joppa at the Methodist church, Sunday evening, April 3.

—At six o'clock Sunday evening Miss Frances Willard addressed the young women in the chapel upon character building.
She introduced Lady Henry Somerset, who followed her, giving a brief sketch of her own life, and the causes which led her to consecrate herself to her present public work. The pupils were much interested.

The King's Daughters held a brief meeting. They have just sent a box of clothing to the Deaconess' Home in Boston for distribution among the poor, and received a reply.

The pupils musical rehearsal will take place Tuesday evening, April 12, at 7.30 in the Gymnasium.

Easter Millinery and Gloves.
A cordial invitation is extended to the ladies of this city to our annual Easter Opening of novelties in our stock of millinery and kid gloves.

The extreme changes in colorings in the world of fashion and style of millinery and gloves will make our exhibition for this Easter season a treat to all who delight in seeing how near science has approached the beauties of nature.

For brilliancy of effect and softness in tone we do not hesitate to place our production in millinery and gloves far in advance of all previous seasons.

Our stock of millinery is always of the choicest of foreign and domestic manufactures. The goods are selected with great care, always avoiding a similarity of styles. We have in stock a very large and choice assortment of trimmed hats a d bonnets, these goods are made up with the same care as to the correctness of the season's styles as though specially ordered.

Our stock of kid gloves never contained
so many good values and such a wide range in colorings and styles as this present season. The goods were bought
very early in the season which gave us
choice of the very best of the new goods
finest line of kid gloves ever shown in this city. Children's kid gloves a specialty. Kid gloves fitted to the hand
and warranted.

An invitation is extended to the ladies
to call and inspect our goods at all times
and such information as is desired will
be cheerfully given by experienced ladies in charge, Roland W. Macurly, 20 Moody
street, Parmenter Block, Waltham. 2624

—Mrs. C. G. Atkinson of Newton Centre gave a very interesting talk before the Guild on Tuesday afternoon in the Methodist vestry on "Life in Japan." Mrs.
Atkinson's long residence in that much-talked-of country afforded her a familiarity with the manners and customs of every day life of its people, so that her easy, natural description was almost like a real glimpse of their homes, of their house fittings and furnishings, their domestic relations, their wedding and funeral ceremonies. The religion of the duty of the wife, making her so utterly the slave of her husband, another in-law, as to have absolutely no expression of her own wishes, would find few devotees in this century in America. The description of their customs was given practical illustrations by those worn by Mrs. Atkinson and her younger sister who kindly consented to don the garments which, while they appear so graceful and comfortable, are really quite the reverse, owing to the many bands slightly bound about the body and hips, the salutations on the streets and in the home seemed very arduous obligations. The manner in which babies are borne, strapped upon the backs of small children, and the use of the English or foreign residents, procured from the United States or England. Their pianos are from Germany and their tea in that land of tea-growing, comes from China; they only eat to the green tea of the Japanese. The method of conveyance by jinrikhas is an inexpensive and convenient one. Since Rev. and Mrs. Atkinson first went as missionaries to Japan, nearly nineteen years ago, great changes have taken place, and from persecution of the earnest workers in God's vineyard, the natives have come to openly acknowledge that they are armed, and therefore welcome. Mrs. Atkinson intends to return to her husband there next October, taking her youngest daughter with her, and leaving three children here to finish their education.

rived and been hung. It has been profect beauty."

day afternoon at Mrs. F. H. Henshaw's Woodward St.

Geo. F. Peck was granted license to put up a stable.

A petition for fire alarm signal station at the pumping station was presented with numerous signatures.

R. R. Fluelley gave notice of intention to build a house 24x43 on Glenwood avenue.

C. A. Locke and Herman Parker gave notice of intention to build house 42x44 feet on Hammond street, and Mary Locke and H. Parker, house 32x40 on Kingsbury street.

Alderman Wilson presented the petition of M. F. H. Wood for license to move two buildings from his lot on Valentine street, to the foot of the hill on North street and moved that it be granted. Alderman Hyde objected but after some explanations withdrew his objections and the license was granted.

Alderman Coffin read the report of the committee of conference on the Nonantum hose house, recommending that the sum of $10,800 be appropriated for it, and a new order appropriating that sum was passed.

Alderman Coffin read the report of the sewer committee concerning petitions for sewers on Clinton place, Harvard street, through Northwood avenue to Clarendon, Park place; Auburn, Washington street to Cottage Hospital and other streets, and recommended that sewers be built thereon this year, and orders to that effect were passed. It was reported in expedient to build sewers at present on Hildreth, Wadsworth, Savers, Melrose and Lexington streets, as so long a trench sewer was needed, before the work could be done.

W. H. Purdy gave notice of intention to build house 50x40 feet on Beach street.

A. H. Sanderson gave notice of intention to build house 28x22 on Lexington street, and also petitioned for gravel sidewalk in front of same.

Geo. Brierly gave notice of intention to build house 44x20 feet on Gramere street.

Frank Graham was granted license to build stable on Columbia street.

H. E. Hibbard petitioned for corner to walk on Hunnewell Terrace.

A communication was received from Horace Cousens, protesting against being assessed for street watering, unless the assessment was laid on all the property of the city equally, and claiming that the present method of assessment was unjust; referred to highway committee.

STREET RAILWAY TO UPPER FALLS.

Alderman Hyde presented a petition from the Newton & Boston Street Railway Company for leave to extend their tracks to Upper Falls, through Lincoln, Hartford, Boylston, Elliott, High and Summer streets, in response to urgent appeals from the people of that section who are shut off from railroad facilities and would like a chance to get out into the world.

A hearing was granted for April 15th, at 8 p. m. the same to be advertised in the papers, and the company being very anxious to have the matter settled as soon as possible so that the road may be in running order this summer, if possible.

Alderman Hyde presented the petition of the Newton druggists for 6th class liquor license and they were granted.

Geo. Leonard asked for concrete sidewalks on Wesley street.

C. W. Higgins gave notice of intention to build house 30x30 on Walnut street.

E. F. Barnes asked for concrete walks on Newtonville avenue and Bellevue street.

HIGHWAY ORDINANCE.

Alderman Hyde reported the draft of an ordinance for the highway department with many sections, most of them adopted by the board.

One section provided that there should be no driving on the streets faster than eight miles an hour; another that there should be no games of chance on the streets or parks of the city.

The cleaning of sidewalks section which had taken up a great deal of time to prepare, provided that all sidewalks within a certain radius of each railroad station should be kept clear of snow, and cleaned before 10 a. m. and also within two hours after a storm. The matter has been long agitated and there has been a general demand for some such regulation.

The report was received and then there came a crowd of amendments, the section relating to driving of cattle provided that no drove of more than twenty-five should be driven through the streets; and if there were more, they should be divided into drove of ten, which Alderman Harbach suggested might be difficult. The matter was finally straightened out and at the suggestion of Mayor Hibbard the number limited to twenty.

The section prohibiting the hitching of horses to lamp posts and trees was amended by adding sign posts, poles for electric light or for telephone and hydrants, and in fact almost everything but a regular hitching post.

On motion of Alderman Coffin the section relating to the cleaning of sidewalks was stricken out entirely as he said the city should clean the walks as heretofore.

Alderman Sheppard hoped the regulations relating to Ward Seven would be left.

Mayor Hibbard suggested that it was very important that there should be some regulations.

Alderman Hyde said his part of the city did not care for it.

Alderman Harbach said we had got along heretofore without it and we could do so in the future.

The motion was carried and citizens can leave their walks filled with melting snow next winter and make them a nuisance to every passer by, if they so desire.

On motion of Alderman Sprague, the provision relating to crowds on sidewalks was amended so as not to prohibit a man sitting on his own piazza, if he desired, and the ordinance was then passed to be enrolled.

TELEPHONE POLES.

The Telephone Co.'s petition for location for poles on Peabody, Chapel, Bridge and California streets was then taken up and Mr. J. N. Keller gave the reasons for the petition, as the poles on Galen street were overburdened and the company wished to find another avenue by which to reach Watertown, the Boston lines going through that town and Cambridge.

Chief Bixby spoke of the reasons for refusing the petition, the streets being narrow, and the city wires being more liable to get out of order when on crowded telephone poles.

The location was finally granted, Mr. Keller saying it was impossible to bury the wires.

The telephone pole on Washington street at end of Brooks place was charged with being a nuisance by Mrs. A. A. Trowbridge and others, who asked for its removal.

The water board was authorized to lay 265 feet of 6 inch pipe on Beach street, at a cost of $240; 312 of 8 inch on Collins Grove, $357; 220 of Edinboro $120; 164 of 8 inch on Griffin avenue, $248; total cost $1,033.

The board then on motion of Alderman Wilson went into executive session.

BOYD POND MATTER.

NEWTON AND WATERTOWN HEALTH BOARDS IN JOINT CONVENTION.

The regular meeting of the board of health was held at City Hall, Tuesday afternoon. President Otis Pettie presided and Messrs. Sheppard, Wiswall, Baker and Staples were present.

The routine business of the board was suspended and Mr. Wiswall moved to take up the Boyd pond matter, for considering which a joint convention of the boards of health of Watertown and Newton had been called.

Dr. B. F. Davenport, chairman, and Messrs. Lewis B. Porter and James R. Harrison, members of the Watertown board, were present, and the position of the matter as then before the Newton board was explained to them by reading the petitions and the records, showing the steps already taken in the matter.

Hearings had been given in response to the petitions, and after due investigation the Newton board had decided that the present condition of the pond constituted a nuisance, but no action had been taken as the pond lay in both Newton and Watertown.

Dr. Davenport of Watertown said no formal complaint had been made to the Watertown board regarding Boyd pond, but a communication had been received calling the attention of the board to the condition of things.

Mr. Harrison of the visiting board said this communication was the only thing received by their board, and a committee was appointed to investigate. They found the flats about the pond bare at one time, and upon a second visit they were covered with water.

Mr. Sheppard said that the pond as a nuisance must eventually be got rid of, and Laundry brook established as a source for drainage. The mill owners have been flowing the pond 18 inches higher than they have any right, and he thought the city could claim damages. He said the vital question to come before the convention would seem to be the getting rid of the Boyd pond dam.

It was found on inquiry that legislative action might be necessary to discontinue the water privilege and Mr. Wiswall favored purchasing the water power from the company and thus getting rid of the nuisance.

Dr. Baker believed Mr. Wiswall's suggestion the wisest and most expeditious. Legislation would consume much valuable time and the best way would be to refer the matter to a committee of gentlemen from the two boards for investigation. He then moved that a committee of three from each board, to include the chairmen, be appointed with instructions to report to the joint boards in one month.

Mr. J. Sturgis Potter, who was present, was requested to explain the situation more fully. He said the dam was built in 1850 and the flowage was regulated by a sheriff's jury. The established flowage had been exceeded by the mill owners which caused the stagnant flats, about which complaint had been entered. He understood the mill property to be mortgaged for $6000 or $7000, and a few years ago the privilege could have been purchased at a very reasonable figure.

Mr. Porter of the Watertown board, and who leases Cook's pond and power privilege, had no personal knowledge of the matter, but doubted if any lawful rights to a mill privilege on Boyd's pond could be found. He was confident, however, that Cook's pond, which had been used for mill privileges for some hundreds of years, had lawful privileges. Boyd's pond is a valuable reservoir for Cook's pond. Mr. Aldrich, the late owner of Cook's pond, used to say Boyd's pond had no legal rights and that they were subservient to him.

The speaker could see nothing but assumed rights, otherwise it will be a matter of record. Whenever more water had been needed in Cook's pond it had been drawn from Boyd's pond until the present mill started, since which time the dam had not interfered with the dam, the flow from the upper mill generally sufficing.

Dr. Baker said if no legal privilege existed on Boyd's pond there was nothing to prevent the board ordering the removal of the dam if necessary.

Dr. Davenport heartily endorsed the previous motion of Dr. Baker in reference to a committee of investigation, and said Watertown would gladly support such an adjustment of the matter.

Dr. Baker's motion then passed, the joint committee as selected, consisting of Chairman, B. F. Davenport, Messrs. Porter and Harrison of Watertown and Chairman Otis Pettie, Messrs. Wiswall and Baker of Newton.

Dr. Davenport on a request made by his board at the last town meeting, wished to arrive at some understanding with the Newton board of health, regarding an abatement of the Charles river nuisance. He said refuse from both sides of the stream found its way into the river, and the impurities collected from the shallow water near Watertown caused much complaint.

Dr. Baker said the Newton board had investigated the matter and had decided to take no action until the completion of the municipal sewer probably within the year, when much of the trouble would be obviated by the places along the banks connecting with the sewer.

Mr. Porter said this would relieve in a great measure the difficulties of the matter to Watertown.

Mr. Baker's motion to appoint the chairman and agents of the two boards as a committee to investigate the Charles river nuisance was passed.

On motion of Mr. Wiswall the agent was instructed to request the city solicitor to look up the legal points in the Boyd pond matter and report to the committee.

Mr. Tolman's application for permit to keep fowl on Washington street was taken from the table and the applicant given leave to withdraw. The agent was instructed to enforce the rules regarding the keeping of fowl.

Clerk French submitted a report regarding the investigation of sanitary condition and ventilation of the Lincoln school, with the state agent, showing the school house to be in a condition calling for immediate attention.

Mr. Sheppard said the public property committee had already taken steps to improve the schoolhouse and the work was in progress.

The report was placed on file.

An application to keep a pig on Grove street was granted, and various applications were referred to the agent for investigation.

Complaints from A. L. Jewell and others for alleged nuisance on the Elliot estate, Waltham street and Elliot avenue, and from Joseph Hanson and others for improper drainage near Faxon and Beach streets were tabled until the next field day for investigation.

A number of bills were submitted and approved and the board adjourned.

B. A. A. TEAM IN FIRST PLACE.

By defeating the Newton Boat Club bowlers at Newtonville last Tuesday evening, the Boston Athletic Association team won the championship of the Massachusetts Amateur Bowling League.

The game was postponed from March 17. There remains now but one game to complete the league schedule, and that will be rolled between the B. A. A. and Vesper B. C. teams next Saturday evening at 7 o'clock.

The second place, however, is a tie for second place between the Casino and Newton club teams, which will be rolled off after the completion of the scheduled games. The score of Tuesday night's game is appended:

Getting The Better of a Schoolboy.

In the management of the intemperate schoolboy who never wakes up to the value of his opportunity various happy thoughts are projected by the skillful teacher. One such lately came to light in brilliant form from its novelty.

In one of the city's most popular and able managed institutions of learning an able teacher of elocution labored long and patiently and earnestly in vain with the son of a very wealthy man. The boy felt that his father had so much money that he would do all that he pleased for him and he need not exert himself more than he liked, even for his own benefit. He obstinately ignored the exercise of declamation, and came to the class week after week with no preparation for his work.

"I will make that boy speak something," finally resolved the teacher. When his name was next called and he answered, as usual, "Unprepared," the instructor was ready.

"Step forward, Master B—, to the platform."

"Make your bow to the school."

"Ladies and gentlemen," continued the teacher with dignity, "we will now listen to the recitation of the multiplication table said backwards with appropriate gestures."

There was no dodging the command, and the poor victim stood before his audience gesticulating and appealing by emphasis and modulation to the sympathies of his roaring school-fellows all the way from "12 times 12" to "2 times 1." Ever since he has had a recitation ready.

Rich Strike of a Tenderfoot.

A. W. Bailey, of Maniton Springs, Colo., is at the Laclede. "Colorado is aflame with gold excitement," said Mr. Bailey last night. "It is a curious fact that old prospectors should ramble through every canyon and clamber up every mountain side in my state and abandon the search for the yellow metal in disgust, only to be followed by the eastern 'tenderfoot,' who makes wonderful finds. Take, for instance, the discovery on Cripple creek. It lies only 115 miles a little west of south of Denver, and has been visited by nearly every old miner and prospector in the west. A few months ago an insipid looking collegian came out there with both lungs nearly gone and no more strength left him than possessed by a woman. But he knew gold when he saw it, and as soon as he got to Cripple creek he staked off a claim. He was laughed at by the grizzled veterans at first, but he has the laugh on them now, for he is rich."

"The gold found on Cripple creek is not placer. It is the most peculiar formation ever discovered, and that's what misled the old timers. It is of the quartz variety, in a sort of disintegrated mass and so crumbled that the first layer of it is shoveled up with a common spade. At the Gold King mine, just over Pike's Peak from Maniton, on Cripple creek, one man has shipped a lot of the crude ore to Denver that assayed $10,000 to the ton."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Signs of Spring in Connecticut.

There are signs of an early spring in this section of Connecticut. Last week Erastus Boubon, an Oxford farmer, caught a black snake sunning himself on a rock. John Lines saw four bluebirds in Watertown last Sunday and a Botsford farmer has seen a robin. Judge Fyler, the state insurance commissioner, whose farm is in Torrington, saw a genuine snowbird on Friday. This is not the bird that usually goes under this name. It was an arctic bird of a gray ash color with two long, slender side feathers. This bird seldom comes along before March on its way north.

Another sign noticed by Judge Fyler was a hawk, a bird which does not stay so far north as this in the winter. Crows are plentiful, another sign that spring is here. Buckwheat cakes are becoming tasteless and flat, and muskrats have been seen on the banks of the Naugatuck. A railroad man found trailing arbutus in bud near High Rock Grove the other day. These signs are infallible.—Ansonia Cor. New York Sun.

One Cent Instead of $2,000.

In the circuit court for Cecil county, Md., yesterday, the jury in the case of Mrs. Ann Hughes, of Havre de Grace, versus the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore Railroad company for $10,000, rendered a verdict for one cent damages.

At the March term of court the plaintiff received a verdict for $3,500, but the judge set the verdict aside, claiming it was out of all reason, and put the damages at $2,000. The plaintiff refused to accept this, preferring a new trial. The plaintiff claims that she got on one of the defendant's trains to go to Havre de Grace, and that the train did not stop to let her off, while the conductor and several employees of the railroad company claim the train stopped, but she failed to get off.—Philadelphia Press.

Absolute Safety in Creeds.

"There is no danger in Creeds," said an old miner. "All you have to do when guns begin to pop is to lie down on the floor and let 'em walk all over you till the excitement is over."

"I was called one evening recently to see a couple of women," said the busiest doctor in camp, "and as I was writing a prescription guns began to pop out on the street right in front of the cabin. As half inch bullets are poor protection from stray bullets, I dodged behind a little iron stove and the women dropped down on the floor behind a bureau. When the shooting ceased I finished writing my prescription and departed. No, there is no danger if one is careful."

The Cost of the Chilian War.

The recent civil war in Chili cost the victors, the Congressional party, $15,000,000, according to a recent estimate made by the Chilian newspapers. Of that amount $855,000 was contributed by Senora Dona Juana Edwards, the mother of Don Augustin Edwards, minister of finance, from her private fortune. The cost of the war to the Balmaceda partisans has not been figured out, perhaps because they lost everything, and it is a big thing to estimate on.

A Rattlesnake in a Thrashing Machine.

Some days past a large thrashing machine was brought to town. Yesterday, while being opened for repairs, a huge rattlesnake was found in it taking his winter nap. The machine had been hauled about twelve miles. His snake-ship had been somewhat disturbed. He was 6 feet 5 inches long and had eight rattles.—Lockhart Cor. Galveston News.

Wealth in a Miser's Chest.

WANTED!

NEWTON TARIFF REFORM CLUB. The Tariff is a Tax.

Every person interested in the subject of the Tariff, is cordially invited to take part in the discussion carried on in this column. Respectful claims, and communications of every kind, whether coming from Tariff Reformers, Free Traders or High Protectionists. Address: Secretary of the Tariff Reform Club, Newton Centre, Mass.

Gov. Ames' Attitude.

We opine that Gov. Ames is about to realize that being in favor of protection is not enough for the requirements of the men who are at present directing the Republican party of Massachusetts, says the Boston Herald. He states that he has already ascertained that it is insufficient to procure his endorsement as a sound Republican by the state committee of this party. "My name was considered" by this committee, the ex-Governor tells us he has been informed, with a view to the election as a delegate to the coming national convention, "but was rejected because, in the opinion of the committee, I was not sound on the tariff question." Nothing but advocacy of extreme protection passes muster now. Gov. Ames proposes to make a test on this point by still offering himself as a candidate for this position. We fear the odds are greatly against his success in such a contest.

Gov. Ames on this point only proposes to advance with the spirit of the age. He is very moderate in taking this position, and does not at all propose to make progress rapidly, or in a manner that the most ardent protectionist, as protection has been previously understood, could consider to be reasonable. If protection, as the Republican party now hold it, be right, then the tariff laws are an exception to all other kinds of progress. In everything else that affects the welfare of humanity, the nation goes forward; in this we are asked to take a distinctly retrograde step. Protectionists themselves, in other days, have unanimously recognized that taxes under the revenue laws were to be diminished with time. The most eminent advocate in public life protection has ever had, Henry Clay, invariably declared that protection was to continue only for a limited period. Give it to us now, he said, fifty years ago, for a few years, and we will ask it no longer. It will not be reasonable necessary for us to have it beyond that time. The tariff can then be laid upon a revenue basis. Gen. James A. Garfield many years later declared that all the use the nation had for protection was to put it on the road to free trade. These men, like all other statesmen, recognized that national progress must inevitably do away with protection. The Republicans of today have put themselves in a position of demanding that as the years increase there shall be more protection instead of less.

No Defense for the Wool Tariff.
What remains to be said for the wool tariff when under the imposition of higher duties on foreign wools the domestic grower is being driven to the raising of sheep primarily for mutton instead of wool? According to the report of the department of agriculture, the reported increase in the number of sheep in the United States last year was due almost entirely to the increase in mutton breeds and the raising of lambs for the meat markets. Thus the increase in Massachusetts is reported as due to the facts that in the neighborhood of Boston and other large cities farmers "find it profitable to raise early spring lambs for the market," and of Springfield, New York, Illinois, Michigan and other states where there has been an increase in the number of sheep the same cause is given—the raising of sheep for mutton rather than wool. In Ohio, the home of the merino wool-tariff agitators, the change is particularly noticeable. According to the Boston Commercial Bulletin mutton sheep there are fast being bred with Shropshires to secure a better mutton through inferior wool breed for the reason that it is no longer found profitable, even with a high tariff on the product, to grow sheep for wool. It is stated that one breeder recently sold 50 Shropshire bucks to go to the Licking county alone. What does the Vermont merino sheep breeders' association say to this? But if wool is to become simply a by-product as hides are of cattle-raising, what possible defense is left for the wool tariff?

The Sugar Monopoly.
Philadelphians merchants and others caught in the recently expanded area of the sugar trust have had a bill prepared, which they will submit to Congress, provided for the repeal of the duty of one-half a cent a pound remaining on refined sugar. The duty is now the chief bulwark of this outrageous monopoly, and the Democratic leaders of the House ought to jump at the chance of sending such a measure to the Senate, that the country may see how the Republican majority there stands on this question. It is understood that they will. The trust must be smashed and its attempt to make the people pay huge dividends on heavily watered capital brought to naught. The repeal of the duty on refined sugar will at least limit its capacity of extortion and will not hurt the industry, as the refiners have often admitted that they could refine sugar as cheaply as those of any other country in the world.—Springfield Republican.

An Organic View.
This is the manner in which men who dare to express doubts about the policy of McKinleyism may expect to be treated by the party organs, no matter what their past services to the party have been. The Waltham Free Press gives the illustration as follows:
Oliver Ames, said to have been at one time governor of Massachusetts, is reported to have in mind the idea of intruding his tariff views on the Republican state convention. Oliver has all the reputed big-headedness usually ascribed to the paternal progenitor of the mule, and about the same degree of statesmanship usually possessed by a three year old boy. It is all well enough to work one's best in the interests of New England, but it must be remembered that, as much as we love her, Massachusetts is not the whole country; the interests of all must be looked after by Congress, not those merely of a section or a state. Oliver is evidently on his way to the Democratic camp, and let him go. It is the general impression that the Republican party in Massachusetts commenced going down hill when it made him successor to the long array of notable men who had filled her gubernatorial chair.

Congressman Crosby of Massachusetts made a speech on the wool tariff bill in the House on Wednesday which embraced a pretty decisive answer to the claim that the McKinley bill was passed in the interests of the workingmen. Mr. Crosby produced and read a list of forty-nine reductions in wages that had been made in manufacturing establishments in this country during the year 1891, giving the name and place of the factory and the date and amount of the wage reduction in each case.—N. Y. Evening Post.

At a McKinley rally in Providence $125,000,000 was represented on the platform. That is a potent campaign document in Rhode Island.

Ex-President Cleveland is a genius in the way of packing political doctrines into a simple sentence. Everybody will recognize the neatness of this from his Providence speech of Saturday: "Reciprocity is the humane which prohibits protection pays to genuine tariff reform."

Woman Suffrage Debate.
The recent suffrage debate before the Woman's Club at West Newton was opened by Mrs. Walton, the president. She based her argument on the bill of rights of Mass., where in it is asserted that "all men have certain essential and inalienable rights;" that "No man, nor corporation or association of men have any title to exclusive privileges distinct from those of the community;" that "the idea of a man being born a magistrate, lawgiver or judge is absurd and unnatural."

If the word man, as here used, mean man in its generic sense it includes woman, and Judge Hoar says, "unless the word absolutely excludes woman, although it includes woman everywhere else where the term is used, unless the women of this Commonwealth are not inhabitants of the Commonwealth," "the doctrine of Woman Suffrage stands securely upon the fundamental principles of the constitution of Massachusetts."

It then showed how our forefathers were inconsistent at first as regards the men themselves, restricting as they did, the ballot to property holders and church members. They have removed these barriers for men, one by one, until now they do away with the paltry poll tax of $2, but woman's political status remains about the same as when the constitution was first written, and man, by the very fact that he is born a man, is magistrate, lawgiver and judge of woman.

A woman may own shares in Albany R. R. and has an equal voice with men-shareholders in the government of the corporation, may direct, as far as her stock allows, the adoption of a plan for grade or ungraded crossings, but if she sells her stock and buys a house near the R. R. she has no voice in the matter. She has no voice except by courtesy in the building of a sidewalk or in the construction of a sewer. To sustain her right to the purchase of her property the ballot should be given.

The essential qualifications of a voter are:
1st. A desire for public welfare.
2d. A capability of judging of men who may be elected to office.
3d. A capability of judging of the effect of proposed measures.

Women have their qualifications as can be proved by a multitude of examples of women as rulers and as subjects, and if the average woman just now isn't fully versed in political lore, that is no reason why the ballot should be withheld from her by doing, and it is poor logic that would give the ballot to man, as an education, and would withhold it from woman, because she needs education.

There are laws which bear unequally upon men and women, and are not rectified, because man cannot fully put himself in woman's place. Women need the ballot for her own protection, the community needs her ballot for its safety. Kansas and Wyoming were cited as proving that a community was better off with the ballot for women than without, and other places were enumerated in Europe and America and in the islands of the sea, where municipal suffrage was granted to women with good effect.

Mrs. Mary R. Martin responded for the negative side of the question. She considered that the large class of thoughtful intelligent women, who do exert a tremendous influence upon the great voting mass, would lose the dispassionate, impartial, high-minded judgment they now exercise, if they were obliged to face the necessity of deciding each for herself just how to cast her vote. She had no fear of the ballot unsexing or polluting women, or making them neglect their home duties; but she did not believe that women would be elevated by it, because they might lose in the contact with measures of expediency which now ruled politics, that finer sense of right and wrong, and that personal element called sentiment peculiar to their sex. A woman's instinct leads her to decide questions on the moral basis; if she votes she must take one of two measures, neither of which are right, but only the best possible under the circumstances, and thus the world would be given over to expediency. The power, instinct and influence of women were neither wasted nor lost she thought by being denied full expression in the larger world outside her home.

To this Mrs. Davis replied that woman's power behind the throne was a hidden influence and if brought out into the light she had no fear but that it would stand the test. Though at first Mrs. Martin's prediction seemed alarming, on reflection she was convinced that this sentimental influence diminished, a stronger and responsible power would come into being. This would be a distinct gain and not a loss to the world.

Some Old Papers.
Two interesting specimens of early American papers have recently come into the possession of Mr. E. M. Springer, one the Kennebec Intelligencer, published at Augusta, Me., date of July 7, 1797, and the other the Christian Intelligencer, published at Portland, dated July 31, 1824.

The Intelligencer is a four page sheet, 16 by 11, and has for a motto "To publish truth shall be our honest aim," and a letter from the minister to Spain, dated two months earlier takes up the first page, giving information about the Spanish treaty, and the trouble over the Mississippi river navigation. A report of the doings of Congress June 15 is given, and foreign intelligence of April and May takes up nearly six more columns, and the remainder includes a letter from Sam. J. Cabell, the congressional challenge and quarrel of Thatcher and Blount, and about a column and a half of advertisements. Local news are entirely absent and the paper would be rather heavy for these times, but it shows how much interest was then felt in foreign news, when so much space was given to it.

There are two general advertisements, Thos. Fillebrown offering for sale, Irish Linen, N. E. Rum by barrel or gallon, W. I. Goods, "on reasonable terms for cash." Isaac Carter also offers Brandy, Wine, Molasses, Vinegar, Calicoes, Nankens, Jean, Fustian, India Cotton, Durant, Calimanco, "Likewise hardware goods, Guns, powder and shot." Some of these articles are almost unknown today, and others are not supposed to be now sold in Prohibition Maine.

The Christian Intelligencer seems to be a Universalist paper, and articles are divided under headings "Biographical," giving the "Life of Origen," Doctrinal, Polemical, in which a Universalist writes a sharp letter to a Calvinist; an editorial on "Religious Opposition," and miscellaneous matter about the Universalist denomination. In fact the religious paper is a good deal more of a newspaper than the secular one, which is perhaps explained by its being published nearly thirty years later. The only advertisement is one of Mr. Balfour's Inquiry, a series of letters in defence of Divine Revelation, and two volumes of sermons, which is in striking contrast with modern religious papers and their columns of patent medicine and other advertisements.

Appeal by the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

The society takes the present opportunity of tendering to its friends very grateful acknowledgements for the liberal support given in these many years. It has thereby been enabled regularly to continue its work, has prevented untold misery and has helped neglected or abused children to become respectable and useful members of society.

Eighteen hundred cases have been acted on by the society during the year 1891, affecting 4,700 children, and this number would have been increased but for a lack of the necessary funds. The society's most efficient work not only demands that it shall receive increased annual contributions or donations, but in addition to these contributions it also requires a larger permanent fund than it now has.

The society therefore appeals to the public for subscriptions to such increased fund, the urgency for which the following figures will show:—
For the year 1892 the expenses are estimated to amount to about $17,000, which is an excess of about $2,500 over those of 1891,—rendered necessary by a demanded enlargement of the society's work, especially in the western part of the state.

To meet this expenditure the society can rely on its subscriptions of about $6,000, and on an income from invested funds of about $1,100. The balance would have to be drawn from the sale of the funds bequeathed to the society for its unconditional use, and from which the above income has heretofore been derived. Obviously, however, this asset ought not to be encroached upon, but should form a part of the permanent fund.

To the above appeal for a permanent fund the society has to add the other appeal for contributions and donations of $16,000 towards the expenses of the current year, and while it hopes to obtain this sum in part by larger donations than before, earnestly desires to receive a good part of it through an increase of its "annual members" paying $5.00, and "contributors" paying smaller sums.

Remittances and subscriptions should be addressed to Charles Follen Atkinson, Treasurer, Box 1328, Boston, Mass.

7 Times to the Paint Mill.

Every honest painter will tell you that a paint mixed and ground by machinery is a better paint than can be made by hand. He will tell you that it's easier to put on, and that it covers a fifth more surface. We tell you the Chilton Paints are made with pure linseed oil, combined with turpentine and a turpentine drier, that all shades go through seven different mixings and grindings, that they contain full measure, that a cubic inch of Chilton Paint will cover a square foot of surface with two coats, and that our Paints will not crack, peel or blister if properly put on.

We have a color card for you. Boston or New York.

I have not used all of one bottle yet. I suffered from catarrh for twelve years, experiencing the nauseating dropping in the throat peculiar to that disease, and now bleed almost daily. I tried various remedies without benefit until last April, when I saw Ely's Cream Balm advertised in the Boston Budget. I procured a bottle, and since the first day's use have had no more bleeding—the soreness is entirely gone.—D. G. Davidson, with the Boston Budget, formerly with Boston Journal.

My Family Doctor

For the last two years has been Sulphur Bitters and until I began using them in my family, I had had more or less sickness, and our doctor's bill has been very large. I Was a Fool.

Yes, they said I was a fool not to try Sulphur Bitters. CLEANING SIDEWALKS.

The ordinance committee had in response to much prodding from the people constructed an ordinance providing for the removal of snow from sidewalks, and presented it Monday evening only to have it stricken out by the aldermen. Such action will be a bitter disappointment to the people, who hoped that another winter they would not be compelled to wade through six or more inches of melting snow on certain portions of the sidewalks.

It is to the credit of the greater portion of the citizens that they keep their walks clean without any ordinance compelling them to do so, but on nearly every street there are more or less lengthy stretches of walk that are left to take care of themselves, and when a thaw comes every one who passes along the street has to wade through the slush to the detriment of their health and to the greater detriment of their tempers.

The city keeps the walks clean enough as long as the weather is cold, but there ought to be some means of compelling owners of abutting property to remove the snow when a thaw comes. A man will spend considerable time or money in keeping his own walk clean, and then when he goes to the depot he has to wade through the uncleared walks of his neighbor.

The worst cases are in front of unoccupied land, which was bought for a speculation, and is left to take care of itself until it rises in value enough to suit the owner, and there are such spots on our main travelled streets which have been for years a disgrace to the city. The owner probably does not realize how much of a nuisance his walks are or how roundly he is anathematized by every one who wades through the sidewalks in front of his property. If he did, he would be very cautious to public opinion, to leave them in such a condition.

A resident on Centre street, for instance, will have to wear high over-shoes, just for the sake of a few hundred feet of uncleared walk, when all the rest is clean, or a resident on Hunnewell hill has to put on rubber boots to get to the depot with dry feet. The city keeps the crosswalks reasonably clear, and if abutters only cleared their walks the depots could be reached with comfort. The men do not mind it so much for themselves as they do for the women and children, who must get wet feet and wet clothing just because of these negligent property owners.

Perhaps the only way to secure an ordinance that could be enforced would be to make it an issue in the next election, and vote for no man who would not pledge himself to favor such an ordinance. The sentiment on the north side of the city is very strong on this matter and the aldermen can hardly have realized the deep feeling people have on the question. Of course the members who keep carriages and never have occasion to walk, would not know from their own experience, but Alderman Sheppard and Mayor Hibbard could have told them something of the state of public feeling, as they have heard complaints enough, and both have had experience with uncleared walks on their way to the depot. They ought to have been listened to, and it seems hardly possible that the board will not reconsider its action and pass the ordinance relating to sidewalks. Any aspirant for the mayoralty, if there are any such in the board, would never get votes enough to elect him on the north side of the city, unless he came out openly and strongly in favor of clean sidewalks.

STREET RAILWAY EXTENSION.

The conservative citizen is astonished at the way the Newton & Boston Street Railway company is branching out and endeavoring to connect the whole of Newton. Not content with getting into Newton Highlands they now ask for an extension to Upper Falls, and are to have a hearing on their petition April 18th. They are anxious to secure the location as soon as possible so as to begin work at once and have the road in operation if possible in time to secure some of the summer travel.

Citizens of Upper Falls are said to be very anxious for the street railway as they are now but indifferently served by the New York and New England and the Boston & Albany, neither road coming within half a mile of the center of the village. We are accustomed to think of Upper Falls as pictured by Alderman Pettie, where the inhabitants go to bed at sundown, and are but little affected by the ways of the outside world. One who rides through its streets can hardly realize that he is in the city of Newton, but instead in some beautifully located hill town in the interior of the state, and a street railway would be almost a revolution in its streets.

The wide-awake men of the village are quick to see the advantage of a street railway and have been very urgent for the company to make the extension at once. The line would also be very popular for pleasure travel, as it would make our famous Echo Bridge easily accessible from all parts of the city, and the company believe that the line would prove a paying investment, especially in the summer.

The continued success of the Newton & Waltham line would indicate that the other company have good grounds for their hopes of success, as the former line has this year in every month showed a substantial increase over the same month a year ago, and evidently a railway creates patronage and people get the habit of riding in street cars just as they acquire any other habit.

The petition of the county commissioners of Middlesex for leave to borrow $50,000 for a trunk school, was given a hearing by the legislative committee on expenditures, Monday. Secretary Dickinson of the state board of education, favored the petition, and also the establishment of one large school for the county, as the law directs, and as had been the policy of the state since 1873. Warren F. Spaulding, secretary of the Massachusetts Prison Association, and C. W. Birtwell, secretary of the Truants' Aid Society, agreed with Mr. Dickinson that such a school was needed, but they wanted several small schools rather than one large one.

The Boston Merchants Association have strongly endorsed Congressman's Lodge's measure for the suspension of the purchase of silver bullion and resolutions presented by Mr. J. R. Leeson were passed unanimously. Mr. Leeson also endorsed the work of the "Bureau of American Republics," as of great value for the enlargement of commercial dealings between this country and other American Republics, and resolutions were adopted calling upon Congress to have the work continued. The Boston Merchants Association is a very wide awake business body, and its sentiments ought to have great influence upon Congress.

CONGRESSMAN LODGE deserves the support of his party in his efforts to have the purchases of silver and the issue of cheap dollars discontinued. Mr. Lodge defended the law in the last campaign, but it is gratifying to see that he is ready now to admit that it is an unwise law and ought to be repealed at once. The government by the decline in the price of silver since it began buying, has lost some thirty millions of dollars. It has besides a great hoard of silver which nobody wants, and the best way to get out of the fix would be to sell the stuff at auction for what it would bring.

The special committee that has been sitting since the last legislature to review the administrative boards and commissions of the state has presented its report, which is of quite a voluminous character. The committee seem to have been rather staggered at the size of the job before them, and their report is very moderate in tone and makes no radical recommendations. They approve without regard to party the general system of

THE Republican caucuses to elect delegates to the State and Congressional conventions are called for Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in the different wards. It is said that Mr. Samuel L. Powers will be favored as a candidate to represent this district at Minneapolis, and he has many friends outside of Newton who would be glad to help nominate him.

The first of the week gave us some very fair summer weather, Sunday the mercury reached 77 degrees, the highest point touched at this season for twenty-one years, and all the indications point to an early spring.

The Indian Meeting in Newton Centre.

Senator Dawes, speaking, April 1, in the Senate on the Indian appropriation bill, while opposing the cutting down from money asked for and needed for efficient school work at an important post, says, "I must consider behind it all a public opinion which must sustain us in the appropriation we make in this bill, as in other bills, or else the work, relying ultimately upon public opinion, will go down."

And there not having been sufficient expression of public opinion, the appropriations are cut down.

This is why we have Indian meetings and speakers who know the state of affairs to tell us how things are going, because without these movements "the work," as Senator Dawes says, "relying ultimately upon public opinion will go down."

What is this branch of the work to which he here refers? Appropriating money to pay the debts we owe to the Indians, to irrigate lands otherwise deserts which we have made Indian reservations because we did not want them and which the Indians must depend upon for their sustenance, since farming is at present the only industry they have, and especially, to appropriate money for the education of the Indian children, which if thoroughly done will soon make the Indian problem a thing of the past.

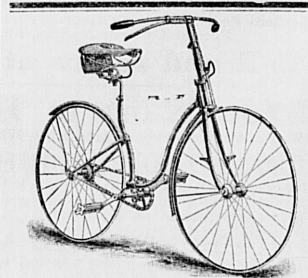

In the chapel of the first Congregational church, Newton Centre, on the evening of April 12, at a quarter before eight o'clock, Mrs. A. S. Quinton, President of the Women's National Indian Association, will give the story of her seven months' trip among the wild tribes. Her personal knowledge of her subject in addition to her long study of the Indian problem make her account of value. As to her way of giving it, she is said by a leading New York paper to be one of the best Indian speakers in the country. And Rev. Philip S. Moxom says that to hear her once is to gain inspiration for a year's work. Another prominent clergyman says: "No one so powerfully impressed the Mohonk Conference as did she."

The cause alone should bring out the best citizen, the most thoughtful and earnest people, as an evidence that they wish the Indian question settled in the American way, the Christian way. But it will not take from the numbers and the zeal that those who come will be well repaid for doing so.

trying Cottolene, the new, popular, successful vegetable lard. Don't wait for your neighbor to tell you about it. It is the first duty of the housekeeper to provide wholesome food. Everybody recognizes the unpleasant effects of the so-called "richness" of food prepared with lard. The "richness" is nothing but grease; the housekeeper knows that its presence in food is unsafe and unfit, but now science has discovered

COTTOLENE

Its success is unbounded. It will enter every kitchen and increase many fold the varieties of food which may be enjoyed. The housekeeper need no longer hesitate in the use of shortening in catering for those who are delicate. The problem is solved. Use Cottolene. Sold by all grocers.

THE SEASON OF MUSHROOMS.
That delicious fungus growth scientifically called by a big and strange name, but commonly known as the mushroom, is just beginning to come plentifully into the local markets, and they are prepared to stay till late into the fall.

Those which are found in the vegetable stalls in Washington market are of artificial culture and are now selling at about seventy-five cents a pound. A month ago they brought $1.35 a pound, and a month hence fifty cents or even less will buy a goodly supply of the nutritious and delicious white stemmed and brown topped fungi.

Said the ruddy faced and white aproned marketman to me today between the puffs of his pipe:

"Yes, I sell a good many mushrooms, especially during Lent. Those that come in now are raised in hothouses in beds underneath the plant shelves and they come pretty high, although they are getting down in price lately. I have sold them as high as three dollars a pound. Later on in the spring we get them from the farmers and others who raise them in their cellars, in shaded places and even in caves, and during warm weather men and women and boys and girls who gather them in fields and pastures bring them in to the city. Then we sell them for almost nothing—as low as ten cents a pound sometimes. Most of our customers who buy mushrooms are people of means, and although we sell great quantities of them, the people as a whole don't seem to appreciate and understand them, as I should think they would."

The jolly marketman is right, for mushrooms are not appreciated as they should be. Many people have eaten mushrooms only when the canned article has been served sprinkled sparingly over a steak. There is a vast difference between the canned mushroom and the crisp, fresh and appetizing fungus that one can now buy in any of the large markets.—New York Telegram.

How It Is Done in China.
Though the Chinese diplomatist moves slowly, there are some Chinese mandarins whose ways are expeditious and summary. Under the auspices of Chang Chih-tung foreign engineers are prospecting in the neighborhood of Hankow. They were commended the other day by the viceroy to the care and protection of a minor mandarin. This personage, rooted in the traditions of the past, viewed the advent of the "Fankui" with disapproval.

He penned a remonstrance, setting forth that it would be unsafe to allow the earth dragon, who has lain undisturbed since the time of Confucius, to be profanely tampered with. The country folk, he explained, were a rough set, who, on seeing strangers with strange instruments in their hands probing and peering into the earth, would be sure to be roused to mischief, and as he professed himself powerless to restrain the riot that might ensue, he prayed his excellency to reconsider the matter.

The viceroy took in the situation at a glance. He wrote in reply to say that, inasmuch as the local official did not seem equal to cope with the situation, he was sending five deputies, with boats and followers, to afford the foreigners safe and suitable escort—all at the expense of the remonstrant. Their visit is said to have cost the worthy magistrate some $750, and since then Chang Chih-tung has not been troubled with any more remonstrance from the zealous defender of the earth dragon.—Manchester (England) Examiner.

The Spring.

Of all seasons in the year, is the one for making radical changes in regard to health. During the winter, the system becomes to a certain extent clogged with waste, and the blood loaded with impurities, owing to lack of exercise, close confinement in poorly ventilated shops and homes, and other causes. This is the cause of the dull, sluggish, tired feeling so general at this season, and which must be overcome, or the health may be permanently broken down. Hood's Sarsaparilla has attained the greatest popularity all over the country as the favorite Spring Medicine. It expels the accumulation of impurities through the bowels, kidneys, liver, and skin, gives to the blood the purity and quality necessary to good health and overcomes that tired feeling.

After the first baby has arrived in a family a man can't kiss his wife without waiting for her to take a lot of pins out for her mouth.—Atchison Globe.

Mrs. Languish. "Tired! Oh, so tired all the time!" Mrs. Smart. "Well, so I used to be until I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla as a spring medicine, and now I don't know what it is to have that tired feeling. Try it, my dear; only be sure you get Ayer's."

"Beauty" may be "only skin deep," but the secret of a beautiful skin is pure blood. Those coarse, rough, pimply complexions may, in most cases, be rendered soft, smooth, and fair by the persevering and systematic use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Cancer Can be Cured, and by Dr. James M. Solomon, Jr. 25 Court St., Boston, Mass.

Dr. Solomon has cured a cancer on my lip of seventeen years' standing, it was cut out twice, by what they call eminent surgeons, at intervals of six years, after being cut out each time I knew by the feeling it was still there, and it would be now if I had not been so fortunate as to have Dr. Solomon treat it, he did it without any cutting. I would urge those afflicted with cancer not to delay, but get it cut out and be cured permanently as I have done. My dear Doctor I thank from the bottom of my heart.

Tent and Overcoat in One.
A new tent is about to be introduced into the German army, the novel feature of which is that it is divisible into two portions, each half being arranged so as to be used as an overcoat by the soldiers in case of rain while on the march.—Paris Letter.

The Grip Cured Him.
A citizen of Prescott, Ariz., had asthma for six years, during which time he was never able to sleep at night except in a sitting posture. He took the grip some weeks ago, and when he recovered his asthma was gone.—Chicago Tribune.

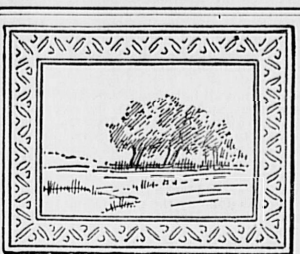

The German Achilles.

The present Emperor of Germany is unfortunate in having in his veins the blood of ancestry tainted with eccentricity and insanity. One of his ancestors in the fifteenth century was Albert, surnamed the Achilles of Germany because he was so big and strong. His mind was as weak, however, as his body was strong, and so it was proposed to put the state under the care of a regent. Albert heard of the plan, and sent for the counsellors who were considering it. The latter were frightened when they saw their sovereign, his face plainly showing the anger he felt.

Albert turned to the Count of Gravenstein, who presided over the council, and with one blow of his sword laid the unfortunate nobleman dead at his feet. The others protested their loyalty, and threw the blame for the proposition to depose Albert upon the dead Gravenstein. The Elector forgave them and allowed them to retire. From that moment he was absolute master of his subjects, not one of the nobility daring to interfere with him. He caused the castle of Gravenstein to be levelled to the ground, the vaults filled up and a crop of hemp to be grown there; the feudal home of the proud family had stood. He took the name of Gravenstein as one of his own titles, and it has ever since been handed down in the House of Hohenzollern. The widow and children of the Count were forbidden, under penalty of death, to bear the name of the husband and father, and one of the children was actually put to death for assuming it.—Harper's Young People.

"Am I cross-eyed, Charley?" asked the rich girl.
"Yes, Maude; but who wouldn't be with your eyes? If my optics were as beautiful as yours I'd be trying to look into them myself, too."—New York Sun.

—At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Unitarian Society, held March 4, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted: Resolved, That, in the case of Mrs. Angelina A. Gammon, a member of the society sustains a loss to which nothing could reconcile us but our faith in the love and wisdom of a Father whose will is better than anything we can do for ourselves. That, while we deeply mourn her loss, we also rejoice in the memory of her noble life,—a life which we saw daily moving among us in deeds of cheerful faith, of tender courage, of modest generosity, and of unselfish service to others. That, as the executive committee, representing the society, we desire to bear testimony, not only to the high qualities of her character, but to the unstinted energy and enthusiasm with which she brought these qualities to the support of our society from its very beginning,—without her untiring hand and influence, our society would have been dark and difficult indeed. That, although she herself is no longer among us, her noble deeds must always remain, and that this immortality of her spirit, thus visibly secured before us, should serve as a bright and shining example to inspire all the members of the household of faith she loved so well. That to the family of the departed, in her last moments, we extend our deepest and heartfelt sympathy.

Harvard Hall, the site of the first college building, where they listened to essays on the history of books for public libraries, and discussions, after which they were given a dinner in Memorial Hall by the Harvard Library Association. They then visited the Harvard Library, the Law Library, the Agassiz Museum, and the Divinity School Library, and at 4:30 took busses and were driven about Cambridge to the points of special interest. At 6:30 they had a supper at Mr. Justin Winsor's. There were some 150 members of the club present.

The millinery opening at the Juvenile this week was the center of attraction for the ladies of Newton, and a large number came from the adjoining villages. The display was a very attractive one, the trimmed hats and bonnets shown found many admirers, the number of hats sold being a substantial proof that the popularity of the Juvenile is steadily increasing.
There are no decided changes this year, although round hats have usurped the place of bonnets, and flowers are used in great profusion, while the long ribbon streamers to many of the hats are novel and graceful. Some handsome new colors were shown in the hats, one being "a new shade of light grey, and hyacinth blue is another charming shade. Many of the hats were exact reproduction of Paris importations, and the tastes of Miss Robbins' taste and skill were much admired. The near approach of Easter makes millinery a matter of prime importance this week.
—Bishop Brooks' visit to Grace church, Sunday morning, caused an attendance that completely filled every seat, and in the rear of the church as many stood up as could find room, while almost as large a number were in the line to get into the church.
The regular attendants were in their seats by 10:30, and after that hour, strangers were seated. Bishop Brooks as usual delivered an inspiring sermon on the text "Jesus Went up to Jerusalem," and applied it by saying that there were times in the life of every man when he "went up to Jerusalem," becoming filled with enthusiasm for heroic effort, for better living, for a more thorough consecration to Christ. During the offertory after the sermon, Mr. Myron Whitney sang "Palm Branches," the boy choir joining in the chorus. Then came the communion service, when thirty-nine were confirmed, many being adults, the largest number confirmed at any one time in the history of the church. On the previous Friday evening, seven of the adult candidates were baptized. At the evening service, there was another very large congregation.
—The presentation of "In Honor Bound" and "My Lord in Liverty" by the Entertainment Club at the Channing church parlors on Wednesday and Thursday evenings next, promises to be a great success. The entire evening has been given each part by the casts, which are, for "In Honor Bound," Misses Molly Metcalf and Mabel Hall, and Messrs. Ballou and Hall, and for "My Lord in Liverty," Misses Ballou, Alice Adams, Dora Stuart and Louise Brackett, and Messrs. Hall, Ballou and Herbert Felton. A pleasing feature introduced in "My Lord in Liverty" will be a new and pretty minuet. An orchestra of twelve players will render several selections during each evening. Ladies are requested and expected to remove their bonnets, and suitable accommodations will be provided. Take it all in all, nothing has been left undone that would make the closing entertainments notable events in the second and very successful season of the Entertainment Club. Reserved seats and admission tickets are to be had at Mr.
Hubbard's drug store. No tickets will be sold at the door.

—Warren A. Rodman has completed plans for the erection of a valuable house at the corner of Worcester and Washington streets, Wellesley Hills, for Dr. Walter B. Lancaster, formerly of this city. The house will be two stories in height, with a frontage of sixty-eight feet in length. A broad piazza extends about half of this length. On the west end there is an oriel window, which is quite a feature, as well as the casement windows in old colonial style which are used throughout the house.
—Mr. Henry Fuller celebrated his 80th birthday, Monday, in a very pleasant but informal manner, at his residence on Galen street. No notice of the anniversary was sent out, but a large number of his friends dropped in to congratulate him on the occasion, and on the excellent health he enjoys. A gentleman from Cambridge, who is Mr. Fuller's senior, but who is still young, and a number of other friends from out of town, were present, besides many from Newton. It was in fact quite a reunion of the older Newton residents, and many interesting comparisons were made of the condition of Newton now, and its condition when they were boys.

Death of George Norman Hyde.

Mr. George Norman Hyde, son of James Hyde, late of Newton, brother of James F. C. Hyde, died in Denver, Colorado on Monday the 11th inst. after a rather protracted illness.
He was born in Newton, Sept. 29, 1828.
In 1852 he left business in Boston and went to California where he remained for about twenty-five years. After returning to Newton for about a year he went to Colorado and built the first house where now stands the town of Telluride, San Miguel Co.
He was one of the incorporators of the town and its first Mayor.
He devoted his energies to the locating and development of mining properties for a time, and later to the handling of real estate, the making and collection of loans, in all of which he made a success.
A recent Telluride paper says: "His energetic activity made him foremost in every movement calculated to advance the material interests of the town and district, and both his sound advice and financial assistance were available to any such end."
In his business pursuits he has been connected with enterprises of greater and lesser magnitude, involving the handling of money in large sums, and during the years of his residence here his probity and integrity have been unquestioned.
It is possible that Mr. Hyde may never return to the community that has profited by his efforts and holds his affection, but in departing from this town, takes with him the confidence and esteem of our citizens and their best wishes for his restoration to health.
He was recently married, and leaves a widow but no children.
His body will find a resting place in the State of his adoption.

Newton Cottage Hospital.

The last meeting of the Executive Committee was held in the renovated board room, which has been handsomely decorated through the generosity of Mrs.
D. R. Emerson who has also given a liberal donation of twelve chairs.
All who have occasion to visit the hospital, will join in the hearty vote of thanks which was tendered to the lady for softening the austere walls of this commodious room, and adding to its furnishing. The work was done by Mr.
Hill, who generously added, at his own expense, the tinting of the walls of the office.
Mr. Leeson made the gratifying announcement that the sewerage committee has consented to extend the sewer, this year, along Washington street as far as the hospital. It will be remembered that one year ago the drainage of the hospital was thoroughly overhauled, and new cess-pools constructed. Yet, with the constantly increasing work of the hospital, some better outlet will soon be needed and it is cause for congratulation that the Mayor and other members of the city government amply recognize the claims of this important institution.
Contracts have been awarded for making changes in the laundry whose capacity is very inadequate to the demands upon it.
During the past month the wards have been occupied by a daily average of between twenty and thirty patients, including several cases of diphtheria and scarlet fever who have been cared for in the admirable wards constructed for contagious cases.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

THE HIGHWAY ORDINANCE—THAT NON-ANTUM HOUSE.

The Common Council met Monday evening with President Roffe as presiding officer and all the members present with the exception of Councilman Downs of Ward One.

After the reading of the records, papers from the board of Aldermen were submitted and passed in concurrence.

Regarding the order revising the city ordinances, Councilman Forknall proposed an amendment to section 32, by inserting a clause relative to street railways which was passed.

The ordinance relating to highways called out some discussion. Councilman Bothfield thought striking out the ordinance relating to the cleaning of snow from sidewalks would cause some dissatisfaction more especially in the congested portions of the city. He moved an amendment to section 28 that the rejected ordinance be retained, but changed to include only portions within a radius of 9-16 of a mile from the Newton railroad station and 3-8 of a mile from the Newtonville and West Newton stations.

Councilman Lunt of Ward Two at once seconded this motion.

Councilman Degen of Ward Six thought the amendment should include Newton Centre, taking land within 3-8 of a mile of the station.

Councilman Knapp thought it a retrograde movement for the city of Newton not to have an ordinance relating to the cleaning of sidewalks from snow and he knew of no city which had not some such provision. He thought Auburndale should be included in Councilman Bothfield's amendment.

Councilman Weed read a vote which was passed at the Ward Seven Republican caucus Saturday evening protesting against the discontinuance of the ordinance, and he stated that the citizens of that Ward were quite stirred up over the action of the Aldermen. Councilman Bothfield was perfectly willing to include Newton Centre and Auburndale in his amendment.

Councilman Moulton said he had heard no expression of opinion regarding the matter in Ward Five and should not be prepared to act upon the amendment until he could voice the wishes of his constituents.

Councilman Bothfield then moved to table the amendment for the present, which was done.

Councilman Weed asked for information on the order appropriating $10,800 as recommended by the committee of conference for the Nonantum House.

Councilman Forknall of the committee said there was only one thing to do when you cannot get what you want, you must take what you can get. He said there is a corporation which pays $5,000 annually to the city and for some years they have been trying to get a fire apparatus placed with the city for proper protection. The nearest apparatus now is one mile away. For the past two or three years they have been very near success, but some little thing has occurred each year to prevent. The superintendent told me at one time that their entire season's stock valued at $75,000 was in one part of the premises. And the city of Newton squabbling over a few thousands for a Hosehouse to protect, with others, this corporation from which they receive annually $5,000. The members of the committee were compelled to accept this reduced appropriation or allow the matter to rest another year.

It should be understood the cut down is not all of the $1,700 as it would appear but only $1,200, the $500 being the levy granted in the first appropriation. There is no less than $100 leeway over the actual estimates of the fire apparatus.

The order was unanimously passed in concurrence by yeas and nays.

A petition from Abby A. Curry for concrete sidewalk on Hunnewell Terrace was received, also from J. N. Damon for crosswalk on Washington street near Waverly avenue; from G. S. Bullens a petition for paved gutter on Waverly Avenue near Arlington street; and petition from H. D. Fuller for common sewer on Copley Street.

Petitions from W. M. Russell for concrete sidewalk on Watertown street near Faxon street and for crosswalk on Faxon street were received. Also petition from D. R. Emerson and others for common sewer on Jewett Street from Roxland to Boyd street.

Councilman Green reported for the committee on ordinances recommending the passage of the ordinance relating to streets.

BOOKS AND MAGAZINES.

The Rev. Dr. Richard Wheatley in the number of Harper's Weekly, published April 13th, giving an interesting and comprehensive account of the work of the New York Board of Trade and Transportation, its history and methods. The article will be illustrated with several portraits. Other attractive features in the same number of the Weekly will include an illustrated article on "Fishing in the Susquehanna," a paper by Julian Ralph, entitled, "A Talk with a Cowboy," illustrated by Hamilton; and a poem by Charles DeKay, apropos of the present state of politics in New York city, entitled, "Arise, Manhattan."

Margaret E. Sangster has written a poem, "Ester Dawn," for the number of Harper's Bazar, published April 15th. It is handsomely illustrated by Alice Barber Stephens.

Harper's Young People for April 12th is an Easter number. It consists of twenty-four pages, enclosed in a cover especially designed for this issue. F. V. Du Mond. The contents are unusually rich and varied, and the illustrations sumptuous. Among the choice things in the number are the first instalment of a short story, entitled "Natty Barton's Magic," by E. H. House; "All that She Hath," an Easter story by Marion Dickinson; the sixth instalment of K. K. Munroe's "Canoemates"; the fifth paper on "The Early Years of Abraham Lincoln," by Charles Carleton Coffin; and a variety of other stories, articles, poems, and pictures by clever and entertaining authors and illustrators.

In Foreign Lands. By Mrs. Barbara N. Galpin. 156 pp. Price, $1.00. Boston: New England Publishing Company. Few fears are more difficult than for an excursionist to write an acceptable book account of a trip through many lands, but when well done it is the best of leisure hour reading. Mrs. Galpin has proved equal to the task, and in Foreign Lands is as delightful a portrayal of the lights and shadows of travel as one could ask. She was a member of Mrs. Frazar's 1891 party, and she has told what to see and how to see it, how to travel and how not to. The account is as fascinating as a novel, so that once enlisted it is easy to wind one's way with the party by land and sea through England, France, Switzerland, Italy, Germany, and Belgium. It is high art to know what to see when one has but a day, but it is higher art to know how not to waste time when one has days in a city. This newspaper woman, who has snatched a vacation out of a busy life was evidently master of both these arts, and she has told her readers how she did it. As a daily companion for any European tourist, who makes the first trip, this would be worth more than half a dozen guide-books. It touches every place that Americans usually visit on the Continent; it sees everything from an American point of view, and is carefully prepared from a reporter's exhaustive notes on the ground. For supplementary geographical reading it would be a great success in any class. It is a book for every school library.

For sale at all the leading book-stores in Boston.

Articles of political timeliness in the April Forum are: A discussion of the several phases of "The Crisis of the Democratic Party," by the Hon. Wm. L. Wilson, of West Virginia, who writes in favor of "a campaign for a principle," viz., tariff reform; by Frederic R. Conder, the leader of the anti-Hill Democrats in New York, on the revolt against Senator Hill; and by Matthew Hale, a well-known constitutional authority, on the theft by the Democrats of the New York senate. Besides these, is a thorough review of the change in Iowa from a Republican to a Democratic majority.

A Voyage of Discovery is the title of Hamilton Aide's new book, which will be brought out soon by Harper & Brothers. It is not a book of travels, but a novel presenting an Englishman's impression of society in New York, Boston, and elsewhere. Some well-known and prominent society people in New York are among the characters in the story. The book is said to be partly the author's recent tour in this country in company with Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Stanley. As Mr. Aide is free from the prejudices so often indulged in by English observers of American manners, what he says of fashionable life in New York, Newport, and other places will be of no small interest to a very large class of readers.

Harper & Brothers have just published: A Capillary Crime and Other Stories, by F. D. Millet; Tales of a Time and Place, by Grace King; Van Bibber and Others, by Richard Harding Davis; Concerning all of Us, Thomas Wentworth Higginson; The Kansas Conflict, by ex-Governor Charles Robinson; The House Comfortable, by Agnes Bailey Ormsbee; and Everybody's Pocket Cyclopaedia. They have also ready new and revised editions of William Black's Princess of Thule, and Thomas Hardy's very successful story, Tess of the D'Urbervilles.

SUBURBAN TENNIS LEAGUE.

INTERESTING MATCHES BETWEEN CLEVER AMATEURS LOOKED FOR.

A suburban tennis league will be organized in this city this evening. Its membership will comprise the Waltham Racquet Club, Newton Boat Club, Neighborhood Club of West Newton, Wellesley Hills Tennis Club, and the Waltham and Belmont tennis clubs.

Representatives of these clubs will attend the meeting, which is to be held at the residence of J. B. Brimblecom, Boyd street, Newton.

It is planned to arrange a tournament in singles and doubles, the games to be played at intervals during the season, on the courts of the several clubs represented in the league. Suitable prizes will be offered in each class.

The primary object of the league is to develop interest in the sport. Each club will be privileged to select its players from its own membership, and no case will be allowed to utilize outside talent or enter men who come under the classification of professionals.

Indications point to a very successful league organization and a series of interesting matches between clever amateurs.

Some Remarkable Bowling.

The final scheduled game in the Massachusetts Amateur Bowling League series was rolled at Newtonville Saturday evening between the B. A. A. and Vesper teams. It was won by the latter, and this makes a tie for second place between Casino, Newton and Vesper. Its result does not effect the first place, the B. A. A. team having won the largest number of games in the series.

The match was a hot one from the start, the Vespers getting a lead of 40 pins in the first string. In the second the B. A. A.'s bowled in great form, and at the finish led their opponents by six pins.

The final string was marked by some of the finest bowling seen on a league alley this season. Corwin of the Vespers making a remarkable score, of 244. He started in with a spare, and followed it up with six strikes in succession. It is the highest 10-frame league score this season.

Besides smashing the record on 10 frame totals the Vesper Club beat the best previous single string record, and that of total totals made and played home. Its total in the third string figured up 911 pins.

The work of the Vesper men won deserved recognition, and the spectators toward the close cheered till the rafters rung. The defeated team put up a good game, Lamb especially doing well. He made a total for three strings of 526.

Altogether, the closing match was the most exciting of the tournament. The score stood 2406, to 2379. M. Corwin's total was 559.

Chocolate Frosting.

Some years ago nearly every house-keeper thought that for chocolate frosting on pudding, creams, or for a beverage, she must have the chocolate in sheets, and many hard tasks there were unless the cake of chocolate to be used was placed in the oven and warmed enough to run easily. But all that trouble is banished now, for every kitchen is gaining by all the new and easy methods which are constantly being brought forward; but nothing is more welcome to the cook who indulges in fancy dishes than the chocolate powder, which comes so fine and soluble, mixing so easily with milk in custards, or with the egg in frosting.

Beusdorp & Co. offer a Cocoa that is particularly fine for all fancy cooking, as the cocoa strength is so great that small quantities will furnish very rich confections, while the flavor is exquisite, as this is put up without the addition of any foreign substance, thus preserving the extremely delicate aroma so much desired.—Mrs. McBride, in Cottage Hearth.

Something.

A something hovers in the air,
And polices over the naked clouds,
Yet hath no form the eye can see;
But to the deeper, inward sight,
It is a presence sweet and true,
That fills the universe with joy,
And wakes the earth with impulsive awe!

A something in the forest world,
It scarcely may be named a voice,
Yet fettered captives hear its call,
And in their longing heart rejoice—
A subtle whisper in the breeze,
So soft, it seems a spirit's breath,
Yet leafless boughs grow tremulous
With ecstasy at what it saith!

A something rises with the morn,
And lingers with the sun's last ray,
Brings rapture to the silent night,
And luster to the shining day;
With yearning, half of bliss and pain,
It swells my heart, and, wondering,
I ask, What can it be? A bird
Sings at my window, "It is spring!"

The Way Real Estate Goes Up in Creeds.

The other day a Denver man stepped from the train, saw a lot he thought he would like, and asked the owner, who of course just "happened" to be standing near, what he would take for it.

"One thousand dollars," was the reply.

"Well, I'll see you again shortly. I want to look about and get my bearings."

After inquiring the prices of various other lots he concluded to take the first one. He had been gone but an hour, and felt a satisfaction at being able to do a little business so soon after his arrival, and remarked to a companion: "This is a hummer and no mistake."

To the owner he said: "I've concluded to take your lot. Have the papers made out and we'll go up to the bank and get the money."

"The price has gone up since you were here. It is now $1,300," quietly remarked the owner.

"Three hundred dollars an hour!" he gasped, and was carried to the train. The pace was too killing. Such activity in realty and building has rarely been seen, even in Colorado. The buildings in Jimtown have arisen like mushrooms overnight. An absence of a couple of days, and one would rub his eyes to be sure he was awake, so great is the change.—Cor. Denver Sun.

Waterproof Shoes.

Every winter sees a new idea in shoe-making to avoid wet and cold feet. The cork sole has outlived three or four inventions and seems very popular, but the fashionable idea is now to have oil-skin lining between the uppers and the ordinary lining. This effectually keeps out the cold and wet, and by doing away with all ventilation and retaining the perspiration a considerable amount of warmth is acquired. The plan is probably open to certain sanitary objections, and residents in suburban districts far removed from granite or even plank walks, are willing to take a few chances in order to get down town with dry feet.

In Canada they have a simpler and much cheaper way of securing the same result by using a very thick sock made of wood pulp and millboard, which requires an immense amount of water to soak through. It is doubtful whether anything but good rubbers will pass muster from a medical standpoint, but so long as some people have a prejudice against wearing them, every winter will probably see some new invention to take their place.—Interview With a Shoe Dealer.

Spirit Rappings in Good Morse.

At a spiritual seance in a residence in the northern part of Millersburg one night, shortly after the circle was formed under the glare of the gaslight, peculiar rappings were heard on the table as if some telegraph operator were sending a message. The telegraph operator at the railroad office was sent for, and listening to the raps, declared they were made by an expert operator who seemed to know several persons present.

Several messages were sent and received, the telegraphic shade declaring he was not happy because he had not lived right on earth. The spirit then said he wanted to talk to Miss A., whereupon that young lady in the circle promptly fainted and broke the combination, as nothing else was heard from the dissatisfied spirit. It is said the young lady in question had a dear friend, who was an expert operator, who died some years ago.—Correspondent Pittsburg Dispatch.

Good for the Souls.

There is a great revival going on in our midst. Wednesday night the grocery man got up in meeting and said: "Brethren, I'm the man who furnished the orphan asylum with meat at twelve cents a pound when it wasn't worth six cents."

When he sat down another fellow jumped up and said: "Brethren, I want to make a clean breast of it. I'm the man who stole the meat that he furnished to the orphan asylum. Pray for us!"—Atlanta Constitution.

A Maine Man's Misfortune.

A wealthy Maine man who recently got married made over all his property to his wife as a mark of affection for her. Soon afterward she was suddenly taken ill, and before she could make a will, she died. It is now said that all her property will go to her brother, and her husband will get nothing.—Exchange.

Discovery of a Turquoise Mine.

A turquoise mine has been discovered near the town of Ibrahim-Olga, about fifteen miles from Samarcand. This is said to be the third turquoise mine found in Central Asia.—New York Journal.

William Tulliver and Minnie Stackhouse were recently married on horseback in the rain at night at Paoli, Ind. The minister stood on the doorstep. The couple said they were rained out and had too far to go to lose time.

One of the largest camelia plants ever known is now growing in a nursery near Birmingham, England. It quite fills a large greenhouse. Some 2,000 buds have been trimmed from the tree, and it still has 6,000.

A Paris Telephone Company.

In Paris the idea of entertainments by telephone has been so far developed that a company has been formed to provide a theater telephone service. Instruments are placed in clubs, hotels, cafes and restaurants, and various performances are constantly on tap. By dropping a half franc into a slot the vicarious theater goer obtains communication with his favorite playhouse for five minutes, and if he times his connection properly he can hear the song which has become the hit of the season at a very small charge. A private service of a similar nature is also contemplated, and before long it will be quite natural for a host to give a theater party in his own drawing room.

There is always a peculiar fascination for the general public in listening by means of the telephone to entertainments which are given at a distance. One of the most attractive features of electrical exhibitions is always the telephone section, where a number of telephones provide entertainments "on tap" from theaters and concert halls. This was particularly noticeable at the Paris electrical exhibition held some years ago, and at the Lenox lyceum in New York. The telephone section was crowded all the evening with delighted listeners.—Electricity.

The Struggle for Bread in Vienna.

The distribution of bread to the poor of Vienna took place Tuesday between 11 o'clock and noon, in order to make sure that only the unemployed received alms. Though 6,300 large loaves, which had cost 1,200 florins, or £100, were given out, several hundred starving people had to go away empty handed. The scenes witnessed were perhaps the worst that have occurred as yet. It was pitiable in the extreme to see wretchedly clad women, with babies in arms, and children, fighting as for their lives for a loaf of bread, into which, hot as it was from the bakery, they cut like hungry wolves.

Similar scenes were witnessed at the distribution of bread to men. About twenty people fainted in the crush, and those who saw the bitter disappointment of the many who, after waiting for hours, finally received nothing, will never forget the spectacle of human misery and want. Four thousand two hundred loaves were given away yesterday, when the crush was so enormous that a number of poor women, with babies in their arms, and several old men fainted away and required medical attendance.—Vienna Cor. London Standard.

A Big Ferry on Lake Michigan.

A marine experiment of great importance to Milwaukee is announced. The Toledo, Ann Arbor and Northern Michigan railroad is about to build a large ferry steamer to test the feasibility of carrying trains of cars across Lake Michigan from Keweenaw to Frankfort. The new steamer will cost a quarter of a million of dollars, and will be large enough to carry forty freight cars, and she is to be fast enough to make the runs across the lake between the points named in about five hours. The distance is sixty miles.

The ferrying of cars in this manner will result in a great saving, as it costs from six to twelve dollars a car to make the transfer of freight from the cars to the steamers, and besides, the loss through breakage incident to such transfers will be prevented. It is thought the experiment will prove successful, as freight trains have been thus transferred for years between Cape Charles City and Newport News, a distance of forty miles, across the mouth of Chesapeake bay, where the water is sometimes very turbulent.—Milwaukee Wisconsin.

An Imperial Chemist.

Prince Lucien Bonaparte has bequeathed to England his precious collection of mineral and chemical products. This collection contains specimens of the very greatest value on account of their rarity, among these being pieces of gold and platinum which are absolutely pure.

But the gems of the collections are two specimens of those exceedingly rare metals—iridium and germanium. The former, which is worth three times the price of platinum, is as large as a horse chestnut. As to the piece of germanium, although smaller in size, its enormous value will be understood when one reflects that it is worth sixty times its weight in gold.

The whole collection was prepared in the prince's laboratory, he making the most difficult experiments with his own hands, for he was one of the most distinguished chemists of the day. It is interesting to note that his chief and almost his only assistant in his chemical researches was his wife, the princess.—New York Herald.

Two Strange Fish.

Two strange fish were taken in a trawl off the coast of Maine recently. One, the lampris, is the only specimen of the kind ever taken in eastern waters.

In shape it was like a very large sunfish, and its weight was about 300 pounds. Its back was of a beautiful sky blue, the sides were snowy white, and the fins scarlet.

The other fish, the eolar of the Canary islands, is common in warm latitudes, but has never before been taken so far north as in this case.

Both were taken at a depth of 1,000 feet.—Belfast Age.

Forty-eight tons of supplies were hauled from Berlin Falls, N. H., to Danforth's camp, a sportsman's resort at Lake Parmachenee, Me., this season, at an expense of $1,000. The hunters who visit Parmachenee live high, and some of them have a sweet tooth, for 600 pounds of candy disappeared there last year.

There was quite a heavy fall of snow in Mobile Thursday, an event of great rarity and of equally great interest to the inhabitants. It was the first snow in five years and the fifth in seventy years.

NEWTON GRAPHIC HAS BEEN CONSOLIDATED WITH THE BOSTON

CLEANING SIDEWALKS.

The defeat of the ordinance for the cleaning of sidewalks has stirred up quite a breeze in this part of the city, and the matter was vigorously discussed at the Ward Seven Republican caucus, and a vote was unanimously passed requesting the Ward Seven representatives to use their influence to secure the passage of the ordinance. The citizens of Ward Seven are very much in earnest in the matter, and the same sentiment comes to us from other parts of the city.

The people want the sidewalks kept clear of melting ice and snow, and it is a question that affects the personal comfort of every man, woman and child that has occasion to walk over the sidewalks. We are glad to see that the Common Council took up the question and favored such an ordinance. The two representatives from Newton Centre, even, where it was said that the people were fond of wading through slush on their way to the depot and the stores, favoring such an ordinance and thinking it was needed. Councilman Moulton of the Highlands did not know how his people felt, but we think he will find that they are not any fonder of wet feet and sloppy sidewalks than people of Ward Seven.

In fact this is a question that affects more nearly every citizen than does the question of who shall be mayor, or who shall represent a ward. We always have good government here in Newton, no matter what the mayor's name happens to be, and to the average citizen it makes very little difference who holds the position. But his comfort is directly affected in this matter of clean sidewalks, and he has only to make it known that he insists on his rights to get them.

To say that it is impossible to enforce such an ordinance is foolish, as less than a month ago the police caused all the walks to be cleaned by merely serving notice on the delinquent property owners. The walks should be kept in good condition within a reasonable distance of the railroad stations, and it is the business of the city government to see that proper measures are taken to insure their being cleaned. That is what they are sent to City Hall for, and clean walks are just as much of a necessity as good roads or a well kept fire department, or the building of sewers, or any of the other matters which the members of the city government look after without being prodded by their constituents. "The sidewalks must be kept clean would be a good motto for the next city election."

WIDENING WASHINGTON STREET.

There are rumors, which we are sorry to say are not something more, that the city and the Boston & Albany are considering the plan of purchasing jointly the land between Washington street and the railroad, between Newton and the truck house above Newtonville. By clearing off the buildings the railroad could take part of the land and have a gravel embankment with nicely sodded banks, instead of a stone wall, and the city could widen Washington street, which is too narrow now to be safe or convenient for the great amount of travel that daily passes over it.

The cost of such a scheme would not be excessive, as there are few buildings of any great value on this section, and most of them could be sold for a fair sum and moved to another location.

The widening of Washington street will have to come some time, and if the city could divide the expense with the railroad company, it would be a good thing for both parties. To make Washington street a wide thoroughfare between Newton and West Newton would be a great advantage to the city, and the increased valuation of the land on the north side would probably pay a good return on the money invested. Every one who drives through this side of Newton has either to go through Washington street or make a wide detour, and a wide thoroughfare would add greatly to the looks of the city.

It is to be hoped there is something more than mere talk in the scheme, and also that the long-heralded elevation of the railroad tracks will soon materialize in some definite beginning. At present citizens are becoming rather skeptical and are asking whether all the surveys and bonding of land and elaborate plans, are not merely designed to keep people quiet for the time being.

The 11th District Congressional Convention was held Thursday, and Newton's candidate came out ahead, Mr.

Jasper N. Kellar receiving 88 votes to 55 for Mr. Robert Bleakie of Hyde Park. This was a notable victory for the Newton delegates, and some of the credit is due to Mr. W. J. Follett, who is one of the most energetic workers in his party. Mr. Kellar is an enthusiastic Cleveland man, and well qualified to represent this district at Chicago. He is receiving quite as hearty congratulations from his Republican friends in Newton as from his own party, and the honor is one that Newton may well feel complacent over.

The Republican delegates to the 11th District Convention, to elect delegates to the Minneapolis convention, held a conference next Monday, to see if they can decide upon the name of a Newton man to present.

It is to be hoped the delegates will see the folly of any division, and will unite upon some one man.

The Boston Wards will present the name of Mr. Curtis, it is expected that Brookline will present Mr. Chandler, and if Newton is to have any chance of getting the honor, her delegates will have to be unanimous.

REPRESENTATIVE HOWARD made a strong argument before the legislative committee on taxation, against the taxation of foreign corporations. He said very justly that it was very unjust and unfair to tax property twice, and gave an illustration of the law in his own case. He is a cattle owner in Montana, where he pays a tax on all the property he owns; but as personal property the cattle are also taxable in Massachusetts. Such a system of taxation should not be sanctioned by our laws.

CONGRESSMAN LODGE has presented in the House the petition of the merchants of Boston, asking for the repeal of the present silver law, and endorsing Mr. Lodge's bill. Mr. Lodge's action has thrown Congressman Walker into a state of great anxiety, and he thinks it is very wrong to disturb the law, for whose passage he worked so hard.

CONGRESSMAN WILLIAMS writes to one of his constituents in Newton: "That those persons who wish to avail themselves of the privilege of receiving from the U. S. Gov. free, seeds, for official Reports will please send their names and addresses to him at House of Rep., Washington, D. C., and he will send to them direct."

MR. J. R. LEESON of this city and a committee from the Boston Merchants' Association are in Washington, to secure some much needed changes in the administrative tariff law.

NONANTUM is to finally get its hose house, and all parties have agreed upon the smaller sum mentioned, and work will probably begin in a very short time.

Vet ran Firemen. One of the largest attended and most spirited meetings of the Newton Veteran Firemen's Association was held at K. of H. hall, West Newton, last Wednesday evening.

The principal business transacted was in relation to the engine. It was unanimously agreed to have it put in the best condition possible for playing, and that it be painted white and ornamented in gold. The selection of a name brought forth a considerable debate. One claimant favoring a name complimentary to Waterville, Me., where the engine was formerly located, and they presented "Old Three" by which it was formerly best known.

Others considered that inasmuch as this was a Newton organization, that such honors as the Association had to bestow should be given to Newton, and presented the names of "Newton City," "Nonantum," and "Quinoboguin." Waterville won, and "Old Three" it will be called, unless it is changed at the next meeting, which is quite probable as the Newton men are very much displeased, and being intensely Newtonian it is quite possible that the Association will choose one of its best members if Newton instead of Waterville, Me., is not honored in naming the engine.

The engine is now in the paint shop and will come out six weeks hence one of the handsomest in the state. Its working parts are in perfect condition and with it the Association fears no rival.

The Song Sparrow.

Spring time has come for the song sparrow's here. We heard his first notes when the days are clear. He warbles and trills when the snows do blow And gushes his heart with joy all aglow. Oh! the song sparrow's warble we love to hear, It reminds us of days in childhood so dear; When from the old school-house we truant did play And went to the fields and played all day. Now, as we have listened at the breaking of day, To catch his first note and what they do say: "To the pastures and dells I have come with my flock, To sing to the farmer about fields in their glory." Out the song sparrow's warble and bubbling note, That comes from his heart through his fluttering throat; It gives joy to the farmers and lovers that while In the green pastures and o'wens by the style, Out the song sparrow's warble how joyous to hear. A messenger from climes of good cheer! good cheer! In the meadows and alders he carols his song From March 'till October all the day long. W. W.

The world may take the heart of grace and believe that, so far as Boston is concerned at least, the days of the French boot, with its abominably narrow sole and high heel in the middle of the foot, are already numbered. Mr. Samuel Appleton has done a genuine missionary work in this respect, which has brought beauty and comfort to a remarkable degree. He has made a study of the human foot, and has discovered that it was not intended to be tortured out of shape by tight boots which were seemingly made without the slightest regard to anatomical principles, but that in this portion of the human frame, as in every other, nature was to be assisted and not distorted.

Women have been flouted for their vanity, and ridiculed for their mental weakness which has allowed them to wear such absurd boots, but it has not after all been their fault; they have been offered beauty and have tried to get what would produce the best results. But that they do recognize and seek for the very best is shown by the manner in which they have accepted Mr. Appleton's ideas and the enthusiasm with which they have accepted his boots, which are most admirable in plan and very dainty in workmanship.—Boston Courier

A Chilly Affair.

"Mr. Simpkins-Harold," she said, with faltering coyness, while he gave a sudden start of terror as the thought that this is the year 1892 flashed upon him, "I am the bearer of a message from my father. He says that you must come here no longer without stating your intentions. And, Harold, you know this is leap year, and—oh, need I say more?"

"Miss Boggs," replied the young man, recovering his self possession and his hat, "am I to understand that your father charged you to deliver to me an ultimatum?"

"Why, yes, Harold, if you will use those newspaper terms at such a moment."

"Say to him, then," said the young man, "that his representative is persona non grata to me, and that I firmly but respectfully decline to continue diplomatic relations."

In a moment he was gone. But the young girl did not falter. "Persona non grata, am I?" she mused. "That might have done a week or two ago, but it has been shown that when really serious complications have arisen that plea doesn't go. And I just reckon, Harold Simpkins," she continued aloud, as a rosy flush mantled her plump cheek, "that I've got a little batch of diplomatic correspondence which, when read before any court of breach of promise arbitration in the country, will bring me in a good big indemnity too."—Chicago Times.

A Japanese Society.

There are so many English people who have visited Japan or who have fallen in love with it from reading the engravings penned by Sir Edwin Arnold, Mr. Norman and others, that the society which is in course of formation for "the encouragement of the study of Japanese art, science and industries, of the commerce and finance, the social life, the literature, the language, history and folklore of the Japanese," ought to be a success. Certainly the programme does not lack comprehensiveness, for almost any one of the subjects enumerated would be sufficient to keep an ordinary society going.

The organizing council contains several names closely associated with the country, such as Mr. Ernest Satow, Professor W. Anderson and Professor Church, as well as those of leading Japanese residents in England. Very suitably, the headquarters of the society are to be at the Japanese consulates in London, Liverpool and Glasgow, for no people are more anxious to spread a knowledge of Japan abroad than the Japanese government.—London Chronicle.

A Bad Place to Be Ill.

It is one thing to have the grip in town or anywhere on the mainland within reach of a doctor, and another thing to be stricken with the disease on a remote island of the sea. On a Thursday morning recently the inhabitants of Grand Manan, a large, well populated island off the Maine coast, observed a single fire—the sick signal—burning on Three Isles, six miles seaward, but as a gale was blowing and the sea running high nobody could land there. On Sunday evening a physician, accompanied by three sturdy oarsmen in a dory, reached the isles in a blinding snowstorm. Fifteen of the sixteen inhabitants were sick abed, leaving one man barely able to crawl to the headland and keep the signal burning. It was three days before weather moderated sufficiently to allow the relief party to return home, and in that time the sick were relieved.—New York Sun.

Lightning Spared the Pious Pair.

During a heavy rain lightning struck the parsonage of the Methodist Episcopal church, a nice four room cottage, completely demolishing the building with the exception of the east room, in which were sitting the pastor, the Rev. Jerome Haralson, and his wife. That they were not instantly killed everybody pronounces a miracle, for everything in their room all around them was broken in small pieces. A more complete wreck was never seen. There is not a whole nail or piece of timber in the building except in the little room they occupied. Not only the building was wrecked, but the fence around it was torn down. The shock broke a considerable amount of crockery for those living in the neighborhood of the parsonage.—Haskell Cor. Galveston News.

The Dog Didn't Like His Snore.

In hunting for evidence of a dog fight Sunday the officers learned that one Herbert Sprague, a stevedore, had been bitten by a canine. Investigation shows that Sprague went to bed Saturday night with a bull pup. Sprague snored, and this disturbed the dog, so he scratched his owner's face to wake him. Sprague retaliated by cuffing the canine, whereupon the bull fastened his teeth in the man's nose and then shook him, sadly lacerating the member. Sprague finally broke the hold, disabled the dog with a chair and then got a neighbor to shoot him. The nose will recover, but looks bad.—Bangor Cor. Lewiston Journal.

The Congressional Funeral.

On the recent congressional trip to Chicago from Washington, a young man accustomed to hilarity began to weary of the staid decorum of the excursionists and to long for something wild and woolly.

"Great Scott," he finally exclaimed to a veteran member, "this is like a funeral train."

"Is it?" said the congressman, with a significant smile; "well, I guess you don't know much about one of our funeral trains."—Detroit Free Press.

How Banks Treat "Sweated" Coins.

In a recent deposit in the United States treasury in this city by a New York bank of more than $100,000 in gold received from California seven "sweated" coins were found. They were placed on a block and the letter L punched on their face to show that they were light weight and then returned to the bank.—New York Herald.

Drunkennes and Its Cure.

At no time in the world's history have public and private philanthropy been more exerted in behalf of the poor and unfortunate inebriate than at present. Temperance guides and temperance associations are united in their appeal to the American public for the overthrow of the saloon and the cure of the insatiable habit of intoxication. The wholesome effect of their work is shown in the gradual decrease of drunkenness in the home and in society, but it is not sufficient, because it does not offer a cure. Drunkenness is a disease and cured only by the application of a physical remedy. "Boston Drug" is now before the public, having secured the highest medical endorsement as well as the approval of prominent temperance advocates. It is a secret, safe and positive cure for drunkenness, and has secured thousands of earnest and enthusiastic testimonials. For sale by druggists, price one dollar.

—Rev. and Mrs. F. N. Peloubet and family and Miss Kate Plummer, accompanied the Lasell party on their trip to Washington, D. C. The party left town Wednesday in charge of Mr. W. T. Shepherd.

—Lady Somerset, Miss Willard and the latter's secretary, Miss Anna Gordon left the Woodlawn Hotel on Tuesday. Lady Somerset went direct to New York, where she took passage for home, sailing yesterday. Miss Willard and Miss Gordon have gone to Worcester.

—The Merchant's Club dined at the Woodlawn Park Hotel, last evening. After dinner remarks were made by President B. F. Stevens, Messrs. Geo. Alden, F. C. Miles, C. B. Lancaster, Otis E. Weld and others. The music for the occasion was furnished by the Boston Ideal Banjo, Mandolin and Guitar Club.

—The services at the Methodist church last Sunday were of a most interesting nature. The Easter music by the Ample Male Quartet, and a large chorus was all that could be desired, and hearty praise is due Prof. Davis for his excellent rendering. The large audience entirely filled the church. Among those in attendance was to be seen Lady Somerset of England, Miss Francis Willard, Pres. B. F. Stevens, W. C. T. U. and Miss Anna Gordon, Miss Willard's secretary. A very beautiful display of lilies was kindly sent to the church in the morning by Lady Somerset, and the beautiful flowers were greatly admired. It was a pleasure to welcome the pastor again, he having been away several weeks on account of illness. An excellent sermon was delivered, commanding the thoughtful attention of all present. On next Sunday Rev. T. W. Bishop will preach an Easter service and appropriate musical service will also be given. The fact that the Easter recess at Lasell coming as it does, made it desirable to have Easter music for last Sunday; while many of the young ladies may be away, yet excellent music may be expected next Sunday from the Male Quartet.

—Lasell Notes.

The pupils' musical rehearsal of Tuesday evening, April 12, was very fully attended the gymnasium being quite crowded. The performances were unusually pleasing and satisfactory.

—The Easter services, because of the absence of the pupils at Easter, were given on Palm Sunday at the Methodist church in the morning. A party of pupils went to hear Bishop Brooks on Sunday at Newton.

—The cooking class of April 11, had amber soup, scalloped lobsters, sponge drops, lady fingers.

—Principal Bragdon is taking parties of the young women to Boston on successive Mondays, their general holiday, to visit historical points of interest, the old landmarks of the city.

—The Easter vacation began at noon Wednesday the 13th, and lasts one week till the 20th. Only twenty of the pupils remain at the school.

—Mr. Shepherd's party left for Washington Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock by the Fall River Line. The party is above forty in number.

—The Tent Caterpillars.

The prizes offered for the largest collection of the eggs of the tent caterpillars, by the Newton Horticultural Society and the Newton Tent Caterpillar Society, ought to stimulate much interest in the destruction of these pests. These caterpillars have been very common on apple trees throughout the city, and they not only injure the trees, but are a nuisance that many people have cut down their apple trees, as they receive no fruit by the ravages of the pests, and they do not like to have their houses covered with them.

—The eggs can be collected now, with but little trouble, but the approach of warm weather makes the time very short in which the eggs can be secured. A little work now would save a great deal of trouble by and by, and the prizes are enough in number, and of amounts large enough to attract the boys of the city to active work to secure one of them. Almost any small orchard would furnish an active boy with nests enough to secure one prize.

—ARMY AND NAVY SUPPLIES.

THE GOVERNMENT BUYING ROYAL BAKING POWDER.

New York Tribune.

Large purchases of baking powder have recently been made by the United States Government. In one lot 80,000 lbs. were bought of the Royal Baking Powder Company.

During the last year, including the contract just made under date of March 5, the Royal Baking Powder Company has supplied over 212,000 pounds, or 106 tons, of baking powder for the United States Government and its Army and Navy officers.

For many years the Government has given its orders for Royal Baking Powder in preference to all others, it being found that this is the only Baking Powder that will keep its strength in the various climates to which it is sent by the Department.

Whenever the Government wants the most trustworthy article and the best in quality it prefers the Royal, as this brand was found to be superior to all others in leavening power by the official chemical tests, made at the instance of the Government, in the Agricultural Department, at Washington.

—The hearing before the board of aldermen next Monday evening on granting the Newton & Boston street railway the right to run their cars to Upper Falls from the Highlands, will call out a large delegation from here in favor of the scheme. Bargains have been engaged and a large number talk of attending the hearing. They will probably have someone to represent them, and it is hoped the benefit the road will be to Upper Falls will be realized and the location be granted. From one source alone the road would reap a harvest of nickles in the thousands of visitors who visit Echo Bridge during the warm season, and the electric road would furnish added facilities for reaching it. Business men and others who visit the north side of the city would eschew the B. & A. road almost wholly on account of the high fares, and the road would tend greatly to develop Eliot and the land lying between here and the Falls. Everyone here is extremely anxious to have the electric road put through.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.

TREMONT THEATRE.—Mr. Edward S. Willard, the eminent English actor, returns to the Tremont Theatre next Monday evening for a short engagement supported by an excellent company under the management of Mr. A. M. Palmer. He will present Henry Arthur Jones' remarkable plays, "The Middleman" and "Judah" beside other pieces in which he has not been seen in Boston. Mr. L. Clarke Davis, managing editor of the Philadelphia Ledger says, "Mr. Willard, if not the greatest of English actors, is the most original and stands among the most eminent men of his profession. Play-goers who delight to see a good play well played in all its parts, and nobly played in the principal one, should not deem it an unwelcome privilege to see "The Middleman" and "Mr. Willard as Cyrus Bleanrath. The vigor, beauty and tenderness of this impersonation, the fine thought and feeling of the actor's conception and execution of it, are beyond all ordinary expression of admiration or praise."
HOLIS STREET THEATRE.—"Miss Helvett," to be performed at the Holis Street Theatre on Monday, is an entertainment peculiarly in harmony with the glad spirit of Easter-tide. To the multitude who welcome light comedy or comic opera as their favorite diversion, the production of "Miss Helvett" will be very attractive. Both forms of entertainment are combined in this merry operatic comedy. There is airy and catchy music by Edmond Audran, the most famous and popular of the composers of gay melodies; a wise and witty libretto; bright and picturesque costumes; sprightly dances performed with vivacity and accuracy; a chorus of the prettiest girls; clever actors and singers. All these go to account for the wonderful popularity achieved by "Miss Helvett." Beyond all this is the potent charm of novelty. "Miss Helvett" has been immensely successful all over Europe. It is now in its second year in Paris and its eleventh month in London, and continues for at least a twelvemonth to come in each city. It has also been sung and acted with great success in Germany, Belgium, and Russia.
COLUMBIA THEATRE.—"Gloriana," the most successful comedy which Charles Frohman has produced in New York this season, will succeed "Jane" at the Columbia Theatre on Monday evening next, April 18. The latter production has been tremendous. He will send with "Gloriana" the complete original company which will be found the strongest band of comedians which he has yet presented in Boston. "Gloriana" will be preceded each evening by Mr. Clyde Fitch's advice, "The Great Fredrick Lemaitre," in which Mr. Henry Miller and Miss Netta Guion will appear. The opening performance of "Gloriana," will assume the nature of a complimentary testimonial to Mr. Henry Harris, the popular treasurer of the Columbia Theatre, who, judging from the large demand for seats, will be greeted with a large and fashionable audience. Mr. Louis Burckhardt, superintendent of advertising, benefits on Sunday evening for which event a fine program has been prepared.
BOWDOIN SQUARE THEATRE.—"Natural Gas," that merry melange of music, song and wit, is to be the Bowdoin Square Theatre attraction next week. "Natural Gas" presents besides Donnelly and Gifford, with their usual cleverness and flow of fun, one of the strongest farce comedy companies, in numerous original and catching songs and some graceful and picturesque dancing, headed by May Howard, the favorite burlesque star. "Natural Gas" was never brighter than now. It is a positive cure for the thin and for the fat, and it makes a poor man think he is rich, and a rich man that he is richer. The first presentation of grand opera, in English, at the Bowdoin, takes place on May 23, when the handsome young dramatic soprano prima donna, Miss Lillian Durell, will make her Boston debut at the head of one of the strongest operatic organizations of the day in Thomas' favorite "Mignon." Cock Fight in Newton.
A cock fight took place on Fast Day within the borders of the "Garden City" and the participants enjoyed the main to the finish, without being unpleasantly molested.
The fight took place in the morning about a hundred miles from City Hall, West Newton, and five game cocks all from Newtonville and "Cork City" were armed with the regulation 1 1/4 in. guffs and matched against each other.
The birds were Black Reds, Piles and Muffs, and all were in excellent condition, making the main an interesting one from start to finish.
Some of the birds were given the tip were deterred from attending, but about a dozen were present to witness the fight and these included some well known business men.
Betting ran high and about $100 changed hands after the main.
The birds were the successful game cocks, and the Piles and Black Reds were downed after a lively contest.

For Scrofula

"After suffering for about twenty-five years from scrofulous sores on the legs and arms, trying various medical courses and for the last two years, whenever I felt the effects of the disease, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and a wonderful cure was the result. Five bottles sufficed to restore me to health."—Bonifacio Lopez, 327 E. Commerce St., San Antonio, Texas.

Catarrh

"My daughter was afflicted for nearly a year with catarrh. The physicians being unable to help her, my pastor recommended Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I followed the directions, and after a few days' treatment with Ayer's Sarsaparilla and Ayer's Pills completely restored my daughter's health."—Mrs. Louise Kelle, Little Canada, Ware, Mass.

Rheumatism

"For several years, I was troubled with inflammatory rheumatism, being so bad at times as to be entirely helpless. For the last two years, whenever I felt the effects of the disease, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and have not had a spell for a long time."—E. T. Hainsbrough, Elk Run, Va.

For all blood diseases, the best remedy is

AYER'S Sarsaparilla.
Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists. Beware of cheap imitations. Cures others, will cure you.

Society in Creeds.

That there is a strong and distinct social caste in Creeds, despite the practical democratic conviction of the masses in their business intercourse, was luminously exemplified by an event of no inconsiderable proportions at the Brainerd & Bebe hotel on the evening of Feb. 23. It was the initial hop given by the fire company in commemoration of Washington's birthday. Tickets of admission were issued, and the closest vigilance was kept on those to whom tickets were given, lest some improper characters would gain admission to the dancing hall, which was the hotel dining room. There were present fifty-three ladies and about four times as many men. All the ladies were dressed in handsome ball costumes, and the decollete gown was there in force. The men—or a great many of them—wore the conventional swallow tail broadcloth.
The programme contained all the latest fashionable dances, round and square, and they were executed with an ease and grace that would do credit to St. Louis. A fine Italian orchestra furnished the music and the hotel people gave a spread that was a marvel of completeness. The cards were handsomely embossed, and premiums are being offered for them by people who were not there, to treasure them as souvenirs of the first ball in Creeds.—Cor. St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Fought Under Custer.

A very happy family reunion occurred six miles west of Muncie a few days since at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Russell.
For over thirty years a member of the family has been mourned as dead, but Wednesday he made a happy surprise to his old parents and friends with his presence. Ernest, the oldest son, a lad of sixteen, ran away from home in 1859, going to Minnesota, where he remained until 1862, when he enlisted in the civil war and remained until the close, when he joined the regular army under command of that gallant general, Custer. Nothing was ever heard of the young man until his name was by mistake placed in the list of killed in the great massacre at Little Big Horn.
The young man was severely injured in the fight, but recovered and lives to once more enter his home, where he will remain. Ernest well remembers the famous Indian fight, and relates the horrible spectacle he witnessed in a manner that chills a person's blood.—Cor. Indianapolis Sentinel.

Sunday is the Proper Word.

At the town meeting in Sharon the much discussed question whether Sunday or Sabbath was the proper term to use was decided and the matter is no longer in doubt. A motion that the constable be authorized to enforce the laws against hunting and fishing on the Sabbath was made, and an amendment was made that the word Sunday should be substituted for Sabbath. This caused a heated discussion of nearly an hour, in which many took part. The amendment was carried by a small majority and the word Sabbath was changed to Sunday, and the motion as amended was carried.—Boston Journal.

Damages for Grief.

A new cause has arisen for a lawsuit. A woman in France was notified by the authorities of a lunatic asylum of her brother's death. She went to the funeral and ordered a handsome tombstone. Her mother was so grieved at her son's death that the plaintiff had to give up her situation to take care of her. Then she learned that the directors of the asylum had made a mistake, and that her brother was alive. After unsuccessful efforts for compensation she has gone to the court, claiming heavy damages for grief and injury.—New York Sun.

An Indignant Burglar.

On a recent morning about 3 o'clock a burglar visited Johnston's drug store, corner of Tenth and O streets, and instead of entering through the regularly provided doorway after ringing the night bell, he climbed over the transom and was about to help himself, when his noise aroused the clerk, who threw his boot at the intruder. "You've got a cheek to throw your boot at me," was the remark of the burglar, who said "Good night" and departed.—Washington Star.

A Big Job Ahead.

A bureau of press clippings in London has received the royal "command" to furnish twenty distinct sets of newspaper cuttings from every periodical in the world, so far as obtainable referring to the death of Prince Albert Victor. The sets are to be pasted each in a separate album. The practice directed to American clippings should make a very edifying collection, if the bureau is faithful in obeying the command.—New York Sun.

Onto the Bold Counterfeiter.

A letter addressed to Secretary Foster, and dated at Garrett, Ind., has just been received, in which the writer states that "there is a man in this part of the country who is manufacturing counterfeit money" that "he has a machine to print bills, from ones up to twenties, and they look perfect." The writer goes on to say that he will locate the man if it is to his interest.—Washington Cor. Indianapolis Journal.

The Mennonite German colony in Irving Lane county, Or., received an addition of twenty members in one family which arrived there a few weeks ago—mother and father, of middle age, and eighteen robust children. They came from Marion, S. D.

One of the horses belonging to the New York fire department got loose the other night and ascended the stairs to the second floor, and nearly frightened the driver into spasms by playfully poking his cold nose into the latter's face while asleep.

A citizen of Hume, Mo., traded horses with a friend, and was so delighted with his bargain that he led the animal into the house twice for his wife's inspection.

"His Wife's Mother (in terrible flutter). 'Oh, dear! Oh, my! That heavy Louis XIV. clock up stairs just fell off the wall with a terrible crash on the very spot I stood at a moment before.'"

"I want to take the next train to Toledo," said a lady to the ticket young man at the Michigan Central station.
"You can't do it, madam," he replied, with a subtle smile.
"Why not?" she asked, in quick surprise.
"Because, madam," and the young man looked solemn, "we have an engine and conductor to do that, and we don't feel disposed to fill their places with an entire stranger."—Detroit Free Press.

The Good Derived from HOOD'S Sarsaparilla
All Run Down With Dyspepsia

The peculiar combination of stomach tonics and alterative remedies in Hood's Sarsaparilla cannot be equalled, and this superiority explains the wonderful success of This Great Medicine
in cases of Dyspepsia, Indigestion and similar troubles. Mr. T. A. Wheelock, a well known citizen of Burlington, Vt., writes:

"Six months ago I was badly run down and unable to attend to business. The principal trouble seemed to be due to indigestion and aggravated dyspepsia. I had no appetite, and what I did eat distressed me. Added to this was a nervous disturbance. Physicians that I employed failed to reach my case. I grew worse, lost sleep and almost hope. One day I ran across a testimonial for Hood's Sarsaparilla stating what it had done in what seemed to be a case similar to mine. I got a bottle and in three or four days saw that I felt better. Before I had finished the first bottle, was greatly improved. Rested better, felt better, and knew I was

Better All Over
I continued with the medicine, and have taken two bottles and now feel better than at any time for the past five years. Feel as hearty as when a boy. Have regained my flesh, have good appetite, can sleep well, and my nerves are in excellent condition. I would not value a thousand dollars for what it did for me." T. A. WHEELLOCK, Burlington, Vt.

Fully Indorsed
"We have sold Mr. T. A. Wheelock several bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and have heard him tell in high terms of commendation what it has done for him. I know that he has recommended to many others here. Our customers generally speak well of it." F. L. TAFT & Co., Pharmacists, Burlington, Vt.
Hood's Sarsaparilla

Little business was transacted except to instruct the committee on some affairs. The meeting adjourned till to-morrow night, when all who desire to be members of the club this year should be present.

—The Easter morning services at Grace church attracted almost as large a congregation as that on the previous Sunday. The Easter decorations were very beautiful, and flowers filled all the windows, and flowers and palms were massed about the chancel. The music was of the usual high order, and the choir numbers some sixty voices. The effect of faithful rehearsals was seen in the perfect manner in which the choruses were rendered. Sunday evening the church was again completely filled. A very interesting carol service was given by the Sunday school in the afternoon.

—Nonantum is soon to have a new engine house and police station. There will be a tramp lodging-room, 25 by 12 feet, three cells for prisoners and an office for the policeman. The building will cost $10,800.

—The Easter services in the Church of Our Lady were of an impressive character. At the morning services Mozart's First Mass was rendered by the choir of 40 voices, and at the offertory a solo was sung by Dr. T. F. Carroll who also rendered a solo at the Vesper services in the evening. The musical program for the Vespers included, Psalms, Gregorian Magnificat, Mozart's "O Salutaris," "Tantum Ergo," Rossi; and the "Festival March" by Wallis. The choir was assisted by Mrs. Clara Butt of Newtonville and Mr. Albert Allison. The floral decorations were appropriate and tasteful in arrangement.

The financial report showed that the receipts and expenditures for the year exceeded $10,000. The Easter offering amounted to $2450, completely canceling all indebtedness. Nearly every seat in the church is taken and all departments of the work are reported as being prosperous. Among the recent gifts is an enlargement of the organ at the expense of a vestryman.

—The directors of The Waban Racquet Club have just completed their preparations for play during the coming season. The grounds on Boyd street have been well cared for and new wire back nets almost enclose the field. The club will have three double and one single court laid out for this year, although there is room enough for two more courts if necessary. Members of this club will be called upon to represent it in the Inter-Club Tennis League, which the Waban Racquet Club has just succeeded in organizing, and some fine tennis will undoubtedly be had on their courts. Mr. J. C. Brimblecom has been elected a member of the executive committee of the league and will represent this club.

—The last meeting of the Hillside club for the season was held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Barrows, corner of Waverly Avenue and Washington street, Monday evening. The special feature of the season was a mock auction, which was very amusing. Each member brought a package carefully wrapped up, and each was furnished with a bag of beans, supposed to represent one dollar each with which to make purchases. A red flag floated in the front hall and Mr. F. A. Wetherbee and Mr. Howard B. Coffin were the auctioneers, and conducted the sale from the top of a dry goods box in the parlor. Some of the bidding was very exciting when the parcels looked unusually attractive. After the auction there was a brief musical program.

—The Easter Choral service at Eliot church last Sunday evening was a very interesting one, and attracted such a large congregation that every seat was filled. Chant were placed in the aisles, wherever possible, and as many as could find standing room stood up in the side aisles and in the rear of the Church. The program consisted of organ music with harp obligato, anthem by the choir which was augmented by a number of extra voices, scripture readings by the pastor, and responses, a selection for violin, harp and organ, a solo by Mr. Ivan Moravski, a duet by Mr. Hildbrand and Mr. Dunham, and hymns by Mr. Marsh and Mr. Dunham, and hymns by the choir and congregation; it was a very interesting service and the congregation was probably the largest that ever gathered in a Newton church on a Sunday evening.

—Next Sunday evening Eliot church will begin the new order of services to be continued regularly every Sunday evening. They will be services of worship, restricted as near as may be to one hour. On the first Sunday of every month the whole time will be occupied by the musical selections and other devotional exercises. On all Sundays, a brief address will be given in addition to the services of praise and prayer by the choir and congregation. The following are the musical selections for next Sunday, April 24:—

Organ Postlude, The Posteral Symphony. "My Shepherd is the living God." Chorus and Bass Solo, Eugene Thayer. Chorus and Alto Solo, Eugene Thayer. Alto Solo from the Messiah, Handel. "He shall lead his flock." Quartette and Tenor Solo, Henry Smart. Duett, The Lord is my Shepherd, Lemmings. Organ Postlude, Chorus of Shepherds.

A New Ice Company. The Garden City Ice Company has begun business in Newton this week, with an office in Brackett's block, 419 Centre street. The company is composed of Messrs. W. W. Russell, Jr., who will manage the Newton business, and F. T. Russell, who has charge of the ice houses of the company at North Grafton on the shores of Lake Quinsigamond.

The new company has come to stay and are possessed of abundant capital, and they also have had a great deal of experience in the business. They send ice from these extensive ice houses to Providence and New Bedford. Their father is one of the largest wholesale ice dealers in Boston, and is very favorably known by many Newton men.

So many regular customers have already been secured that three ice wagons will be put on next Monday and more will be put on as needed.

The company promise only the purest ice for their Newton patrons, and the source of supply is a guarantee of that. See special announcement in another column.

The May Party under the management of Prof. Munroe and a number of prominent Newton Ladies to be given in the City Hall, West Newton on Saturday afternoon, April 30, promises to be a great success.

Miss L. Munroe will give an exhibition of Fancy Dancing in Costume and other attractions. 28.3 t.

ELIOT. —Mr. F. W. Johnson and others have petitioned the aldermen for a fire alarm box to be located at Eliot. It is a necessity and the city fathers will doubtless realize the importance of providing proper facilities in case of fire. Now why not see about this matter and thus secure convenience for posting mail matter.

Y. M. C. A.

Sunday's four o'clock Men's Meeting in Y. M. C. A. Hall will be addressed by Mr. Wm. F. Bacon, the orchestra assisting with the music.

The last entertainment in the Junior Department course—the one which was postponed from April 1st—will be given in Y. M. C. A. Hall this Friday, afternoon at 4.30.

Use of a suitable field for that purpose having been secured, the members of the Y. M. C. A. Junior Department have had glorious times playing ball during the past two weeks of pleasant weather.

An average of about thirty are to be found on the grounds nearly every day. The Department now has fifty-five members.

An open plot of ground large enough for a tennis court, running track, horizontal and parallel bars and other out-door sports have been hired in the rear of the Y. M. C. A. rooms, and will be improved at once for the use of members.

The Young Men's Christian Association, with characteristic enterprise, has secured, for presentation in Newton, the most interesting and fascinating entertainment of the day; something really new, and never before given east of Chicago, and which, with the promised aid of lady friends, it expects to make the event of the season.

Prof. John W. Sherman of San Francisco, the inventor and patentee of "Phantasma," has consented to give four entertainments, assisted by some of our society people, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A.

The dates are expected to be Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings, with Saturday Matinee, of the second week in May.

"Phantasma" is that inexplicable system of dissolving tableaux (composed of real living persons), from one scene and set of persons into another and then another, in rapid succession, without motion by the participants in full view of the audience, the great surprise of the audience.

It was invented and patented by Prof. Sherman, and has been given in San Francisco, Denver, and Chicago to immense audiences, and under the management of some of the strongest societies and most prominent society people of the west.

Prof. Sherman expects to spend the next season in the large cities of the East, and as his Newton engagement will be an introduction to New England an unusually attractive presentation is anticipated.

Bigelow-Talman. At the Church of the Heavenly Rest, New York, at noon Monday, Miss Helen Talman, daughter of Mrs. George H. Talman, was married to Mr. Ernest A. Bigelow, son of Mr. Alanson Bigelow of Chestnut Hill, Mass. Rev. Dr. Parker Morgan officiated at the ceremony.

The maid of honor was Miss Grace Murray of Brooklyn, a cousin of the bride. She wore a becoming costume of yellow bengaline, made with the short waist, long full skirt and puff sleeves of the Empire style. It was trimmed with yellow ribbons, crossed in front and finished with bows and long streamers between the shoulders. She wore a large leghorn hat, trimmed with yellow feathers and yellow crepe, and carried a reticule made of the same material as that of her dress, filled with daffodils. The bridesmaids were Miss Tainter, Miss Phillips of New York and Misses Winslow and Gorham of Buffalo.

The groom's little sister, Miss Dorothy Bigelow, made a charming picture as a little flower girl. She preceded the bride, and was dressed exactly as the bridesmaids were in yellow bengaline, made in the empire style, and finished with lilac chiffon and ribbons with a large hat trimmed with lilac feathers and lilac crepe, and she carried a yellow bag filled with lilacs.

The bride, a charming brunette, was attired in a handsome white satin dress, trimmed with Venetian point lace. A ruffle of the lace finished the bottom of the skirt in front, and trimmed the basque in a full bounce between the shoulders, being brought over with the effect of revers in front to a girdle of satin at the waist line.

She wore the regulation tulle veil and carried a bouquet of white orchids and orange blossoms and wore the groom's gift, a pendant of pearls and diamonds.

The best man was Mr. Homer Bigelow. The ushers were Mr. Charles Wright, Mr. Albert LaMontagne, Mr. A. Lawrence Phillips, Mr. J. Dixon, Roman Baldwin of New York, Mr. Harry Townsend Davis of Buffalo, and Mr. Benjamin Prince.

Mrs. Talman, the bride's mother, was attired in a handsome costume of lilac brocade, trimmed with black lace, and completed with a dainty bonnet of black lace and gold.

A bridal breakfast, served at the home of the bride's mother, was attended only by the bridal party. The house was prettily decorated with Easter flowers.

After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Bigelow will go abroad and pass the summer months in Switzerland.

NEWTON TARIFF REFORM CLUB.

The Tariff is a Tax.

Every person interested in the subject of the Tariff is cordially invited to take part in the discussion carried on in this column. Respected consideration will be given to inquiries, criticisms, and communications of every kind whether coming from tariff reformers, free traders or high protectionists. Address Secretary of the Tariff Reform Club, Newton Centre, Mass.

The Price of Sugar.

Over and above every plausible plea which the Sugar Trust puts forth to avert the storm of public condemnation now gathering, says the Boston Post, there stands the one fact which cannot be denied—the price of refined sugar in lots under 100 barrels has been raised one-half cent per pound.

What does this advance mean? If the Sugar Trust makes and sells as much sugar this year as it made and sold last year, it means that the people of the United States will be taxed $19,000,000 to add to the profits of this monopoly.

It is useless to try to belound the issue which this fact presents. In trying to do this, the trust only discredits itself. If, as now stated, the trust was selling granulated sugar at a loss when the price was 4 cents a pound, it was only for the purpose of squeezing its competitors and forcing the surrender which enabled the trust to make itself the absolute master of the business in this country, with power to advance the price as it promptly did.

But it is by no means clear that either the Sugar Trust or Spreckels ever sold an ounce of sugar at a loss in their lives. They were too closely allied, as the recent deal proves, to cut throats in that way. When you find monopolists selling their product at a loss, you will discover some white blackbirds.

It is also urged in defence of the combination, which levies this increased tax upon the poor man's sugar bowl, that its methods are in the interest of economy and low prices. The saving in salaries and cost of production effected by the combination, it is averred by one defender, will pay a dividend on the stock.

But if the trust earns a dividend in this way by saving it, why does it advance the price to the people? How many dividends does the monopoly save? This is the same plea that was urged by the anthracite coal monopoly. It is the same which is used in justification of every one of the combinations and trusts which have sprung up under the fostering care of the Republican tariff.

And the only way in which relief can be obtained is to take from these oppressive monopolies the support of the "protection" which the McKinley act gives them. Make refined sugar free, as raw sugar is now free, of the McKinley tariff tax, and the people would be freed from tribute to the Sugar Trust.

The trust cannot object to this. Mr. Havemeyer himself, before the committee of the last Congress on this subject, asked if his company would be able to compete in the market if there was entire free trade in sugar. "We would beat the English refiners," he replied; "we can refine sugar cheaper here than they can in England."

This ought to settle the question. The advance in the price of sugar is an unnecessary tax on the sugar bowls of the people.

No sophistry can obscure that fact.

Why Ames was not Chosen.

The only other man in the case is Oliver Ames. Nowhere is there any idea that he will cut any figure at all before the convention, said the Sunday Springfield Republican. Jerry McCarthy is said to be working for him, and the remark is added in compliment to the sagacity of the practical politician from the navy-yard ward. "Jerry don't work for a winded horse." But he may push his horse up to a pretty good bait for the sake of drawing on his purse-strings, while the only proof Ames will get that he was in the race will be from seeing all the other candidates go by him. It is a fact, I suppose, that the state committee have sat on Ames' case and concluded their sitting by using him for their cushion, if reports are correct. The fact is, he does not want any of his kind of republicanism. He would throw terror into the party. He would breed dissension among the reverent and unquestioning disciples of McKinley, and no man is wanted to go to Minneapolis who inquires whether there is really any sawdust inside of their idol. As long as the convention is going to endorse the McKinley act, with its murderous policy toward New England manufacturers, it would be glaringly inconsistent to nominate an iron manufacturer who objected. What is wanted are men who will worship the car of Juggernaut as it rolls over them. If any man objects to being rolled over, let him get into the desert and perish, or, if irreverent and disobedient spirits congregate.

Obvious Absurdities.

There are some positions too absurd for continued arguments, or, in fact, for any argument. One of them, says the Boston Herald, is that the imposing of a tax upon an article does not make the price of an article higher than it would be if the tax was not levied. We have not, therefore, undertaken to argue that point, nor shall we do so. The statement of the case is amply sufficient. It is, perhaps, a shade more silly to contend that the imposing of a tax reduces the price of an article, but it is only a matter of degree in insanity. The same may be said of contentions that those interested in the manufacture of goods desire taxes to be put upon rival productions in order that they may be able to sell their own productions cheaper. It is all unworthy the consideration of men endowed with reason, and an insult to those whom it is assumed will be influenced by it.

THE AMERICAN ECONOMIST has started again its campaign story of "all wool" goods at marvellously low prices. This time it is "all wool" undershirt at 69 cents, and made of "soft clean wool." Let any of our readers should immediately start out in search of bargains in underwear, it should be added that this shirt is called the poor man's shirt, and probably none of our readers would wear it if it was sold at 10 cents. Ordinary "all wool" underwear remains at the same high-tariff prices.

My Head was Fairly Rotten.

And how much I suffered it is hard to describe. That loathsome disease, catarrh, caused the above, and they could not relieve me. I paid hundreds of dollars, for which I received no benefit. I got more good from two bottles of Sulphur Bitters than from all the money I paid to doctors. I shall continue the Sulphur Bitters, as I have great faith that they will cure me.—S. M. Day, 41 Hanover street, Boston.

RESOLUTIONS

ON THE DEATH OF MRS. SARAH J. PARKER.

Some one has given to us the expressive phrase "an all-round Christian." Could anything be found to better describe the character of our dear Mrs. Parker?

In thinking over the life of a friend it is usually easy to find a few striking virtues which stand out in decided prominence, but in hers, there was such a symmetrical development of all, it is hard to select any marked ones.

Those of us who have served with her upon social and charitable committees found her always ready with helpful suggestion and hearty co-operation. Her interest in the Guild dated from its formation and continued unabated to the close of her life, one of the last public gatherings she attended being the meeting on that rainy afternoon in November, when Mrs. Lyon told us of the "Birds of Newtonville." She served as long as other duties would permit on the Charitable Committee of the Guild, and was for some years its chairman. A poor man once said of her, "I should love to have that Guild lady come to see me, if she did not bring me a thing."

Those who knew her as president of our missionary society will ever remember the gentle dignity with which she presided and her glowing enthusiasm which kindled a responsive zeal in our hearts. Those who have been to her with appeals for charity know how spontaneously her purse seemed to open and how one left her feeling it was really a privilege to be a solicitor.

But best of all it was to know her in her beautiful home-life, that home where the two sisters dispensed such unbounded hospitality! With what untiring devotion she gave herself to aid the failing strength of Mrs. Grant in her declining years, and when the parting came how bravely she took up the trying duties that fell to her lot.

How cheerfully she greeted her friends, keeping self ever in the background, and how few suspected when she said, "am well, only so tired," she carried in her heart the knowledge that this weariness must be borne while life should last. If there was one trait more conspicuous than another in her well-rounded character it surely was that one so rare in humankind, unselfishness.

It was not ours to know her in her early years, but we do know that whatever of sorrow or trial they may have brought to her, the outcome was a noble life, the key-note of which is found in her favorite hymn.

"Take my life, and let it be Consecrated, Lord, to Thee."
MRS. M. K. STILES,
MRS. MARY R. MARTIN,
Committee of Newtonville Woman's Guild.

ON THE DEATH OF MRS. A. W. GRANT.

Near the close of our last year a valued member of our Guild was taken from us. Mrs. A. W. Grant was among the first to give encouragement and approval at the time our Society was formed, and was one of its first members. She was also among the earliest, if not the first, each year, to bring her offering for our charitable work, and it was given with hearty good will, for she welcomed every opportunity for ministering to the wants of others.

The character of Mrs. Grant was in many ways a rare one. Those who knew her only slightly could not have little idea of the strength and unflinching energy of her Christian character, or of the constant outflow of her ever active benevolence.

There are few persons of whom it can be so truly said that every charitable appeal met a ready as well as liberal response. Some of us know that to the day of her death, she sought opportunities for helping others to the very limit of her means.

Nor shall we soon forget her generous hospitality. A house more open or a welcome to friends more warm it would indeed be hard to find; and it could always be counted on.

Those who knew her best will long feel the influence of her genial pervading personality.

We shall long miss the warm grasp of her hand and the bright smile, and the quick sympathetic word, which made each of us feel that we were the objects of her special interest.

This was peculiarly true of those who served her. No matter how slight the service, she gave to each the feeling of personal interest and sympathy, which won their hearts; and again and again they have been heard to say, one to another, "how we shall miss her."

We cannot help wishing that such lives might be longer spared to us, and with the sense of loss strong upon us, we find it hard to fathom the wisdom that thus deals with us, though we know it is infinite and unerring.

Yet we must be grateful that her useful life was spared to us so long, and that we have it still for our example and inspiration, for though "she rests from her labors her works do follow her."
A. G. DICKINSON,
M. R. MARTIN.

VAN BIBBER AND OTHERS, by Richard Harding Davis, New York, Harper & Brothers.

Van Bibber has become a great favorite with magazine readers, and the author has collected some recently published stories and several new ones in this volume. "Her First Appearance" begins the book, and it was such a charming story, that many will be glad to have it in a permanent form, and renew their acquaintance with the little heroine, whose story is such a pathetic one, but whose future opens so satisfactorily when Van Bibber and author leave her. It is one of the best of the author's short stories, which is saying a good deal, to those who remember "Gallegher," which appeared in an earlier volume. That famous news gatherer appears incidentally in one of the saddest stories in the present volume and shows his usual precocity. The other stories, a dozen or more in number, are very entertaining, for Mr. Davis does not seem able to be dull under any circumstances. Unlike most writers he leaves a considerable part of the reader's imagination, and the subsequent fate of the actors occasions almost as much speculation and interest as the famous Lady and the Tiger story.

EVERYBODY'S POCKET CYCLOPEDIA, of Things worth knowing, but difficult to remember, and tables of reference, Harper & Brothers publishers.

This little volume is a perfect mine of knowledge of all sorts, giving the dates of important historical events, which so many can never remember, the list of Presidents of the United States, Kings and Queens of England and other countries, living celebrities, greatest men of the world, important inventions and their dates, railroad mileage, great cities and their population, religious statistics, memory rhymes, hints on etiquette, receipts for housekeepers, food for poultry, how to read the gas meter, and in fact, about everything that one wishes to know. It would be invaluable for the friends and parents of children with an investigating turn of mind, whose questions are such puzzles, and a man with this little book at hand might easily pass for a very great scholar. It is almost small enough to be carried in the vest pocket, and an extensive index in the back makes all its information available.

The longest bridge in the world is the Lion bridge near Sangang, in China. It extends 5 1/4 miles over an area of the Yellow sea and is supported by 300 stone arches. The roadway is 70 feet above the water and is enclosed in an iron network. A marble lion 21 feet long rests on the crown of every pillar. The bridge was built at the command of the Emperor Kien-Long, who abdicated in 1796 on account of old age.

For three weeks I was suffering from a severe cold in my head, accompanied by a pain in the temples. Ely's Cream Balm was recommended to me. After only six applications of the Balm every trace of my ailment was removed.—Henry C. Clark, New York appraiser's Office.

Don't try to be too economical when you buy paint.—The saving of three or four dollars in the cost of your paint is generally false economy. Your dealer in paint tells you it will take so many gallons to paint your house. Then comes in your economy. You hear of a paint that is 25 cents less per gallon than the Chilton Paint. You know that the Chilton brand is a standard paint, made from the best materials. Now why don't the Chilton Manuf. Co. sell it for 25 cents less per gallon? They can't afford it, and you can't afford to save that 25 cents.

The best paint is the cheapest in the end. Boston or New York.

Sunday Street Car Travel.

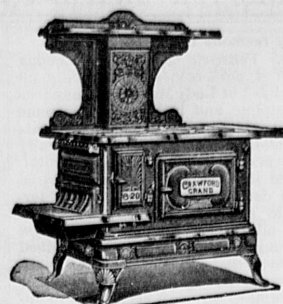

The Newton Street Railway Company have on several occasions been taxed to their utmost to handle a big crowd, but the one that presented itself at the Newton terminus of the line at 9 p. m. on Easter Sunday, was such as is rarely seen.

Superintendent Henderson took down a special motor to which was attached two tows, which with the regular cars were thought to be ample to properly accommodate all that wished to ride, but after these cars were overloaded, something like one hundred persons were obliged to wait for later cars, or walk.

Every closed car the company owns was in service and it was unfortunate that the weather was not warmer, which would have permitted the use of open cars, whose capacity is greater. The attractive services of the Newton churches draw many from the upper wards, especially on Sunday evenings, and although the Street Railway Company always run special cars to take them down, the larger portion go down in the steam cars, but look to the street railway to take them home.

This makes it almost impossible for the superintendent to calculate on how many cars are likely to use the street cars at the close of the services, and the only way to provide what is considered a proper number of cars, is in the hope that they will take care of those that wish to ride. The Sunday night business is one that the Street Railway Company desire to cater to and encourage and will endeavor to furnish cars enough, so that all that wish to use them, can do so.

STREET WIDENING.

The example set by Brookline and the splendid results that follow it is evidently having its influence upon Newton, for two schemes for street widening were presented to the board of aldermen, Monday evening. One was a petition for the widening of Tremont street to a width of 70 feet, which could easily be done, as there are few buildings of any importance upon the street, and most of the land is now held at a very moderate price. The street is the great thoroughfare between Newton and Boston, and gets most of the travel between Boston and Newton, and points farther up the road. In fact the great number of heavy teams passing over it has proved destructive to the road bed, which needs to be thoroughly reconstructed, and the widening could be done at the same time. It is hoped to have the West End cars which now stop at Oak Square, continued at least to Park street, and this will never be done unless the street is widened. There is a great deal of vacant land along the street, and now that sewerage and drainage have been provided all this land would become desirable building lots if the street was made a wide and handsome one. Washington street hill will prevent that part of that street from ever becoming a popular thoroughfare, and all the travel to and from Boston goes down Tremont street. At present it is not a very imposing street, but it could be made one of the most attractive parts of Newton, and the importance of having one of the main entrances to the city a credit to Newton should be recognized.

The other project is the widening of Beacon street from Station street to Grant avenue, to a width of 70 feet, and matters have gone so far that a hearing is to be given on the question of taking the necessary land therefor. The widening ought to be carried to the Boston line, but that will come some day, and there is reason to be thankful that a beginning is to be made. Beacon street ought to be one of the handsomest streets in the city, traversing as it does the whole of Newton, and through one of the most attractive sections, but instead it is one of the narrowest streets in the city, and one would naturally infer that land must have been at least a dollar a foot, when it was laid out, the work was done on such a very economical scale.

The other plan which was outlined last week, of widening Washington street by taking the land between that street and the railroad tracks, the city and the Boston & Albany corporation dividing up the expense, is received with great favor, and it is hoped that something will be done the present year, as the appearance of the city would be immensely improved by such an undertaking. Street widening has got to come, and in spite of its cost it would in the end prove a profitable investment for the city.

The Newton delegates to the 11th District Republican convention have shown unusual wisdom in uniting upon such a representative man for delegate to the Minneapolis convention as Mr. J. R. Leeson, and there seems every prospect that he will be chosen. The selection would confer no honor upon Mr. Leeson, but it would confer great honor upon his party in this district, and show that it is desirous of being represented by its very best men, and of sending a delegate who would have a wise influence upon the deliberations of the convention. In these days, when it is a question of men much more than of parties, it is very important that the man chosen to represent a party should be a platform in himself. Political platforms in themselves mean little or nothing, they are generally framed merely to catch as many votes as possible, and the artifice is so transparent that it does not deceive the intelligent voter. But the men chosen to stand upon the platforms show what the party is, and also how much reliance is to be placed upon the ante-election professions. With Mr. Leeson as the Republican delegate and Mr. Kellar as the Democratic, Newton would be unusually honored.

The Speech of Senator Simpkins, the new president of the Republican Club, at the banquet Tuesday evening, was in strong contrast to that of Roger Wolcott, the first president, on a similar occasion. Mr. Wolcott had something to say, and he said it in a way that produced something of a sensation. Mr. Roosevelt's speech was the great event of the evening, and the most important part of it came in the preface, in which he declared his purpose to fight against the present system of political assessments, and in every way the spoils system, and he said that he could in no way render more effective aid to the cause of decent citizenship than by striving to eradicate the spoils system from our politics. Mr. Roosevelt had made a gallant fight so far, in the face of great discouragements and opposition, but he is not the sort of man to put his hand to the plough and then look back. His appointment as civil service commissioner is one of the most creditable things President Harrison has done.

The Cambridge annexation bill has been indefinitely postponed, and the scheme of a few politicians and real estate boomers has failed for this year.

THE ENTERTAINMENT CLUB.

TWO EXCELLENT ENTERTAINMENTS AT THE CHANNING PARLORS.

The Channing church parlors were well filled Wednesday and Thursday evenings with appreciative audiences, to witness "In Honor Bound" and "My Lord in Livery," given by members of the Entertainment Club, which has done so much to entertain the Newton public this season. The Watertown Orchestral Club gave a program of bright music, for which they received much applause.

"In Honor Bound" was the first, and was given with a very attractive and elaborate stage setting. The cast was as follows:

Sir George Carlyon	Mr. Louis A. Hall
Philip Graham	Mr. Russell A. Ballou, Jr.
Lady Carlyon	Miss Mabel Hall
Rose Dalrymple	Miss Molly P. Metcalf

Mr. Ballou's make-up effected such a total change in his appearance that he would never have been recognized, and his acting was very effective, while Mr. Hall, the elderly and eminent lawyer, was excellent. Miss Hall had a very emotional part, and acted in such a realistic way, as to call forth much applause. Miss Metcalf was bright and attractive as Rose, and her song was so good that the audience would have been glad of more. The play has some very effective scenes and they were made the most of.

The very amusing comedy of "My Lord in Livery," followed and kept the audience in constant laughter, the many ludicrous situations were so well given. The cast was as follows:

Lord Thirlmere	Mr. Louis A. Hall
Spiggott (an old family butler)	Mr. Russell A. Ballou, Jr.
Hopkins (a footman)	Herbert L. Peck
Robert (a page)	Miss Louise Brackett
Sybil Amberley	Miss Laura W. Ballou
Miss Alice Adams	Miss Alice Adams
Rose	Miss Dora L. Stuart

Miss Ballou made the special hit of the play, her part being the most prominent, but she was ably assisted by Miss Adams and Miss Stuart, and the success of the play was due to the excellent acting of all the players.

The club can certainly be congratulated on the success of their efforts, and a goodly sum was realized which is to be given for a mission church in which a former Newtonian is interested.

Palmer Memorial Home for Nurses.

When the school for nurses was begun it was not dreamed by any one that it would attain such efficiency that its graduates would be in demand far and wide, and that applications beyond an ability to meet would be made for the services of pupil nurses in our own city. It shows the fine teaching abilities of our physicians and the patience and tact of the matron, when nurses, who graduate from this training school, stand upon a level with the graduates of any similar institution.

The growth and success of the school for nurses and the steadily increasing demand in our city for the services of training nurses, make it highly desirable that additional quarters should be provided as soon as money can be secured for this purpose.

When the hospital was built there were no provisions made for a training school, and the nurses at present have no quarters of their own other than the little dormitories furnished so frugally. These they have to use as sitting and recreation rooms, making the two years course very arduous. They are on duty twelve hours each day, one after another each week to themselves. If a building can be secured with ten comfortable rooms, so that two nurses can share one room, and a large sitting room for recreation, supplied with comfortable furniture, books, etc., it will be worthy of the name Palmer Memorial Home, as it was Miss Palmer, the former matron, who first started the training school. The sum of $600.00 as the commencement of a fund to build this home, is now in the hands of the assistant treasurer of the Newton Hospital Aid Association, and any subscriptions for this purpose may be sent to Mrs. E. W. Redpath, Newtonville, Mass., or to any of the officers of the Newton Hospital Aid Association.

Cottage Hospital.

At the last meeting of the board of directors of the Newton Hospital Aid Association, a letter was read from Mr. Klackner, presenting to the hospital through Mr. Harlow, twelve more of his valuable etchings. It is understood that through the efforts of Mrs. Harlow and the ladies of Waban, a part of them will be framed, the remainder will be done at the expense of the Ladies' Aid Association.

It was voted to paint the hall and fresco up the doors leading thereto and the stairs, that it may correspond with what has already been done in the reception room, etc. The matter has been mentioned to Miss Peters, who will consult the building committee about it.

About six hundred dollars has been raised toward the Palmer Memorial Home for nurses. The meeting of the board of directors was held this month at the hospital and facts gleaned from Miss Peters, in relation to nurses and patients will be of service in collecting membership fees and money for current expenses.

An Ineffable Cruelty to Children.

Mrs. Fenwick Muller, a London writer of note, comes out strongly on the subject of Lady Montague's methods of discipline, and incidentally has some plain words to say about punishments for children in general, and specially is she moved by that ineffable brutality, the shutting up of young children in the dark. "Darkness is full of terrors to a child. Out of the gloom come all sorts of horrible imaginings, and many a child has been half ruined for life by the terror of darkness, willfully inflicted by some woman either too brutal to care or too ignorant to understand the infernal cruelty of leaving children, whose imaginations are often far more vivid than those of adults, in all the horror of blackness, out of which they, in their combined fancy and ignorance, ring forth all kinds of terrible and threatening things. No young children should ever be left without a glimmer of light in a bedroom all night long, as a touch of indignation, a troublesome dream, a sudden awakening, afraid and into darkness, may work nerve mischief that may last a lifetime. There is no crime that a child can commit that would entitle us to expose him or her to the mental agonies of solitude in darkness, many peopled as it is with phantoms and terrors. We know that even in our prisons this terrible punishment is only resorted to to subdue the most violent and refractory prisoners, and that even then it is hedged round with many restrictions, and only permitted to be used for a limited space of time. If there is a woman living whose heart does not respond to these strong words there is something very radically wrong with her."

Egyptian Architecture.

Egyptian architecture, the oldest of known styles, placed the weight firmly on the ground. In the first stages of building the strength of materials and the art of construction were but imperfectly understood, and to obtain security masses of material were placed on a broad base, narrowing upward in the form of a pyramid. It suggested security and permanence. The earliest extant monument of the work of man—the pyramids by the Nile—still rest on the sand of the desert in their majestic massiveness. The Egyptian buildings were constructed on the model of the pyramid. Truncated at various heights, details and ornamentation, however varied, left the same impression of security and permanence.

The shelving base, from which springs the propylon or porch, the multiplication of short, stunted shafts, the shallow reliefs, are all subservient to the one idea. The building rests on the ground, and you know it. The slender obelisk placed in front as a foil brought into prominence the massive solidity of the building. The accessory sphinx, with its front paws placed flat on the pedestal, the body firmly recumbent and the head solidly draped was a type of immobility and rest.—London Tablet.

Learning to Pop.

It is queer how small an occurrence serves to attract a crowd. The other evening a popcorn kiosk at the corner of D street and the avenue was surrounded by a gaping crowd, ranging in character from gamins to gentlemen, all breathlessly watching the proprietor as he shook a popper over the gas flame. A couple of young ladies happened to be passing, and one of them inquired: "What are those men staring at?"

"They are learning how to pop," replied her companion.

"Oh," sighed the speaker, "how I wish Charlie would take a few lessons!"—Washington Post.

A New Fire Extinguisher.

A new fire extinguisher is composed of a mixture of water and liquid carbonic acid gas, which upon being discharged through pipes at high pressure cause the rapid expansion of the gas, converting the mixture into a spray more or less frozen.—New York Journal.

AN EXPERIMENT IN FICTION.

There is a time in the life of nearly every educated person when he feels that fierce, unconquerable desire to write—to put into words, for the benefit of coming generations, such thoughts and fancies as may occur to him or to her.

And indeed I believe one may wish to write without even possessing the thoughts to embody in one's effusions, so great is the fascination of seeing one's own writings in print.

To this curious malady I became an early victim. And the acceptance of an occasional poem by various weekly papers aided fresh fuel to the unquenchable fire of literary ambition. At twenty-two I occupied a minor editorial position on a daily paper, and had had one or two stories accepted by one of the great magazines. Consequently, I began to feel rather important in a literary way, and this tendency was decidedly encouraged by compliments, sincere and otherwise, of those with whom I came in contact.

One of these, and one who, from its beginning had taken a warm interest in my literary work, was a girl—Miss Katharine Merry. I had known Miss Merry almost from childhood, and always had considerable admiration for her. I looked upon her as entirely different from the other girls of my acquaintance. She was rather intellectual in her tastes, very fond of reading, and had even published some very creditable verses, although she was my junior by two years. She was not a girl to flirt with, and she absolutely disliked compliments. That is, she really did dislike them, differing in this respect from the majority of women, who may affect to despise flattery, but who are none the less susceptible to its influence. She and I were half-brother and half-sister, and I was half-brother and half-sister to her. We understood each other very well, were interested in each other's projects, and enjoyed comparing notes over our failures, and successes.

One night, when it so happened that we were both dining at the same house, the conversation turned upon that much mooted question as to whether or not a thing as platonic love was possible. Miss Merry and myself both argued warmly for the affirmative, and probably we each thought of our mutual friendship as an instance, although upon that point we kept silent, contenting ourselves with mentioning historical cases.

The other side, however, probably because those who constituted it were better informed, and more able to express their ideas, had somewhat the best of the argument, and Miss Merry and I, although still unconvinced, were compelled to withdraw from the battle.

"Why, of course, it is possible," she said. "There are you and I."

"To be sure," I answered, "we are living flesh-and-blood evidence. By the way, I have a scheme. Why shouldn't we write a story together about a platonic friendship? I think we could work it up in great shape."

"That's a capital idea," exclaimed Miss Merry. "You could furnish the man's ideas, and I the woman's."

"Good! Already I behold the comfortable check which shall reward us for our labor."

"Oh, that is too bad. You are always putting a cash value on things. Remember, sir, that this is a story that is to show the world how platonic friendships may and do exist."

"All right. When shall we commence work? You know we must talk our plot over first. Shall I call in the afternoon?"

"Yes, do, and we can take a walk and arrange the plot."

Thus it was arranged that we should collaborate in a story, and the following day, according to the engagement, I called at the Merry household.

Miss Merry came down ready for the walk, with her hair already pinned up. That was one of her characteristics, she never kept one waiting. It is little things like this that make you feel a platonic friendship for a girl, if anything will.

"I've been thinking of a title for our story," she cried. "What shall we call it?"

"You must name it," I said, "that is part of your share of the labor."

"Very well, then, let us call it 'Two Friends.'"

"That's a capital idea. Now for the plot. The plot was a hard thing to settle. The story must have some element to lend color to it. Love, of course, was barred out, and friendship was to take its place; but how, and what incidents to make use of in order to portray it happily, was an extremely knotty and difficult question. One thing we fixed upon. There must be a noble sacrifice on the part of one or both of our characters. But of what nature and circumstances it should be, we could not determine.

"Do you think," I inquired tentatively, "that such a friendship could rise superior even to love?"

"I don't know," hesitated Miss Merry. "You see I can't speak from experience, and novelists always set love on a pedestal above the other emotions."

"True! But this other story of ours must not be formed on the theories of other writers. We must originate it entirely."

"I don't see how. Neither of us are in love, or ever have been, to my knowledge."

"Nor to mine," I returned hastily, perhaps because on this point a shadow of a doubt had crept over me.

But on due reflection I determined that I had answered with perfect frankness. No, I was not in love with Elsie Harwood by any means. I admired her very much, it was true, and I fancied that she liked me. I had seen a good deal of her in the mountains during the past summer, and once or twice the idea entered my head that she was much nicer than most girls, and that I liked to be with her. That was all. Why, I had not seen her a dozen times since she had returned to the town.

Having thus disposed of the trifling doubt which assailed my conscience, I turned to Katharine who had been busily planning in the meanwhile.

"There is only one way to do it," she cried.

"And what?"

"One of us must fall in love."

I confessed the idea staggered me at first, and it was with difficulty that I recovered breath enough to ask—

"Which one of us?"

"Well," said Katharine, thoughtfully, "I think you better. The consequences are so much less apt to be dangerous for a man."

"Here, I don't know about that. Suppose I were really to fall in love and get married?"

"Just so. What of it? You must get married some time."

"But marriage is a thing a fellow don't want to jump into out of hand, in the manner you suggest."

"You goose! You need not fall head over ears in love; a mild case of imaginary love will answer the purpose."

"Suppose it should cause our friendship to break up?"

"Oh, consistency, thou art a jewel. Then how about our theory of platonic affection?" said Katharine, with a twinkle in her blue eyes.

"True enough!" I replied. "I'll try it. I'll fall in love with Miss Harwood immediately."

"Oh, no, not with her, surely. She is so insipid and foolish!"

"Now I do not think Miss Harwood insipid or foolish at all, and Katharine's criticism nettled me somewhat, so that I answered rather stiffly, that I supposed a fellow might choose for himself whom he was to fall in love with."

Whereupon we walked in silence for some time while the plot of our story made little progress.

Insipid and foolish indeed! I tried to recall any instance of these qualities to Miss Harwood, but could not. I only remembered that she had very grey eyes, and a very pretty mouth, with the whitest of teeth. She was rather petite and a clinging sort of a girl. At least, that was my manish definition of a woman who drew forth the chivalric instincts of a man. I thought of the long drives we had taken together during the summer, and how much I had enjoyed talking to her. Although she seldom said much, she seemed to grasp my ideas, looking up to me the while with her big eyes in a confident and trusting manner. "Oh, no," I thought, "she is anything but insipid."

Whereupon Katharine, who must have guessed my thought, I said, "When you have finished thinking of Elsie, perhaps you will condescend to return to our story."

"Of course, my dear Katharine, you really must pardon the absent-mindedness of one who is so deeply in love."

We both laughed at this, and the laugh made things little better between us. We agreed that our plot must form itself naturally, and the chief incident must be the falling in love of the hero with another girl. As for the sacrifice we had determined must play an important part in the story, we could not very well determine what it should be.

Miss Merry suggested that the hero should give up his sweetheart so as to prolong his friendship with his platonic friend. I reminded her that she had just expressed the idea that love or marriage would not interfere with such a friendship, however, probably because those who constituted it were better informed, and more able to express their ideas, had somewhat the best of the argument, and Miss Merry and I, although still unconvinced, were compelled to withdraw from the battle.

"Why, of course, it is possible," she said. "There are you and I."

"To be sure," I answered, "we are living flesh-and-blood evidence. By the way, I have a scheme. Why shouldn't we write a story together about a platonic friendship? I think we could work it up in great shape."

our poor little story will never be written I fear."

"At last one day I called and found her alone. Neither of us spoke of the story at first, but different things entirely foreign to it. Finally I asked her about Williams, whether she cared for him or not?"

"I must have asked the question in an unpleasant manner, for I could see that she was hurt. For several minutes she made me no answer."

"I do not see why you should ask me that question," she said slowly, with her eyes fixed upon the floor.

"I have a perfect right," I answered. "I want to know whether or not our friendship is to come to an end under any circumstances."

"I do not believe it," I cried. "Katharine, if you marry that man, we can never be friends again. Tell me, do you care for him?"

Katharine laughed, and as I hate to be laughed at I grew angry.

"What about our theory that we are going to express in our story?" she asked. "Oh, how good!" This is real life and I am in earnest. Do you love Dick Williams?"

"I like him very much."

"Would you marry him?"

"I call that question rather impertinent. Do you love Elsie Harwood? And will she marry you?"

Katharine laughed again and my anger vanished. I suddenly realized that she had been making game of me.

"Katharine," I said, "you know whom I love. There is only one way that we can ever finish our story. Shall we collaborate?"

"And she said 'Yes' and we did. And one sunny spring day we wrote out this little story together, which is to prove that platonic affection does not exist. And when we had nearly arrived at the end Katharine said: 'How shall we finish it?' I said: 'Like this.'"

Brushing back, as I spoke, the brown hair from her forehead to kiss it.—Yaukie Blade.

MOUNTAINS OF NORTH CAROLINA.

"ASHVILLE" AND "HOT SPRINGS." SUNSET FROM THE MOUNTAIN TOP.

Not many years ago little or nothing was heard of the mountainous district of North Carolina; but of late it has been receiving marked and well deserved attention from the travelling public. Accordingly some of the readers of the Graphic, who have not yet had the opportunity of visiting these mountains, may enjoy even a brief and cursory description of a trip, which the writer recently made to this locality.

We caught our first glimpse of the mountains, a faint blue line on the western horizon, while the train was speeding over the gently undulating plain in the central part of North Carolina. Here many signs of Spring were noticeable; the bright green fields of early grain; the young leaves budding forth from shrubs and bushes; and above all the peach orchards brilliantly decked with a myriad of pink blossoms. Toward noon the peaks and valleys became quite distinct and by three o'clock the train had begun the steep ascent. Another engine was put on, and feeling sure that something was coming, we seated ourselves on the rear platform of the last car, prepared to enjoy whatever scene might be presented to us.

Winding in and out among the recesses of the mountainside, now crossing some shadowy gorge on a delicate trestle, now roaring through a deep cut in some great cliff, the train advanced further and further up the valley. The view, at first shut in by the mountains all about, slowly expanded until, on one side, a broad expanse of lowland was spread out before us, part covered by forests and part dotted over with farms and villages, while on the other mountains towered far above us, rising peak on peak in lofty succession.

After nearly an hour of steady climbing, the train crossed the divide, eleven hundred feet above the plain from which we started, and sped rapidly on to Asheville. Asheville is the largest town in the mountains. Its twelve thousand inhabitants are all settled in one small valley and the centre of the town appears quite city-like with its brick blocks, several stories high, and its general air of business and activity. Its roads are very muddy at this time of the year, but the three most important ones are macadamized. The different points of interest are reached by five different lines of electric cars. On the highest bluff in the town is situated the Battery Park Hotel. The outlook from its broad piazza is exceedingly beautiful. Below is the valley, thickly dotted with houses, and shut in by gently rising foot hills. Twenty miles beyond, a chain of lofty peaks rises tier above tier, while, in the back ground, stands Mt. Pisgah, towering above them all.

Two miles out from the city, on a hill-top in the Swannona valley, stands the far famed Kenilworth Inn. The Kenilworth is said by architects to be the most beautiful hotel in America, and it is indeed a magnificent structure. Porticoes, piazzas, and first story are of massive masonry buttressed and turreted like a great fortress, from which rising hillsides, at intervals, toppling by a steeply sloping roof, culminating eight stories from the ground.

No tourist has seen the sights at Asheville until he has been out to Vanderbilt's estate of a thousand acres, eight miles from the town. The improvements here are being carried out on a magnificent scale. Several miles of macadamized roads have been laid out, a ten thousand dollar tennis court has been completed, and the foundations are laid for a new residence which, it is said, will cost nearly half a million dollars.

From Asheville to Hot Springs the railroad runs a short distance, four miles, through the deep narrow valley of the French Broad river. The view from the car window was delightful. The river all along was dotted with little islands, covered to the water's edge with spruces and cedars. Here and there on the bank of the river, a small house, tucked into his muddy banks, sitting by the doorsteps smoking, or, perhaps, lazily plowing his little field. Now and then the train would cross a bridge, and then running back into the mountainside, and we could catch a momentary glimpse of some stream dashing over an overhanging ledge in a delightful little waterfall. At a spot where the valley broadens to a plateau of a thousand acres or more, Hot Springs is situated. Here are a large hotel and a few cottages. Near the hotel the springs bubble up at a temperature of 101 degrees. Marble bathing pools are provided into which the water flows direct from the springs. Many invalids congregate here, and stories of cures are told by the thousands. As those of pains caused by the East winds at home.

Riding horseback and donkeyback are the chief pastimes here and there are many picturesque trails and bridle paths, leading up the mountainsides. On either side of the trail there grow the pebbles and boulders. Three or four beautiful cascades may be found within a few miles of the hotel, and one who enjoys mountain scenery certainly can find no more attractive place to spend a day than at this little valley in the "Land of the Sky."

Just beyond Hot Springs is the Tennessee line, so that the mountains of North Carolina end here; but we cannot close without describing the ascent of Rich Mountain, one of the loftiest peaks in the state. It covers two thousand feet above the valley, and its ascent, on a rough, stony path six miles long, is quite a difficult one. We could find no one who was willing to undertake the tramp with us and accordingly set out alone. It took nearly three hours of steady climbing to reach the summit. On either side of the trail there grew the pebbles and boulders. Three or four beautiful cascades may be found within a few miles of the hotel, and one who enjoys mountain scenery certainly can find no more attractive place to spend a day than at this little valley in the "Land of the Sky."

From the mountain top the view was indescribably grand. To the north and south, great rugged mountains, with their bold crests sharply outlined against the sky, gave majesty and power to the scene. To the east, the great Atlantic slope extending off as far as the eye could reach, its contour varied by the gently undulating foot hills and the many billowy mountain chains, added beauty to the landscape, and to the west, the plain of Tennessee and Kentucky, checkered with farms and villages, and melting away until the dim bluish haze of a far off mountain range merged into the softer blue of the encircling sky, perfected the picture by giving it an aspect of harmony and peace.

After a half hour, lost in contemplation, we were warned by the lengthening shadows to hasten away from the lonely peak. Half way down from the mountain we crossed a bluff from whose top we could look out over the valley to the rugged hills beyond, and paused to listen to the sunset symphony. Through the valley, mured in shadow a thousand feet below us, the river wound in and out in a silvery path. The sun, indistinct in the haze of the western horizon sank slowly and lower, becoming fainter and fainter, until at last only a golden path through the gray bank of clouds remained. At length, amid the unbroken silence, a turkey buzzard floated slowly down from the peak above us, his wings outstretched and motionless, and noiselessly disappeared in the valley below, the last note in the silent symphony.

Starting up, we hurried down the hillside, and ere the trail merged into the clearing at the Springs, the moon, rising above the hill tops, shone here and there through the pines and cedars.

TENNIS LEAGUE ORGANIZED.

REPRESENTATIVES OF SIX CLUBS A UNIT. With the formation of the Interclub Tennis League Friday night, suburban tennis in and about Newton received a great boost.

Representatives from six vigorous tennis clubs met at Mr. J. C. Brimblecom's house in Newton, and formed the league, the clubs being the Waban Racquet, Belmont, Waltham, Wellesley Hills, Belmont and Neighborhood.

From the Waban Racquet Club came Mr. Brimblecom, J. R. Griswold, H. A. Flinn and W. L. Sampson, and the other representatives were W. A. Hall, H. F. Fairbrother and F. J. Surridge from the Boat Club; President Cutler from the Neighborhood; Messrs. Fogg, Jones and Beal from the Waltham; G. A. Cabot from Wellesley Hills; A. J. Wellington, J. T. Swords, A. Brainard, R. B. Horne and F. C. Brown from the Belmont.

Mr. Cabot acted as secretary. It was decided that each of the six clubs should contribute $15 towards the prizes. An executive committee, made up of one man from each club, will arrange the details of the games, which will occur on 15 Saturday afternoons, beginning, probably, the middle of May. Each club will have three contests with every other club, one on each home ground and one on neutral grounds.

Newton and its immediate vicinity has always been a strong tennis centre, and the formation of this league will awaken any slacking interest.

The ground of the Waban Racquet Club on Boyd street are being rolled and put in proper condition. There are three grass courts and one single. The club has been to considerable expense to lay out a centrally located field in a proper manner.

The Boat club turns its attention mostly to boating, but at Riverside the 250 members have a chance to play on two splendid courts, one grass and one cinder.

Everybody in the Waltham Club is personally interested in keeping the sport with racquet and ball up to the highest point. Their three gravel courts are kept in the very best condition.

Belmont's three ash courts are about the best in the vicinity. Most of the young men who belong to the club care only for the success of their organization, and a clubhouse, with courts always in prime shape, mark a most prosperous existence.

President Cunningham's hustling club in Wellesley is no behind, with eight courts of all kinds. The grounds are on Washington street. This year there's a big interest in the game.

Most of the men in the Neighborhood club prefer to play on their own grounds in West Newton, so it is probable another club will come in to make up the sixth in the new league.

Each club will be privileged to select its players from its own membership, and in no case will be allowed to utilize outside talent or enter men who come under the classification of professionals.

Many rise in the morning with a headache and no inclination for breakfast. This is due to torpidity of the liver and a deranged condition of the stomach. To restore healthy action to these organs, nothing is so efficacious as an occasional dose of Ayer's Pills.

A popular official in Washington once was fishing with a clergyman. Bites were plentiful, but the official seemed to get them all. The clergyman waited patiently and at last was favored with a nibble. Then the line parted and his hopes and a part of his fishing tackle vanished simultaneously. He said nothing for almost a minute, and then turning to his friend remarked: "John, if my early education had been neglected what do you suppose I should have said?"—Washington Star.

Wounded at Gettysburg

afresh. Dr. Pease amputated an inch of the bone, and it healed. Four years later it once more opened, and for eight years how I suffered! I do not believe it possible for a human being to suffer worse agony. During this time I had to go on crutches, being unable to wear a wooden leg. When ever possible I relieved my sufferings by taking ointment, but when I was obliged to go without it, I suffered fearfully and thought I should go crazy. I tried every thing I could get my hands on, but nothing helped, and I would never be any better. Finally my and it broke out all over my face and on some parts of my body so that my face is all covered with scars now. One day I read of what Hood's Sarsaparilla would do. The first dollar I got I sent and bought a bottle and began taking it. A week or two later, my wife in dressing my leg, said it seemed to be improving, and after taking a few months, thank God (and I say it reverently), the sores all over my body healed, and now, four years later, have never shown any sign of reappearing." GEORGE M. HAMMOND, 219 Magnolia Street, Syracuse, N. Y.

A BARON WHO WORKS

AN EUROPEAN NOBLEMAN LABORING HARD FOR SMALL PAY.

How It Came About That a Foreigner, Who Was at One Time Lionized by New York's "Swell Set," Is Now an Interpreter on Ellis Island.

Ring went the pilot's bell, the wheels splashed and we were off for Ellis Island, where I made the discovery which enables me to tell this tale and right a wrong.

Ellis Island, unfamiliar to most New Yorkers, although at the very door of their harbor, is the place where immigrants land from the steamer of incoming steamers. It is a place full of quaint and picturesque scenes of human life—a rare place for a philosopher, and I found one such.

"Who is that dark featured man with the heavy mustache?" I inquired of an employee when he had made a landing. The subject of my query was bustling about in the swarm of foreigners, speaking half a dozen languages at the same time; now showing some stupid Dutchman the way to the railroad office; now saying a kind word to some forlorn Polish peasant woman; now speaking in perfect English to a fellow official for the gold letters on his hat told me that he was connected with the service. There was something about the man which at once interested and puzzled me. "Ah! sure, sir, an that's the count, as we call him, seen as he wears them boy toned clothes and toothpick shoes, but he's a decent chap enough for all that, sir."

I now noticed that "the count" was dressed in excellent, almost elegant style, his Prince Albert coat having certainly been made by a London tailor; his trousers falling in faultless lines and creases over a pair of patent leather shoes. Once or twice as he moved about I caught a glimpse of a scarlet waistcoat, such as the extreme swells of Paris are fond of wearing. His linen, too, was such as betrays the gentleman, and the careful drape and curl of his black mustache could only have been obtained by long familiarity with the curling iron.

"Here," I reflected, "is a man who dresses and carries himself and looks like a howling European swell, acting as interpreter for a mob of unwashed emigrants. I wonder who he is?"

I asked the question of another man wearing the official cap.

"He's the dude, that's what he is," was the only answer I could get. Another man called him "the baron," and finally I got hold of the chief of the railroad department, who gave me the key to the puzzle.

"The man you have noticed," said he, "is one of the most willing and efficient employees in my department, and you will be moderately astonished when I tell you that he is known and received in the best society of a dozen cities, including New York, London and Paris. He is no other than the Baron de Grunbaum."

"What, the Baron de Grunbaum, New York society made such a fuss over a few years ago?"

"Precisely. The Baron de Grunbaum, whom Mrs. Astor and all the rest of the Four Hundred danced with and lionized."

The baron was bowing to a fat woman enveloped in an antique shawl with the same courtly ease he might have displayed in saluting a millionaire partner at the Patriarch's ball. A woman was a woman wherever he found her!

"Do you suppose he would mind talking with me?" I asked, forgetting my own business in this newly aroused interest.

"I will ask him," said the good hearted superintendent, and he presently returned with his distinguished employee. A few words put us at our ease, and the baron, not without hesitation, finally accepted my invitation to a quiet dinner a few days later. Then he went back to his duties and I to mine.

The dinner came, and I hope the conversation was entirely in French, which he speaks, as he does English, German, Italian, Hungarian, Bohemian and I don't know how many others, with scarcely a trace of foreign accent.

"Why, you know I came to America about eight months ago at the wish of my father," he said; "but stop a moment, these papers have said so much that it is false and outrageous about me that I am not sorry to have a chance to set myself right. I will tell you how my father came to send me to America. I had been living at a pretty rapid pace, with gambling and so on, and had run myself into debt up to the eyes, as I thought I had a right to do, being the only son of a man who is immensely wealthy. Things came to a crisis about a year ago, and I appealed to my father, who promised to pay my creditors if I would show my intention of living a more serious life by going to America and taking a ranch out in Nebraska, where he thought the healthful outdoor work would get me into better habits. I agreed and came to America with about $30,000 capital, which he advanced me. That was all I could have under any circumstances for a year to come."

"Unfortunately, soon after landing in New York I made the acquaintance of a delightful fellow who persuaded me to invest my money in Chicago Gas stock at fifty-two. He said I would have $100,000 in a month. So I would and more had he made the investment a little later, for Chicago Gas has since touched eighty. As it was, the stock broke on some rumor and my margin was wiped out and I was left without resources. I could not go back to Europe because of the promise I made to my father; I was too proud to beg; I was incapable of doing a dishonorable action, so I sought such employment as I could get, and you have seen what I have found. If I have been foolish and extravagant I have been the only one to suffer for my follies, and I am trying to take my medicine, as you say in America, like a man."—New York Herald.

Boston, Aug. 26, 1890.
Dr. Solomon has cured a cancer on my hip of seventeen years' standing, it was cut out twice; by what they call eminent surgeons, at intervals of six years, after being cut out each time I knew by the feeling it was still there, and it would be now if I had not been so fortunate as to have Dr. Solomon treat it, he did it without any cutting. I would urge those afflicted with cancer not delay, but to go at once and be cured permanently as I have done. My dear Doctor I thank from the bottom of my heart.

Hood's Sarsaparilla absolutely cures where other preparations fail. It possesses medicinal merit peculiar to itself.

—the man or woman who's "run-down." Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery sets the wheels going. It starts the torpid liver into healthful action, purifies and enriches the blood, cleanses, repairs, and strengthens the system, and restores health and vigor. As an appetizing, restorative tonic, it sets at work all the processes of digestion and nutrition, and builds up flesh and strength.

For all scrofulous humors, and blood-taints, and even Consumption (or Lung-scurf), if taken in time, it's a positive remedy.

Unlike the sarsaparillas, which claim to be good for the blood in March, April, and May, "Golden Medical Discovery" works equally well at all seasons.

Unlike other blood-purifiers, too, it's guaranteed to benefit or cure, in every case, or your money is returned.

On these terms, it's the cheapest. You pay only for the good you get. But it's the best—or it couldn't be sold so.

Would Have Died.

HOLYOKE, Mass., November, 1890.
I was in pain all over, could get no rest either night or day and was not able to do any work for months, but after taking Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic only one week, I was able to sit up and attend to my dressmaking. I had paid over two hundred dollars to doctors and got no benefit. I certainly think I should have died long ago if I had not got this medicine.

—The gentlemen and boys of Ward Six are to be congratulated on our new tailor, Mr. Daniel Sauer. It is no longer necessary to take clothing into Boston for repairs, as it can be skillfully done here. Mr. Sauer makes a specialty of cleaning and renovating boys' as well as men's clothing and, already, is receiving much encouragement in the shape of work at his new shop on Pelham street, near Noble's drug store.

—The dancing of the Bellamy Quadrille on the second night of the May festival is to be one of the many attractions. As it will be danced upon the stage all will be able to see it. Prominent among the tables with those of the young ladies in evening dress, offering Japanese wares for sale, and of the King's Daughters, where not only the decorations, but the articles on sale are all to be yellow and white.

—An instance of the result, which the recent action of the aldermen in removing a city ordinance relating to sidewalk loafers, was noticed Sunday. A gang of young loafers blocked the sidewalk so that a lady with a baby carriage could not pass and she was forced to wheel the carriage into the street, pass around the crowd and again take the sidewalk beyond. And a policeman was powerless to move these loafers until they had been there twenty minutes, and then a move of ten feet or more and they would be safe for another third of an hour.

—The small, but necessary sum, $12, for the purchase of a mail box at the depot, has not yet been raised, despite the convenience which it would be to Boston business men. The subscriptions are being solicited by Expressman Hesse and he has now thirty names on his paper for 25 cents. This leaves $8.20 still unsecured. Considering the suggestions which have been made for a mail box, this small sum should easily be secured. Subscriptions can be left with the postmaster or Expressman, H. T. Hesse.

—Thomas Burke was injured Wednesday morning while at work near the Beacon street ledge. With some fellow workmen he was at work burning the grass at the top of the quarry when an explosion occurred, which knocked Burke down and scared the gang badly who at first thought he dead. He revived shortly and Dr. Sylvester who was called found a small wound in his breast and another in the left arm. He was removed to the hospital for examination but his injuries were found to be slight. The explosion was probably caused either by a dynamite cartridge or a gun cartridge carelessly dropped in the grass.

—Mr. Albert D. S. Bell has bought the Ward estate, lying between Ward and Hammond streets, a short distance west of the Chestnut Hill reservoir. Taken in connection with Mr. Eugene H. Knapp's recent purchase in the same vicinity, this points to the continuance westerly of the attractive features that surround the vicinity of Beacon street between Boston and the reservoir, and will probably bring to the market some exceptionally desirable building sites, as it is understood that Mr. Bell purchased in the interest of parties who project the immediate development of the property.

—The following extract from a recent number of the Burlington, Vt., Free Press, will be of interest to Mr. Wheeler's many friends in this vicinity: "At a meeting of the Unitarian society held on Monday last, Rev. Horace L. Wheeler was asked to remain his pastor another year. He has not yet given his answer, which we trust will be in the affirmative when it comes. Mr. Wheeler, who came among us a year ago as a stranger, has won many friends and those in his parish since his arrival, and another year with us will greatly increase his usefulness. He is a courteous, Christian gentleman whom we should much dislike to lose as a pastor, and a citizen, while it is admitted on all sides that his sermons are among the best ever heard from his pulpit."

—On Tuesday evening, April 19th, the Highland Club house presented a very brilliant scene, the occasion being a reception tendered the members of the club by their ladies. The rooms on the first floor were elaborately decorated and draped with bunting. The reception room was in the Spanish National colors, and the ladies of the receiving party were dressed in the same colors. The next room the American colors adorned the walls, and the ladies, with powdered hair and appropriate costume represented 1776. The dining room and halls were prettily draped in white and green. An orchestra of strings in the hall discoursed music during the evening, and just before refreshments were served Mrs. E. J. Hyde, in behalf of the ladies, expressed their appreciation of the club house, and the ladies in return expressed their appreciation of the club house during the winter, and presented to the president a key, belonging to a beautiful French clock which rested on the mantle recently hidden beneath a pile of cushions.

—Mr. E. J. Hyde, and vice-president Dr. S. L. Eaton responded with graceful words of acceptance and a vote of thanks was given to the ladies for the beautiful gift.
—The committee having had in charge the decoration of the Baptist church last Sunday deserve great credit for the artistic and elaborate manner in which they executed their work. It is doubtful if any church in Newton presented a better floral display than did the Second Baptist church of this village. The committee having charge were Misses Florence Hildreth, Bertha Billings, Ida Hutton and May Gould; Messrs. Wm. Fanning, W. Holman and E. Newell.

—The Billings homestead on High street was the scene of a quiet home wedding Wednesday, when Miss Fannie E. Billings was united in marriage to Mr. Charles Johannot of Holyoke, Mass. The ceremony was performed by Rev. George W. Holman, pastor of the Baptist church, in the presence of the family and near relatives. The maid of honor was Miss Margaret Johannot, a sister of the groom, and Mr. Edward M. Billings, brother of the bride, acted as best man. The bride looked charming in a neat traveling costume of light fabric. After the ceremony a short reception was held, followed by the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Johannot on a wedding tour. On their return they will reside at the bride's home on High street.

—St. Barnabas fair was held last night in Prospect hall, proving a great success. Dawson taking the prize of a crayon picture of Echo Bridge for pinning on the donkey's tail. The prizes for shooting were awarded as follows: Geo. F. Skelton, taking first prize of a handsome rocker, presented by B. A. Atkinson; Thomas W. White taking second prize of a handsome lemonade set. Both prizes were taken by boys of Newton Highlands. Scores as follows: G. F. Skelton, 38, 40, 42, 44, out of a possible 48; F. W. White, 38, 40, 42, 44, out of a possible 48; finals, shot off, G. F. Skelton, 44, F. W. White, 43.

—A return match association foot ball, between the East Boston Cricket and Foot Ball Club and the Newton Upper Falls club was played Saturday afternoon, on the East Boston grounds. The home team, although short of some of its best men, completely outplayed the Newton men. The score was 3 goals to 0. The following composed the team.

—Mr. Nathaniel W. Everett, for nearly 60 years a resident of this place, died Monday morning at 5.30 o'clock, aged 81 years. He was taken ill only a few days previous with pneumonia, from which he had not sufficient strength to rally. He passed away very quietly, retaining consciousness almost to the last. Mr. Everett was born in Foxboro, Nov. 18, 1810, and there spent his early life and received his education. When about 20 years of age he came to Newton Upper Falls and entered the employ of Pettie Machine Works, remaining here only about a year, when he went to Nashua, N. H., where he stayed for two years. He then returned, taking his former position in Pettie's, where he learned paper making. He remained in their employ for 40 years, retiring from active business 18 years ago, occasioned partly because of failing eyesight. Mr. Everett during his life was interested in town affairs and active in town politics, serving a number of years on the board of assessors and holding several other responsible offices. He was greatly respected among a large circle of friends and acquaintances, and was a regular attendant of the Methodist church. He was married Jan. 25, 1849, to Miss Deborah A. Winslow, daughter of Eleazer H. Winslow, then a prominent resident of this place. The deceased leaves two sons and one daughter, Otis W. of Worcester, Louis P. of this place and Elizabeth W. Everett of Alston. The funeral was held from his late residence on High street at 2 p. m. o'clock, Wednesday, a large number attending the service. Rev. John Peterson of Florence, formerly of the Methodist church, officiated, assisted by Rev. Nathaniel Feltows, pastor of the Methodist church. A male quartet from Boston, consisting of Messrs. Want, Ryder, Hiltcheek and Babcock, sang very acceptably. The flowers were very beautiful, comprising a pillow of white roses inscribed "Father," a broken wreath and sickle with "Grandpa," and many cut flowers. The bearers, valued associates of his long life of 81 years, were Messrs. Martin Sturtevant, Stephen Key, Gould and Otis Pettie. The interment was at Newton cemetery.

—Mr. Nathaniel W. Everett, for nearly 60 years a resident of this place, died Monday morning at 5.30 o'clock, aged 81 years. He was taken ill only a few days previous with pneumonia, from which he had not sufficient strength to rally. He passed away very quietly, retaining consciousness almost to the last. Mr. Everett was born in Foxboro, Nov. 18, 1810, and there spent his early life and received his education. When about 20 years of age he came to Newton Upper Falls and entered the employ of Pettie Machine Works, remaining here only about a year, when he went to Nashua, N. H., where he stayed for two years. He then returned, taking his former position in Pettie's, where he learned paper making. He remained in their employ for 40 years, retiring from active business 18 years ago, occasioned partly because of failing eyesight. Mr. Everett during his life was interested in town affairs and active in town politics, serving a number of years on the board of assessors and holding several other responsible offices. He was greatly respected among a large circle of friends and acquaintances, and was a regular attendant of the Methodist church. He was married Jan. 25, 1849, to Miss Deborah A. Winslow, daughter of Eleazer H. Winslow, then a prominent resident of this place. The deceased leaves two sons and one daughter, Otis W. of Worcester, Louis P. of this place and Elizabeth W. Everett of Alston. The funeral was held from his late residence on High street at 2 p. m. o'clock, Wednesday, a large number attending the service. Rev. John Peterson of Florence, formerly of the Methodist church, officiated, assisted by Rev. Nathaniel Feltows, pastor of the Methodist church. A male quartet from Boston, consisting of Messrs. Want, Ryder, Hiltcheek and Babcock, sang very acceptably. The flowers were very beautiful, comprising a pillow of white roses inscribed "Father," a broken wreath and sickle with "Grandpa," and many cut flowers. The bearers, valued associates of his long life of 81 years, were Messrs. Martin Sturtevant, Stephen Key, Gould and Otis Pettie. The interment was at Newton cemetery.

—The committee having had in charge the decoration of the Baptist church last Sunday deserve great credit for the artistic and elaborate manner in which they executed their work. It is doubtful if any church in Newton presented a better floral display than did the Second Baptist church of this village. The committee having charge were Misses Florence Hildreth, Bertha Billings, Ida Hutton and May Gould; Messrs. Wm. Fanning, W. Holman and E. Newell.

—The Billings homestead on High street was the scene of a quiet home wedding Wednesday, when Miss Fannie E. Billings was united in marriage to Mr. Charles Johannot of Holyoke, Mass. The ceremony was performed by Rev. George W. Holman, pastor of the Baptist church, in the presence of the family and near relatives. The maid of honor was Miss Margaret Johannot, a sister of the groom, and Mr. Edward M. Billings, brother of the bride, acted as best man. The bride looked charming in a neat traveling costume of light fabric. After the ceremony a short reception was held, followed by the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Johannot on a wedding tour. On their return they will reside at the bride's home on High street.

—Easter services were held last Sunday morning by the M. E. Society, and an Easter Concert in the evening. Miss Lowndes of Somerville assisted the regular choir both morning and evening. The Society has now been held at the home at 4 p. m. Wednesday, and the remains were taken to Newburyport for interment.

—The Easter service at the Congregational church brought a large audience. A sermon appropriate to the occasion by the pastor, a fine program of Easter music by the quartette under the direction of Mr. Ayer, and a fine rendering, and the floral decorations arranged by Miss Clara White were very beautiful. The Sunday School concert in the evening was one of the best, and was attended by an audience completely filling the church.

—The return party of the young ladies who gave the late Leap Year party, is to be given in Lincoln hall, Newton Highlands, on April 30th, and promises to be the nicest party of the season. The well known orchestra of Mr. J. Howard Richardson has been secured to furnish the music. A number of the young men who are managing it we hope there will be a large attendance which will warrant the repetition of their efforts at some later date.

—The concert to be given by the Home Lodge, No. 102, L. O.

cellent program of instrumental selections was rendered, and the readings and solos proved enjoyable features of the entertainment. The house was packed, every seat in the auditorium being occupied. Much of the success of the entertainment is due to the efforts of the Newton Highlands

—The Banquet Whist club has just closed

ing was as follows: J. R. Griswold, 561;

Snow, 474; H. H. Powell, 455; H. H. Ap-plin, 405.

—Mr. Samuel L. Powers has an interesting article in the May Arena on the "Use of Public Water Corporations." In it he alludes to the public sentiment in favor of requiring power, etc. to pay a franchise or waste compensation in some form for the privilege, and explains it by saying that it has arisen from a misconception of the relation existing between them and the general public. "If we use street-using corporations," he adds, "the burden of the water supply is upon the patron rather than the stockholder, and the result will be higher fares and rates or poorer service." In conclusion he says: "It is a social as well as a political problem which must be considered at an early day by our lawmakers and receive a solution at their hands. The water supply is a public utility, and it is ultimately to the community that the welfare of the masses is better served by the development rather than the restriction of transportation and communication facilities among our people."

Mr. Day's Second Concert.

The second chamber concert given by Mr. Harry Brooks Day at Hotel Hunnewell well called out enough music-lovers to fill the dining room of the hotel, and they passed a delightful evening listening to the following program:

Suite, for Piano, Violin and 'Cello, op. 19.
Agnes Z. hummermann

I. Introduction and Allegro, II. Canon, III.
Gavotte, IV. Air, V. Gigue.

Songs: "Still wie du bist," Carl Rein
Songs: "Ich liebe dich," Carl Rein

Violin Solo: a. Andante from Concerto, b. Andante from Concerto.

'Cello Solo: a. Introduction and Gavotte, b. Introduction and Gavotte.

Songs: a. The first meeting, b. The first meeting.

Songs: a. A Spring Song, b. A Spring Song.

Trio in B flat, for Piano, Violin and 'Cello, op. 12.
Rheinberger

Allegretto-scherzo, Romance, (Andantino).
Scherzo (Allegro), Finale (Cavatina).

Miss Harriet S. Whittier was the vocalist and she received a very enthusiastic reception. Her many Newton friends have watched her progress with great interest and every time they have the pleasure of hearing her they are pleasantly surprised at her success. Her voice has grown fuller and richer and her singing Tuesday night left nothing to be desired. Her last selection, Arne's "Polly Willis" captivated the audience and an encore was insisted on.

The solos of Mr. C. N. Allen and Mr.
Wulf Fries were listened to with the attention that the playing of such masters deserves, and both received hearty applause, and the two concerted pieces were given with absolute precision and possessed more than common interest. It is seldom that one hears such a skillful accompanist as Mr. Day, and he interpreted the most difficult passages with the ease and grace that show careful study.

The two concerts have been such a success musically that it is hoped he will give another series next season, and they would be liberally patronized.

After the concert, cream, cake and coffee were served, and the guests enjoyed a pleasant social hour.

THE CITY GOVERNMENT.

THE COMMON COUNCIL AMEND CRIPPLED
ORDINANCE ON SIDEWALKS

President A. H. Roffe presided at the President Roffe stated in answer that the state statute limited the fine to $20.

Councilman Bothfield asked that the order relating to sidewalks be taken from the table where it was left at the last meeting to allow members of the south side to voice the opinions of their constituents.

Councilman Moulton ward 5, said that some were in favor of it and many were not, the general tendency seeming unfavorable to the order. A strong reason against the passage of such an ordinance was the fact that the limit would compel one abutter to clean his sidewalk while his neighbor without the limit would be exempt and the travel might be greater on the later section of the street than on the other. He believed the whole matter should be placed in the hands of the superintendent of streets, and that the money should be appropriated for this object by the city.

Councilman Degen said he labored under a misapprehension when he asked to have Newton Centre included in the order and after examining the ordinance found that this order was only supplementary to the work of the city laws.
He said it would be unfavorably received and general opinion would be opposed to any such ordinance.

Councilman Knapp of ward 4, voiced the opinions of the gentlemen from ward 5 and 6. He said the benefit should be for all, if at all. It would be a hardship to those not included.

Councilman McGee found many ward 5 residents opposed to such a scheme.

Councilman Green was strongly in favor of the passage of some such order.
No other city does without such an ordinance and if our reputation for good roads in summer is to be preserved there must have care in the winter. The city has enough writs to settle from injuries received from falls on uncleaned or icy sidewalks and he believed this order would obviate much of this trouble.

In answer to Councilman Bannet, he said similar ordinances were enforced in Boston and Cambridge.

Councilman Moulton, Degen and Knapp withdrew their amendments to Mr. Bothfield's order where it referred to their wards, the withdrawal being accepted.

Councilman Forknall objected to making an ordinance for only one section of the city. He did not believe in legislating for one section of the city to the exclusion of another.

Councilman Bothfield appreciated Councilman Forknall's position in the matter but thought the difference in these sections of the city allowed the passage of such an order. The south side is less thickly settled, and does not as much need an ordinance of this kind as wards 1, 2, 3 and 7. The aldermen favor the order and if it passes the council it will undoubtedly be concurred in by the aldermen.

Three-fourths of the residents in ward 7 already clean the sidewalks at their own expense and it would be but little trouble to bring the rest into line.

He then moved the passage of the order.

Councilman Forknall objected to the withdrawal of wards 4, 5 and 6 as the amendment had been accepted and declared by the chair thus making a vote of the council necessary.

Considerable fencing took place between Councilmen Forknall, Degen and Knapp on parliamentary rules regarding the matter, the chair finally ruling that the withdrawals were proper as made, leaving the order as originally introduced by Council Bothfield.

The order passed, amending territory within seven sixteenths of a mile from the B. & A. railroad station in wards one and seven and within three eighths of a mile of the Newtonville and West Newton stations, wards two and three.

Councilman Bothfield said since the consideration of this ordinance at the last meeting his attention had been called to section 24 of the ordinance relating to highways. The police officers say they have less authority than before and in wards 1, 2 and 7 there is a great deal of trouble with persons from Waltham who come over on the electric cars. Especially on Su days and in the evenings gangs get together and mix themselves obnoxious to passers. In ward one, recently a crowd of nine obstructed the sidewalk and an elderly gentleman who was passing was injured so severely as to still be confined to his bed. The police could only take action on a charge of assault.

Councilman Knapp thought there was an ordinance covering this point.

Councilman Bothfield said section 20 provides that three or more persons shall not obstruct a sidewalk for more than 20 minutes nor more than five minutes after being requested to move. But if they move only five feet they cannot again be molested until 20 minutes have elapsed making the ordinance of little practical use.

An order was then passed adding an amendment to section 24 as follows:—
" * * * or upon any domestic or portico of any such building which projects upon or immediately adjoins the sidewalk."

Councilman Bothfield offered an order authorizing the expenditure of $2500 for building a culvert under the Centurite aqueduct near Pleasant street, ward six to carry off the water of Laundry brook, which was adopted.

An order appropriating $125 for a fire alarm box at the pumping station was passed.

NEWTON TARIFF REFORM CLUB. The Tariff is a Tax.

Every person interested in the subject of the Tariff, is cordially invited to take part in the discussions carried on in this column. Respectful consideration will be given to inquiries, criticisms, and communications of every kind, whether coming from Tariff Reformers, Free Traders or High Protectionists. Address: Secretary of the Tariff Reform Club, Newton Centre, Mass.

TWO TARIFF INSTANCES.

THE DUTIES ON POTATOES AND WOOL.
(From Edward Atkinson in the Boston Herald.)

All advocates of protection through duties upon imports down to the advent of McKinleyism have supported that system as a temporary policy in preparation for free trade.

The only distinction between the intelligent members of the Republican and Democratic parties is now in respect to the time and method of beginning a reform of the tariff.

In beginning to deal with these measures attention may well be given to two other fundamental propositions previously submitted: First, in view of the fact that measures of taxation may interfere greatly with the progress of industry, such discrimination should be used in framing these measures as will most effectively promote domestic industry in all its branches. Second, since the protection of American labor is bound by indissoluble ties to the protection of domestic industry, every measure of taxation should be so framed as to protect the American workman in the most effective manner.

Dealing with the matter from this point of view, all taxes upon necessary articles of food must of course be done away with because food is the most essential element of human power: fuel may be included in almost the same category.

TAX ON POTATOES.

It is manifest that no tax can be imposed upon the import of food without increasing the cost of that food to the consumer. Such taxes inflict privation upon the semblance of protection. The tax may happen to be on a very necessary article of food. We may take potatoes as an example as they are now subject to a tax on imports of 25 cts. per bushel. Potatoes are only imported for common use in years of scarcity and of short crops in this country. In other years the import consists merely in the early spring luxuries from Bermuda and elsewhere. When there is a shortage in New England, New York and along the sea coast, the prices of necessity rise to a very high point, because potatoes will not bear a very long haul by railway. Then the tax oppresses the poorest in the community in greatest measure. It is then that this tax becomes malignant. It adds nothing to the income of the farmer, while it oppresses the poor. In one year not long since this tax added $1,250,000 to the unnecessary surplus revenue of the people of the United States, and this burden fell mainly upon the poorer classes in the northeastern part of the country.

The same reasoning applies to every kind of food which is of necessary use. Sugar has lately been added to the free list. This will be to the great advantage of consumers, and when hereafter the tax is taken from tin plates, this abatement of the tax on sugar will also become of great advantage to the farmers and canners of fruit, and to the milk and other agricultural products, in which sugar and tin plates are the component materials of chief cost.

THE TAX ON WOOL.

By the same rule, any tax which is imposed on the crude or partly manufactured materials of foreign origin which are necessary in the processes of our domestic industry becomes a just and serious obstruction to the progress of the farmer. It burdens the domestic manufacturer, restricting his power of purchase while it cuts off the farmer from one of his principal outlets for the excess of his crops by export. Such a tax very often works to the greatest injury of the producers of the specific crude material which it had been intended to benefit. We may again take domestic wool as an example of such grave injury. When it was first proposed to adopt the so-called "wool and woollen tariff," of which the present measure is but an aggravated continuation, the most skillful and competent of the woollen manufacturers under the lead of the late Edward Harris of Woonsocket presented arguments to the committee of ways and means against the duty on wool, upon the distinct ground that such a tax, while it would seriously injure the domestic manufacturers of woolen or worsted goods, making it necessary to advance the cost of the fabric and also the price of clothing, would also depress the price of domestic wool, gravely injuring the farmer. Such has been the exact effect. What was predicted 25 years ago has been verified to the letter.

This subject has been dealt with many times, and as often as the prices of wool have been set off against the varying rates of the tariffs since that of 1824, in which wool was first made subject to duty, it has been made very plain that while the prices of wool have varied from other causes, yet so far as the tariff appears to have had any effect at all, the high tariffs, after one or two years of adjustment, have caused domestic wool to become very much lower in price: while, on the other hand, within a year or two after low tariffs had been enacted, the prices of domestic wool have always advanced. These changes have been fully explained both by the advocates of protection to the woollen manufacture and by the advocates of free trade. In order that the manufacture of woollen and worsted goods may prosper, manufacturers must have the same free access to all the varieties of wool in the world as that enjoyed by their competitors, especially the manufacturers of Great Britain. Otherwise the whole balance of the industry is broken up.

When duties are high an undue proportion of woollen machinery is put upon the few varieties of fabric that can be wholly made of domestic wool. This branch of work is soon overdone; the price of the fabric goes down and the price of domestic wool goes with it. On the other hand, the representatives of other branches of the woollen industry which are obstructed by the duties on foreign wool are obliged to advance the prices of their goods in order to cover the additional cost. Clothing as a whole, costs more, while the farmer gets for his wool less than he ever did before. The same process of reasoning, varied according to the conditions in each case, can be applied to all other crude materials.

A remedy recommended for patients afflicted with the gripe is Kemp's Balsam, which is especially adapted to diseases of the throat and lungs. Do not wait for the first symptoms of the disease, but get a bottle and keep it on hand for use the moment it is needed. If neglected the gripe has a tendency to bring on pneumonia. All druggists sell the Balsam.

Good Roads.

Why are good roads scarce? Is it on account of heedlessness, negligence or ignorance? These are questions which can be answered easily in most cases.

In some small towns as good roads may be found as in cities. But ought this to be so? Surely city streets have much the harder usage, therefore ought not the streets to be better in cities than in country towns? Certainly it is not on account of heedlessness on the part of a city that serviceable roads are not provided. For almost any city or town would like to possess acceptable highways for the use of its own citizens and for the use of the citizens of its suburbs.

Very often, yes, too often, the condition of roads is owing to neglect. Some of these roads were fairly well built, but they were not repaired when a little would have sufficed; but, on the contrary, they were left to deteriorate until they were in fact beyond repair. Then the citizens found out that something must be done and that it was an expensive undertaking to rebuild the road; whereas, a stitch in time would have saved nine. But often this negligence is on account of lack of financial means. Thus, although unceasing pains were taken as long as there was any money in the treasury, if the road had not a firm foundation or is not constructed in such a manner as partially to resist the wear and tear to which a road is subjected, the road will be worn out in a comparatively short time.

If in a town meeting or in other like assemblies, it is voted to build a new road, persons suggest plans, and each one thinks that his own plan is the best to be obtained. In small country towns especially, the plan of the most influential man is sometimes accepted, although perhaps this gentleman never had any experience in road-building. When this plan is put to a test, it is found to be impracticable and too expensive, and the result is that they have a good looking road for a short time, but after the heavy rains of a few months, their road is partly washed away, and on account of scarcity of money, the street remains in that condition, and the people are surprised that they have no better highways.

I have mentioned above a few of the reasons for these bad roads, but I am glad to say that there are some cities and towns to which these evils do not apply. A first-class civil engineer or an experienced road builder is employed, and the result is that the city or town is improved by the addition of a well built street.

There are many methods known concerning road-building, many of which are equally practicable, lasting and cheap. In modern times one has been able to construct a road equal to those built by the ancient Romans. Some of these roads have been used up to this time, and are as good now as when constructed. The road-bed was formed of four distinct layers above the foundations. The upper layer was made of large polygonal blocks of the hardest stone, fitted and jointed together so as to make an even surface.

Our modern paved roads are constructed on a similar plan. It is acknowledged by all, that in order to have a good road, it must have a good foundation. To obtain a good foundation, the soil should be removed to a depth of eighteen inches at least, and even more in swampy places. The plan usually adopted for building a road, is similar to the ancient method. Layers of crushed stones of different sizes firmly packed together by being rolled, each layer being rolled before there is another layer put over it, form as good a foundation as can be made. The stones should vary in size from the size of an apple to the size of a small marble, the largest stones being at the bottom. After three or four layers of these crushed stones, a layer of gravel is put on. Great pains should be taken to render this as hard as possible. Sometimes this forms the surface, but in order to have a hard smooth road, it is preferable to put over the gravel a layer of stone crushed almost to a powder. This makes a road which will resist the most severe winters and heavy rains, provided that suitable gutters and outlets are furnished for the water. The street should be a little higher in the middle and slope gradually to either side, so that the water will pass off quickly. In every case, the method of construction should be used which is most applicable to that place. In laying out streets great care should be taken to build them as wide as possible, because narrow streets are a great disadvantage when the city becomes thickly settled. In new tracts of land, the streets should be laid out artistically in order to make the locality attractive to intending purchasers. Ornamental trees should be planted on the sides of a street, so that passers-by will be sheltered from the sun during the summer. But although trees are of great use to us, care should be taken not to set them out too thickly. A tree grows very fast, and therefore maple trees should not be set out nearer to each other than twenty-five feet.

Good roads are scarce. In most cases it is on account of negligence and lack of foundation on which they have been constructed. Negligence is usually on account of lack of money, but it costs less to build a road well in the first place, then to build a highway cheaply, and be obliged to expend yearly for repairs almost as much as the road cost at the outset. Therefore, it should be borne in mind that although it may seem an unnecessarily large expense at first if a first-class road is built, more money will actually be saved, and those who make use of such a road will be better pleased with it, than with the cheaply built road which must be repaired continually, and then is not satisfactory.

Murdered.
The body of Julius Baer was found by freighters five miles west of here Tuesday morning, in a terrific mangled condition. His head and face were crushed, so as to be hardly recognized, and numerous wounds were found on his body. Mr. Baer was agent for the blood medicine, Sulphur Bitter. Robbery was undoubtedly the motive, as he was well known to have a large sum of money on his person. As we go to press there is no clue to the perpetrators. —Colorado Press.

Congressman Allen of Mississippi illustrates the frailty of political platforms by quoting the answer the conductor of a train made to a passenger who protested against being compelled to go within the car. "What are platforms for, anyhow?" he asked. "The angry passenger. Platforms are not made to stand on," was the reply. "They are made to get in on." —Springfield Republican.

The success of Kemp's Balsam is because it possesses true merit, and no claim is made for it which is not fully supported.

Cancer can be cured, and by Dr. James M. Solomon, Jr., 73 Court St., Boston, Mass.

Boston, Aug. 26, 1890.
Dr. Solomon has cured a cancer on my lip of seventeen years' standing. It was cut out twice, by what they call eminent surgeons, at intervals of six years, after being cut out each time I knew by the feeling it was still there, and it would be like I had not been so fortunate as to have Dr. Solomon treat it, he did it without any cutting. I would urge those afflicted with cancer not delay, but at once and be cured permanently as I have done. My dear Doctor I thank from the bottom of my heart.

The Dean Academy and Allen school nines played a close and exciting game of ball on Allen's field, last Friday afternoon. The features of the game were Russell's work in the box, the batting of Noyes and the third-base playing of Hawes. The Allen's lost the game in the fourth inning, owing to errors in the infield. Russell struck out 19 men, only two hits being made off his delivery. The score:

NEWTON'S EXTRA VICTORY.

VESTER BOAT CLUB BOWLERS BEATEN BY 175 PINS.

On account of the tie for second and third places in the Massachusetts Amateur Bowling League competition between the Casino, Vester Boat Club and Newton Club teams, it was necessary to arrange three extra matches, the first of which was played on the Norfolk House alleys last Saturday evening between Vester and Newton.

Newton started in the first at a hot pace and secured a lead of 101 pins, increasing it in the second to 122 pins, and winning the match by 175 pins. The Vester bowlers put up a very steady and even game and gave altogether one of the best exhibitions of the season.

Some good fancy shots were made during the match. Brown, Savage and Corwin each got the combination 3 and 10; Follett got 5, 6 and 10; Harris, 4, 5 and 7; Hood, 5 and 6.

A needy woman

—the one who's overworked, nervous, and debilitated. What she needs is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It's made exactly to fit her case—an invigorating, restorative tonic, and a soothing and strengthening nerve, giving tone and vigor to the whole system. But it isn't a mere stimulant. It's a legitimate medicine, that an experienced physician has carefully prepared, for woman's ailments. All the functional derangements, chronic weaknesses, and painful disorders peculiar to the sex, are corrected and cured by it.

And because it's a certain remedy, it can be made a guaranteed one. If it fails to give satisfaction, in any case, you have your money back.

The best pill costs less than any other. Costs less, but does more. They're smaller, too, and easier to take. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the best pills. They regulate perfectly the liver, stomach, and bowels.

Had the Desired Effect! I, the undersigned, suffered from epilepsy for 6 years, had no appetite and could do no work whatever; consulted a number of doctors, but all said there was no remedy for my disease. I then took Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic, and am now in perfect health, and work all the time. Thousand thanks to your remedy.

PHILIP MONGEON.

85 PROSPECT ST., NEWARK, N. J., March 9, 1891.

I got some of Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic for nervousness and sleeplessness and it helped me; the first time I took it I had the best sleep I had had for several months. I also know friends of mine who used it and say it is the best nerve tonic they ever used. I write this that some sufferer may use your medicine and be helped by it.
